SCRAP TRACTION PLAN, TWO ICC EXAMINERS ASK

Hold Fare Increase Is Inevitable.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Warnings that the proposed 179 million dollar Chicago traction unification scheme might cost the riding public millions of dollars a year—if the consolidation is to meet its financial obligations—were contained in an examiners' report made public late yesterday by the Illinois Commerce commission.

Leslie E. Salter.

The last sentence of the report was: "The plan, as submitted, is so basically unsound that it should be disapproved." If the commission, which has full power to approve or disapprove the merger, follows this view the whole traction plan will have to be scrapped and a new start made toward unification.

One of the tables in the report estimates that if the proposed company should pay the required interest on bonds, and a dividend of $3 on the preferred stock, and set aside two millions annually for modernization, an all-over fare average of 10.7 cents would be required at normal levels of traffic.

Review 50 Sessions.

The present average fare is 8.3 cents and the fare increase, based on nearly 850 millions of passengers, would approach 20 million dollars a year.

The report, a monumental document of about 300 typewritten pages, was drawn by Leslie E. Salter, attorney, and Fred Kleinman, chief of finance for the commission. They reviewed in detail the evidence presented for and against the merger of the surface and elevated lines at a series of 50 hearings that began in late July. Their conclusions, which are in effect their advice to the commission, blast nearly all the arguments of the proponents of the plan.

"The conclusion is inescapable," the examiners wrote at one point, "that the new company pretends to this commission that it will do more than it possibly can; makes impossible promises to its own security holders, to the city, to the car rider, and to the commission, and presents its proposals to Chicago when it must be obvious, even to those who promise, that they cannot fulfill their obligations."

Removes Check on Funds.

The immensity of the powers granted under the plan to the new corporation were discussed and condemned by the examiners. Their findings set forth:

1. The proposed company would gain full possession of some 19 million dollars that straphangers have contributed to surface lines income and which is now segregated to take care of renewals and depreciation. The report showed that this great hoard of cash would be taken from the protection of the city's board of supervising engineers and could be used to pay reorganization expense, figured at 3½ million dollars, and bond interest and for use as working capital.

See Highest Possible Fare.

2. The proposed company would gain in effect a perpetual and exclusive franchise that could be ended only by municipal ownership or misuse of the property by the company.

3. It is guaranteed by an ordinance which, "by its very language, indicates that the principles of rate regulation . . . have been discarded" to help the company gain a return that can be had only by exacting the highest possible fare from the riders. The ordinance specifies that the fare, to be set by a three man board appointed by the mayor, shall be just and reasonable. It was argued that the proper approach is to consider the welfare of the customers rather than to specify "the basis of profit" to be made by the company.

Questions Investment Return.

At another point the examiners wrote:

"The proposals on their face demonstrate that as a result of compromise, sound principles of finance and constructive practices of corporate integration have been abandoned. To the security holders of the constituent companies the new company pretends to offer securities that, on their face value, are far in excess of what

ADVISES TAKING CIVILIAN CARS TO SAVE RUBBER

Also Would Acquire All Spare Tires.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1. — The war department is advocating a more drastic curtailment on civilian automobile transportation, including government seizure of all spare tires and requisitioning of approximately 8 million vehicles.

A joint meeting of the house military and naval affairs committees heard this disclosure today as it gave full airing to a controversy between Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers and the army and navy.

Jeffers, who violated a Presidential gag rule last week to voice complaints before a Baltimore meeting of state officials, was called before the two committees to explain his charge that "army and navy officers and loafers" in arms plants are impeding production.

Adds to List of Millions.

He elaborated and amplified. He added Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Undersecretary of Navy James V. Forrestal to his list of meddlers and protested against indecision of his boss, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board.

As a result of delays which he said could have been avoided, Jeffers predicted that America's supply of crude and synthetic rubber will drop below the danger mark by Dec. 1, imperiling the output of weapons and jeopardizing domestic economy by crippling transportation. Barely to get by, as he expressed it, it will be necessary for all synthetic plants to be completed in accordance with the present schedule and for all of the processes to be as good as the chemists promise.

Denies Jeffers Charges.

Undersecretary Patterson, who followed him to the witness stand, agreed with Jeffers as to the severity of the rubber shortage. However, he said that even more acute are demands for aviation gasoline and for escort vessels, which compete with the rubber plants for scarce fabricated parts.

Patterson denied Jeffers' charge that he is trying to control civilian economy, but insisted it was pertinent for him to suggest further civilian curtailments so the construction of synthetic plants will not further retard erection of high octane fuel refineries and completion of submarine destroyers.

Lists Recommendations.

"All is not being done which could be done and must be done to reduce civilian demands for rubber," said the undersecretary. "I'm advised by competent men in the war department, men from the rubber industry, that with further restrictions on civilians and with the priorities now given to Mr. Jeffers we will get thru the rubber crisis late this year."

He listed his recommendations, made to Jeffers on Dec. 8, but never heretofore made public, as follows:

1. Revise gasoline ration regula-

Speed War Work, Pacific Heroes Urge

No Absenteeism

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1 [Special].—Thousands of southern California aircraft workers today paused long enough for a message from Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker about America's fighting men on the war fronts and then, inspired by his words, went back to work producing planes for the fighting airmen at the front.

"Nothing you can do in the way of putting forth effort will equal theirs," he told cheering thousands at the North American aviation plant at Inglewood.

"There isn't any absenteeism in Guadalcanal" was his message to workers celebrating "Rickenbacker day" at the Douglas Long Beach plant.

At Long Beach he christened a Flying Fortress Captain Eddie and then wiped out one of the machine gun barrels with a bloody, bullet-riddled Jap flag taken from a Jap officer during the first raid on the island of Tulagi. There also he renewed acquaintance with Fred W. Erdman, one of his mechanics during World War I. in France, now a jig builder in the aircraft plant.

'Strike Is Treason'

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1 [Special].—Any group of men that sends our soldiers out to fight and die for that group's legal rights and "yet denies those soldiers the right to live by withholding, by strikes, and otherwise, the materials by which they might live, is guilty of treason."

That was the way a soldier who nearly lost his life in the Pacific summed up his feelings in an address before 20,000 workers at the California Shipbuilding corporation yards at Terminal island, whom he urged to give their best for war production.

The soldier is Lt. James C. Whittaker, co-pilot of the plane in which Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and himself were forced down at sea.

He said that in his opinion the United States is in no position to win the Pacific war this year.

"If it is over this year—we'll be Jap subjects," he said.

Churchill at War Parley in Turkey

VENTURING FORTH AT LAST

GEN. EISENHOWER SEEN AS ALLIED CHIEF IN AFRICA

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Feb. 1 (AP).—With the British 8th army already in Tunisia and on the verge of joining allied forces driving against the Germans from the west, the time seemed near today when the Mediterranean must be merged into one vast allied war theater under a single command and United States Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appeared likely to head the show.

For all practical purposes, the middle east and North Africa campaigns now are one battle needing a single directing head.

The recent war conference at this headquarters attended by Gen. Harold Alexander, British commander in the middle east, was taken as an indication in most quarters that Gen. Eisenhower was slated to be commander in chief of the Mediterranean with Alexander in command of all land forces.

Work Pleases Allied Chiefs.

It was understood that both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are satisfied with Eisenhower's work.

The formation of one Mediterranean war theater would call for setting up parallel commands for the land, sea, and air. Most prominently mentioned for the air post is Air Chief Marshal Arthur Tedder, commander of the R. A. F. in the middle east. British Admiral of the Fleet Andrew Cunningham already is running most of the naval warfare.

This unity of command would be carried down the line with the middle east and North Africa theaters retaining their identities but under a single command.

Spaatz Under British Chief.

Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the allied air forces in North Africa, would be under Tedder commanding both the R. A. F. and American air forces in North Africa, and Air Chief Marshal William Douglas, commander of British and American air forces in the middle east.

On land, Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery is understood in most circles to be first choice for commander of the middle east ground forces. Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark is the most likely American choice for the North Africa section.

The French army certainly would be included under Alexander's command but would largely retain a separate identity.

Ranks Below Five Others.

Should this reorganization be carried thru, Eisenhower—a lieutenant general—would be in the position of commanding at least five men his senior in rank. Alexander, Montgomery, and Henri Giraud, the French high commissioner, all are full generals. Cunningham as admiral of the fleet corresponds to a field marshal and Tedder's rank of air chief marshal is the same ranking as that of a full general.

Under these circumstances it appears likely that Eisenhower would be promoted to a full general. Generals George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and Douglas MacArthur are the only Americans now holding that rank.

U. S. AND BRITAIN GAIN ACCORD ON AID TO REPUBLIC

Seek to Strengthen Nation's Defense.

LONDON, Feb. 2 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Directly from the historic war strategy conference at Casablanca, Prime Minister Churchill has gone to Turkey and reached an important agreement with that nation bordering the axis occupied Balkans, it was announced early today. He met with President Ismet Inonu and other Turkish leaders.

Arrow locates scene of parley.

Churchill's move centered attention on the region which he himself has called the "soft underbelly of the axis," indicating it was part of the grand strategy charted at Casablanca with President Roosevelt.

A communique declared:

"Agreement was reached on the manner in which Great Britain and the United States would be able to help Turkey materially to consolidate her own general defensive security, and conversations on that subject took place between the Turkish and British military advisers.

Discuss Post-War Problems.

"The prime minister, having so recently been in conference with the President of the United States of America, could speak with the full knowledge of the views of President Roosevelt, who had warmly welcomed the proposal for this meeting.

"Consideration also was given to post-war problems, on which agreement was again reached.

"After these interviews, which took place on Jan. 30 and 31 at Adana [near the Syrian border], both the Turkish and British statesmen expressed themselves as fully satisfied."

The "frank conversation," the communique said, "has confirmed and further strengthened the bonds of friendship and mutual good understanding between Turkey and the United Kingdom."

Examine Europe's Situation.

Turkish statesmen at the conference "reviewed the course of Turkish policy during the last critical years and the prime minister was able to assure them his majesty's government had followed it with full sympathy and understanding.

"The Turkish and British statesmen together examined the present situation in Europe, particularly those regions in which Turkey is directly interested. On all the principal points identity of view was established."

Turkish policy has long been one of the pivots of all Balkan events, and diplomatic circles therefore take it for granted that the phrase "those regions in which Turkey is directly interested," applies specifically to the Balkan states.

Three Major Possibilities.

1. Turkish entry into the war. The nation is a nonbelligerent ally of Britain.

2. Anglo-Turkish agreement embracing the use of Turkish territory as a springboard for a second front in the Balkans.

3. Turkish permission for the allied nations to pass a supply line to the soviets thru the Dardanelles.

The conference was called at Churchill's request, the foreign office said. After the parley the prime minister went to Cairo.

Churchill himself, in obvious good humor, at an interview last night in Cairo, said he hoped more would not be read into the accord than was sketched in the official announcement. He added that he always avoided prophesying "because it is better to prophesy after the event has taken place."

What occupied observers especially was the question whether Churchill's conference with the Turkish president and his high officers presaged Turkey's emergence into a new rôle.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Chairman Martin Dies of the house committee to investigate un-American activities called upon congress today to drive from the government pay roll "irresponsible, unrepresentative, crackpot, and radical burocrats."

Rep. Martin Dies.

He listed 40 of the pay rollers he termed crackpots in a 1 hour and 40 minute address which brought members of the house to their feet applauding.

The Texas Democrat told the house the time has come to summon the heads of government agencies and inform them:

Assails Hate Apostles.

Dies spoke in reply to attacks by which critics of the committee are attempting to prevent continuation of its work. But his address was a fiery demand that congress recapture the responsibilities it has delegated to government agencies, and a searing rebuke to the authors of the unsuccessful purge plot against congress.

He charged that the apostles of hate and disunity are enemies of democracy who wear its cloak to conceal their purposes and warned that there is no more insidious way to destroy American democracy than by unjustified attacks on congress.

Criticizes Marshall Field.

Departing from government pay rollers for a moment, Dies turned his fire on Marshall Field III., publisher of PM, a New York smear sheet which is known as the uptown edition of the Communist paper, Daily Worker. Dies' remarks about Field were the signal for an outburst of applause.

"What was the reason Marshall Field III. would contribute large sums of money to Communist organizations?" Dies asked.

"Here is a man who by his own great wealth is financing publications that attack not one member, not five members, but the majority of this house as secret sympathizers and agents of our enemies.

"He is one of those who love the poor so much that they distribute certain contributions so that in magazines and publications they may smear and defeat members of this house. This is sheer hypocrisy by this playboy who spent $120,000 on his racing stable while posing as a defender of the poor."

Wins Rousing Applause.

In urging congress to assert itself, Dies said:

"We are approaching the time in America when the real power of the government will not be exercised in this chamber but by burocracy."

Replying to those who have criticized his attacks on Communists, Dies won rousing applause when he said:

"I am not one of those maudlin internationalists who believe our government should go all over the world forcing democracy on other nations. But I do believe that every American should put our country first."

Rep. Dies prefaced the list of government pay rollers in these words:

"Let us discard generalities and take up specific cases in order that we may make crystal clear just what we mean by irresponsible, unrepresentative, crackpot, and radical burocrats."

Home Delivery Milk Cost Now 16½c a Quart

Housewives in the Chicago area will start paying an extra half cent per quart for their home delivered milk today and from one-half cent to a cent on store purchased milk, under an authorization yesterday by the office of price administration.

The new order, expiring April 1, approves the sale of standard milk at 14½ cents per quart from stores and 16½ cents on home deliveries. Customers paying cash for their milk at home will be charged 17 cents for a quart and cash buyers at the store will pay the full cent for the half cent increase.

Raises Wholesale Ceiling.

Prices on vitamin D and homogenized milk were permitted to remain at 15½ cents per quart at stores and 17½ cents on home deliveries.

The temporary order also raised the ceiling on wholesale milk prices in the area to 13 cents per quart, standardizing various wholesalers' ceilings which ranged down to 11½ cents.

Paul Potter, executive secretary of the Associated Milk dealers, said that the new OPA order recognized only recent increases in the price of milk on the farm.

"The order does not take into account that dealers' labor costs have risen $71,000 a month since ceiling prices went into effect last March. Nor does the order recognize that dealers' cream sales have been cut 15 per cent by OPA restrictions, thus cutting down on their income," he said.

Second in a Month.

This increase is the second within a month in the Chicago area. On Jan. 4 an increase of one-half cent a quart for home delivered milk and one cent in store prices was authorized by the OPA.

OPA officials in Washington, D. C., said they expected competition would help to keep some dealers from asking the full price.

BRITAIN THANKS AMERICA UNDULY, SAYS MRS. F. D. R.

New York, Feb. 1 [Special].—America is getting more gratitude than it deserves from the British people, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt today told 400 women at a luncheon meeting at the Junior League of New York.

"The British people get the feeling that all things come from the generous people of the United States," she said, "altho New Zealand, Canada, and all the British dominions send many things to Great Britain. Altho we are getting a good deal of gratitude, it is perhaps more than we deserve."

She said women often stopped her on the street during her recent visit to England to thank her for clothing received from America. She praised the British war time nursery system, saying many children are better housed and fed in nurseries than they were in their homes.

DEWEY SUBMITS FIRST BUDGET; LESS THAN 1942

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 [Special].—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight submitted to the legislature his first state budget, totaling $369,600,000, compared with last year's budget of $381,500,000, a decrease of $11,900,000 and an expenditure rate which ran several millions less.

The dominant note in the document was the governor's desire to preserve a surplus which he estimated would be $50,000,000 on April 1, 1944. The figure was based on drastically slashed revenue estimates.

OVERDUE BILLS SHUT OFF COUNTY X-RAY SUPPLIES

The county board got a reminder yesterday of its unpaid bills—now totaling about 5 million dollars—when County hospital officials reported that they had only 10 days' supply of X-ray film on hand and that companies supplying it refused to bid on new contracts until back bills are paid. One company demanded $50,000 on an $80,000 bill, saying it had received only $162 from the county in two years. The board referred the communication to the hospital committee, which reported it is arranging to pay cash for future X-ray supplies.

Harlan C. Stockwell, director of the budget survey, suggested that the county might save $1,200,000 annually by charging the care of Oak Forest institution patients back to the districts where they live. He said other Illinois counties follow this practice in similar institutions.

F.D.R. WITHDRAWS NOMINATION OF FLYNN AS ENVOY

Josh Lee Confirmed for Air Board Post.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The senate today buried the Edward J. Flynn case along with those famous paving blocks and then proceeded to confirm the appointment of former Sen. Josh Lee of Oklahoma to the civil aeronautics board, but only after two freshmen senators, in their maiden speeches, made a vigorous attack on "lame duck" appointments by the President.

In response to Flynn's request, President Roosevelt sent to the senate notice that he was withdrawing the Democratic boss' nomination as minister to Australia and roving ambassador in the Pacific war zone. The withdrawal came in the face of certain rejection of the nomination had the senate been allowed to vote upon it.

Avoided Humiliating Defeat.

Debate on the appointment, which had been assailed by members of Flynn's own party who would have made defeat of the nomination possible, was scheduled to begin today, and the nomination was snatched from the senate just in time to prevent the humiliation of a resounding defeat.

There is no record in recent years of a similar withdrawal of an important diplomatic nomination because of objection, and the last senate rejection of a diplomatic appointment occurred back in 1889 when Murat Halstead was turned down, 23 to 16, as President Harrison's minister to Germany.

The senate's disposal of the Flynn case was on the same low note as the unenthusiastic consideration of the nomination by the senate foreign relations committee.

Barkley Retreats.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, attempted to insert in the Congressional Record Flynn's public statement yesterday in which he announced he would request the President to withdraw the nomination because it would "be made the excuse for a partisan political debate in the senate."

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who was prepared to speak vigorously against the nomination, immediately objected that if that statement were inserted in the Record it would have to be accompanied by his reply.

"If this is going to lead to any debate, I withdraw the request," Barkley declared.

"It's immaterial to me," Vandenberg snapped.

"Well, I withdraw the request temporarily," said Barkley.

Flynn's opponents, including influential Democrats who had stated their opposition, were jubilant over their victory, and administration senators heaved sighs of relief that they didn't have to defend the nomination of the Bronx boss and former chairman of the Democratic national committee to the high diplomatic post.

Denies Partisan Attack.

Vandenberg later disputed Flynn's contention that Republicans were responsible for the opposition to him and on grounds of partisan politics. Vandenberg recalled that this was a bipartisan attack against an unfit appointment, and declared his opinion that the Republican senators would have approved the appointment of a qualified Democrat to the same office.

The opposition to Flynn was on grounds of qualification for the job rather than politics, said Vandenberg. Concerning such improper nominations sent to the senate, Vandenberg remarked that "the people have now received their first dividend on their investment of Nov. 3" and he trusted that "this lesson will not be lost" in its effect on the administration.

"The reason for the withdrawal is obvious," commented Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.]. "The senate would have refused to confirm Mr. Flynn's nomination by a decisive majority. The result is a victory for integrity in government and decency in American diplomacy."

Paving-Blocks Issue.

During a senate hearing on Flynn's fitness attention was called to the fact that paving blocks owned by the city of New York and city labor were used in constructing a Belgian courtyard at his country estate.

Lee, a lame duck New Dealer, defeated in the last election by E. H. Moore, Tulsa oil man and Republican, was approved by a vote of 46 to 31, for the $10,000 a year job on the CAB. Thirty Republicans and one Democrat, Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, opposed the nomination, while 43 Democrats and three Republicans, Minority Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Arthur Capper of Kansas, and James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, voted for confirmation.

Moore and Edward V. Robertson [R., Wyo.], another newcomer to the senate, carried the ball on the opposition to Lee in their first speeches on the floor, and no one spoke in favor of the appointment.

Both senators attacked Lee, a former teacher of elocution, as unqualified for membership on the CAB, which is charged with controling operations and safety regulations over civil aviation. Tydings later explained that his vote against Lee was on the same grounds.

Scoffs at "Courtesy."

Moore even dared to riddle the hallowed tradition of senatorial courtesy in approving the appointment of former members of the body to other government jobs.

"The practice and tradition of senatorial courtesy may have its points, but it is not substitute for fitness for public service in important positions."

He declared that many of the men now being appointed to high executive positions were repudiated by the voters in their home states, and are being provided jobs by the White House as pay-offs for past political obligations.

Other recent lame ducks to land on the public pay roll include former Sen. Wall Doxey [D., Miss.], who was sworn in today as senate sergeant-at-arms, an $8,000 job; former Rep. Thomas H. Elliott [D., Mass.], 35 years old, now OWI representative in London; former Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York, now the director of foreign relief for the President, and Lehman's lieutenant governor, Charles Poletti, who served 29 days as governor, during which he released some notorious prisoners and has landed an appointment in the war department.

Names and Records of 40 'Crackpots' Listed by Dies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Names and data on the 40 "crackpot burocrats" whose ouster Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.] demanded in the house today follow:

David J. Saposs—"Several years ago our committee received testimony in which it was established that Saposs had been a leader in a revolutionary organization whose avowed objective was for the workers 'to take control of industry and government and build a workers' republic.'

"At that time Saposs was chief economist of the national labor relations board. As the result of our exposure, Saposs was removed. Now we find that Saposs has recently been made assistant to the chief of the labor division of the war production board at a salary of $8,000 a year."

FCC Aid Named.

"We call upon all men and women—especially workers in the professions and arts—to join in the revolutionary struggle against capitalism under the leadership of the Communist party.'"

Goodwin B. Watson—"Watson is chief broadcast analyst for the FCC at $6,500 a year. In a letter which I sent to Chairman Fly [of the FCC] on Nov. 18, 1941, I called attention to Watson's long record of Communist views and his numerous affiliations with Communist front organizations. As a result of that exposure, this house once refused to allow any of the portion of the appropriations of the FCC to be used to pay the salary of Watson. Since that time, Watson's salary has been raised from $5,600 to $6,500 a year."

FCC Aid Was Refused Visa.

William E. Dodd Jr.—"William E. Dodd Jr. is employed by the FCC at $3,200 a year. Dodd was recently refused a visa by the state department when he was assigned a commission which would take him to England. This refusal was based upon information furnished by our committee and the FBI. Among his many activities on behalf of Communist front organizations, Dodd was a secretary of the American League for Peace and Democracy, which the attorney general branded as subversive."

Paul R. Porter—"This man is chief of the shipbuilding stabilization branch of WPB at $8,000 a year. Here is a copy of the New Republic's supplement issued jointly by that magazine and the Union for Democratic Action, which attacked the congress of the United States and was used as campaign document No. 1 in the purge organizations' efforts to defeat a large part of this house in the recent elections. On this letterhead I hold the name of Paul R. Porter appears as a member of the national executive committee of the Union for Democratic Action.

Mrs. Porter Also Active.

"I also hold in my hand two telegrams from the national office of the Union of Democratic Action, which show that Mrs. Paul Porter was in charge of the Washington office of the Union for Democratic Action."

John Herling—"I want you to try to guess who made the following statement: 'I believe in the abolition of the capitalist system. I believe in the necessity of the destruction of this system of exploitation by the might of workers' organizations.' That statement comes from the pen of the principal consultant in the office of coördinator of inter-American affairs. His name is John Herling. He draws an annual salary of $5,600 as principal business consultant."

Paul F. Brissenden—"He is consultant in the shipbuilding and stabilization committee of the WPB at $8,000 a year. In March, 1941, when the whole country was becoming aroused over the Communist-led sabotage strikes in our major defense industries, Paul Brissenden and others issued a defense of the Communist party which filled almost an entire page of the Daily Worker."

Maurice Parmelee—"Almost a year ago I addressed a letter to the Vice President calling his attention to the record of Parmelee, at that time employed in the board of economic warfare at $5,600. I cited the fact that Parmelee had written numerous volumes, all of them revolutionary in character, and that one of them was entitled 'Nudism in Modern Life.'"

Not Jobless Long.

"Almost immediately after my exposure of Parmelee's activities, which included several years spent in European nudist camps, he was dismissed from the board of economic warfare. The great burocratic fraternity was, however, not to leave Parmelee jobless for long. He is now employed as an economist by the railroad retirement board at $4,600 a year."

Harold Loeb—"On Jan. 15, 1942, I spread the record of Harold Loeb before this house. He was then business specialist in OPA. He was let out of OPA but not out of the government service. Today Harold Loeb is senior economist in building materials for the war production board at a salary of $4,600. Here are the titles of six of his published books: 'The Professors Like Vodka,' 'Doodab,' 'Tumbling Mustard,' 'Life in a Technocracy,' 'The Chart of Plenty,' 'Production of Use.'

Calls Books "Pornographic."

"The first three of Loeb's books are pornographic novels. I have never read filthier passages in a novel than some of those with which Loeb has sprinkled his books. The other three titles are treatises on technocracy. I know of no man who could better qualify for the title of perfect crackpot. But he is the kind of Washington crackpot for whom we sit here and vote millions of dollars in salaries."

Sam Schmerler—Social security policy consultant at $3,800 a year. Discharged by FBI in 1935 for Communist activities.

Emil Jack Lever—Promoted to labor advisor in the war production board at $6,500 a year after Dies complained about his activities to the President when Lever was a $5,600 employé of the labor division of OPM. Former treasurer, according to Dies, of an organization whose avowed purpose was "to inspire the workers to take control of industry and government, abolish the present capitalist system, and build a workers' republic."

Henry G. Alsberg—$4,600 senior feature writer for the OWI. Former head of the federal writers' project, abolished by congress after exposure of communistic leanings.

Ex-Aid of Daily Worker.

David Karr—Former staff member of the Daily Worker, and former public relations director for the American League for Peace and Democracy, now assistant chief of the foreign language division of OWI at $4,600 a year.

Karl Borders, former Chicagoan now an OPA director in Hawaii, $8,000.

Virgin Islands Aid Named.

Merle Vincent, director of hearings branch, department of labor, $7,250.

Gardner Jackson, principal economist, department of agriculture, $5,600. [The agriculture department announced Jan. 27 that Jackson's services had been discontinued. It was explained that the department sought to reduce expenses.]

Alice Barrows, educationalist for the office of education, $4,800.

Marcus I. Goldman, department of interior, $4,000.

Leonard Emil Mins, office of strategic services, $4,000.

GOVERNOR GETS TENNESSEE BILL TO END POLL TAX

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1 (AP).—Repeal of Tennessee's half century old poll tax came within one step of accomplishment today when the senate passed an administration poll tax repeal bill and a companion measure setting up a permanent registration plan for voters.

Poll tax repeal, approved in the same form which passed the house of representatives last week, went immediately to Gov. Prentice Cooper for signature. The registration bill, however, must meet house concurrence in seven amendments adopted by the senate today.

7 SEIZED IN POOL HALL FOR QUIZ IN $16,800 GEM THEFT

Detectives from the Hudson avenue police station last night seized seven men in a poolroom at 1151 North Wells street for questioning in connection with the $16,800 jewel robbery last Wednesday of Mrs. Rolly Cain, 3240 Lake Shore drive. Four are said to have police records. Three policemen have been suspended for failure to report the robbery of Mrs. Cain, who was held up outside 1500 Lake Shore drive while she and her husband were with Walter J. Cummings, banker; Mrs. Cummings; Franklyn Bliss Snyder, president of Northwestern university, and Mrs. Snyder.

SWEDISH VESSEL SUNK BY SUB OFF SOUTH AMERICA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The navy today announced that a small Swedish merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine in January in the Atlantic off the northeastern coast of South America. Survivors have landed at Miami, Fla. Details of the attack were not announced. The sinking brought to 611 the number of vessels lost in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation by the Associated Press.

OPA Gives Up on Eskimos, Delays Baby Pants Ceiling

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—Price ceilings scheduled to go into effect today on rubber baby pants and similar rubber drug sundries were postponed until March 1 after manufacturers asked OPA to reconsider some of them. Asserting they are too difficult to enforce, Price Adminstrator Prentiss M. Brown abolished price regulations on Indian and Eskimo handicraft articles.

U.S. TROOPS FIGHT NAZIS IN 3 AREAS OF TUNISIA FRONT

British Repel Tank Attack in Fourth Sector.

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP).—American troops have attacked German positions in the tactically important mountainous area of central Tunisia in three limited but bitterly contested sectors, and air action has increased over nearly the whole of the North African theater, reports from the various fronts disclosed today.

United States infantry, supported by artillery and tanks, attacked in an effort to recapture Faid pass, about 60 miles west of the important axis coastal position of Sfax, and two other American columns beat against the railroad town of Maknassy, 33 miles inland from the Gulf of Gabes.

An allied spokesman announced that a column pushing toward Maknassy from the north was "making progress" and gains were indicated by another heading eastward from the area northeast of Gafsa, altho heavy German reënforcements were reported at the intermediate town of Sened.

French Lose Faid Village.

The French high command acknowledged the loss of Faid village and the height of Faid as well as the pass before the initial German assault, but said French artillery had knocked out about 12 tanks. Earlier reports had told of allied aerial attacks leaving a dozen Nazi tanks afire in Faid pass. A London spokesman said 20 others were destroyed in fighting along the road between Faid and Sidi Bou Zid, which the French still hold.

To the north of this area, British infantry and artillery stood astride the road leading down from Pont du Fahs toward Robaa, along the "Grand Dorsal" range commanding the approaches to the middle Tunisian coast, and hurled back powerful German attacks headed by 52-ton Mark VI tanks. Two of these giants were knocked out along with four lighter tanks.

At the southeastern end of the North African battle line, two columns of the British 8th army were driving toward the Mareth line in southeastern Tunisia, behind which considerable forces of Marshal Erwin Rommel's army of Libya were in position.

Capture Town of Zuara.

British headquarters in Cairo, in a communique covering action only as of yesterday, announced the capture of the town of Zuara, only 35 miles east of the Tunisian border.

In widespread air battles over Tunisia, the allied communique from North African headquarters reported the destruction of 19 axis planes.

Allied planes damaged and possibly sank an enemy destroyer in the Mediterranean and spread fire and explosions over the axis naval base of Messina, Sicily. The axis held Tunisian ports of Bizerte and Gabes also were bombed.

[The Italian high command acknowledged allied air raids not only on Messina but on the towns of Catania, Trapani, Melito di Porto Salvo, and Augusta, and admitted the loss of a corvette and a destroyer off the Tunisian coast.]

MME. KOO CHIDES U.S. ON 'PITIFUL' HELP TO CHINA

Asserts F.D.R. Told Incomplete Story.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1 [Special].—With nothing more than "pitiful" assistance arriving from the United States, China is on the verge of economic collapse, Mme. Wellington Koo, American educated wife of the Chinese ambassador to Great Britain, said today in an address before workers of the united war chest.

For want of food for her starving people and supplies for her heroic army, China's ability to resist the Japanese may soon reach the breaking point, Mme. Koo said. She added that realistic examination showed President Roosevelt's estimate of the aid reaching China from this country was, at least, incomplete.

Did Not Tell Whole Story.

"President Roosevelt has said that as much is being flown into China as ever went over the Burma road," Mme. Koo said.

"What he did not say was that, of all the lend-lease materials, China gets only 2 per cent, the rest going to England and Russia. What he did not say was that, of this pitiful 2 per cent, only half ever got to Burma, and that of this, only half again ever got into China.

"The President did not point out that of what materials did go to China, 100 per cent were made up of equipment of war and medical supplies. Not a pound of food ever went over the Burma road, or is going in now," Mme. Koo said.

Fears Economic Collapse.

"While China needs guns, nevertheless the danger of economic collapse is so serious that America cannot long delay to equip and supply China and the Chinese army," she said.

America cannot at the same time long put off financial aid in stabilizing the Chinese currency, Mme. Koo asserted.

"If China collapses, America will be in a grave spot," Mme. Koo warned. "If America is in a grave spot, the allied nations may lose the war. Therefore, aid to China must be sent now, at once, without delay."

The Chinese, Mme. Koo said, do not worry much about rationing because there is little or nothing to ration.

"With what money you have, you cannot afford to buy the things which are available, and the things you can afford are not available," she said.

LAST ¼ HOUR WILL DECIDE WAR, DUCE TELLS ARMY REVIEW

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP).—Premier Mussolini, in his first speech since the British eighth army occupied Italy's African empire, promised today to return there "where our dead await us and where we have left indestructible marks of our powerful civilization."

Addressing militia "somewhere in central Italy," on the 20th anniversary of the founding of the militia, Mussolini said victory would go to the side "able to hold a quarter hour longer than the enemy." The anniversary, Il Duce said, occurred in "an atmosphere of iron, battle and decision." The speech was broadcast from Rome.

At this first occasion to comment publicly on the Roosevelt-Churchill unconditional surrender conference in North Africa, Mussolini said:

"We and our comrades of the axis and the tripartite pact reply to the mad, criminal propagandist mystification of Casablanca that we shall never give up as long as we are able to grasp a weapon for combat."

PACT ENDING U.S. RIGHTS IN CHINA SENT TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt transmitted to the senate today, with a request for ratification, the treaty by which the United States relinquishes extraterritorial rights in China.

The treaty was signed here Jan. 11 by Secretary Cordell Hull and the Chinese ambassador.

"Accomplishment of the abolition of the extraterritorial system in China," Mr. Roosevelt said in a message to the senate, "is a step in line with the expressed desires of the government and the people of the United States. The spirit reflected by the treaty will, I am sure, be gratifying to the governments and the peoples of all the united nations."

The treaty would abolish such things as this country's rights to operate its own courts in China for the handling of cases of American citizens and to operate gunboats on Chinese rivers and in coastal waters.

STORY OF A FLYING FORT'S LANDING IN A GARDEN PATCH

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A U. S. BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, Feb. 1.—The dramatic return journey of a Flying Fortress crew, all of whom except the pilot bailed out on his orders before he landed the crippled bomber in an English garden patch, was narrated here today.

Two Illinoisans, 2d Lt. Donald L. Grant of Sullivan, the navigator, and Technical Sergt. Frederick B. Ziemer of Kankakee, the top turret gunner, were among those who parachuted from the Fortress.

The bomber's pilot was 1st Lt. George J. Oxrider of Dayton, O. His ship, known as the Werewolf, was struck by heavy anti-aircraft fire after unloading its bombs on Nazi U-boat pens at Brest on Jan. 23.

Orders Men to Bail Out.

The No. 4 engine was knocked out. Over the English channel the No. 3 engine stopped, but Nos. 1 and 2 got the bomber as far as the English coast. There the No. 1 motor quit. Oxrider directed the crew to bail out. His men demurred.

Sergt. Theodore C. Heaps of Duquesne, Pa., hesitated in front of the escape hatch, hoping the pilot would change his mind. Grant gave Heaps a shove and the former descended. The rest jumped with the exception of Oxrider and 2d Lt. Donald W. Hurlburt, who begged to stay but bailed out on Oxrider's promise that he would follow.

Instead Oxrider guided the Werewolf toward a soccer field. Seeing that the field was crowded with children, the pilot brought the ship down in a garden patch just beyond. Later, mechanics had to dismantle the Fortress in order to remove it.

Takes Flyer to Police.

All crew members made perfect parachute landings, but had more adventures. Ziemer dropped into the arms of a farmer who, believing him a Nazi parachutist, took him to the police. Ziemer was quickly released.

Sergt. Robert H. Smith of Indianapolis, Ind., the ball turret gunner, drifted down into a flock of sheep and got a mouthful of wool. Sergt. Samuel P. Maxwell of Gerton, N. C., landed on a mountainside barefooted, his shoes having been torn off by the snap opening of the parachute.

Technical Sergt. Everett A. Dasher of Marlow, Ga., the radio operator, upon reaching the ground was confronted by a small boy.

The lad drew a pocketknife and cried: "Are you a German? If you are, I'm going to stick you." Dasher was rescued by a young woman who gave him a pony ride to a village.

Grant and Hurlburt roamed the moors for hours before they were found by British home guards. Grant and 2d Lt. Earle A. Steele of Elizabeth, Colo., the bombardier, had a double date planned for that night and got together in time to keep it.

CHICAGO AVIATOR TELLS ORDEAL ON A RAFT IN PACIFIC

Twenty-eight hours at sea in a leaking rubber boat were described by Lt. William Lundin, 22 years old, a marine corps flyer, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lundin, 8201 Aberdeen street. His plane, he wrote, was damaged in action in the south Pacific and sank after he alighted on the sea 20 miles from his base. He said he accidentally poked a hole in his rubber lifeboat while launching it, lost his rations while patching the boat, drifted past three islands, and was attacked twice by sharks before being rescued by a navy vessel.

"Faith in God, who is with you always, was the only cause of my rescue," wrote the flyer who was nicknamed the "Rickenbacker of Tulagi" at the port where he was treated.

REPORTS GIRAUD OPPOSES A 'VICHY MINDED' REGIME

General Cites Record as Evidence.

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud, high commissioner of French North Africa, was quoted in an interview in the Daily Mail today as having said he would be "the last of all Frenchmen to try to or wish to impose a Vichy-minded administration on either North Africa or France."

"My own record is sufficient evidence for that," he was quoted as telling Ward Price, a correspondent for the Daily Mail.

Refers to Arrests.

Regarding arrests made under his régime, Giraud was reported to have said:

"When there is reason to suspect that any persons have been party to an assassination like that of Adm. Jean Darlan I am determined that they be brought under the proper process of common law.

"It matters nothing to me whether such persons are partisans of Gen. Charles de Gaulle [leader of the Fighting French] or are my own supporters. As a matter of fact, some of both are in custody for examination of their cases."

Praise Two Administrators.

Giraud said that both Marcel Peyrouton, governor general of Algeria, and Pierre Boisson, governor general of French West Africa, were good administrators.

"Not all the men who held office under Vichy are, in the sense one uses the phrase, 'men of Vichy,'" Giraud added.

He said it was true that both Peyrouton and Pierre Laval held office under the Vichy régime, but asked his interviewer, "Do you think I would have called a man like Laval, no matter how able?"

Giraud said many "good men, decent men, worked for Vichy, and it would be folly to call them 'men of Vichy' merely because they have held office. Peyrouton, for example, was no man of Vichy in that sense. If he had been I wouldn't have sent for him."

NOTES REVEAL U.S. GIFT TO CANADA OF WAR PLANTS

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 1 [Special].—Notes setting forth the general principles covering after the war disposition of defense projects and installations which the government of the United States has built or may build in Canada were tabled in the house of commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. The notes incorporate recommendation 28 of the permanent joint board on defense adopted on Jan. 13, 1943, which suggested that:

1. All immovable defense installations shall within one year after the cessation of hostilities, unless otherwise agreed by the two governments, be relinquished in the right of Canada or in the right of the province in which it lies;

2. All movable facilities shall be removed from Canada or offered for sale to the government of Canada or offered for sale in the open market to the approval of both governments.

This agreement applies reciprocally to any defense projects which may be built in the United States by Canada. The notes were signed by Lewis Clark, chargé d'affaires for the United States, and by Prime Minister King for Canada.

ROOSEVELT SETS 7½ MILLION MEN AS ARMY'S NEED

Leaders Hear President Report on Trip.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt was reported tonight to have given a conference of legislators at the White House a rough estimate of 7,500,000 men as the maximum sized army needed to carry the war to a successful conclusion.

The President's mention of this figure was said to have been in response to questions of legislators, to whom he had outlined the results of his recent conference in Casablanca with Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain.

Sides with Critics.

Mr. Roosevelt thus was represented as siding with those in congress who have contended that the overall man power needs of the country were such that the army ought not to grow beyond the 7,500,000 goal, expected to be reached by the end of this year. This figure is in addition to the 2,200,000 man total sought by the navy.

Some of the legislators, both Democrats and Republicans, who attended the conference but who can not be quoted by name, said that the discussion of the size of the army was more or less incidental to a lengthy résumé by President Roosevelt of conditions on all of the fighting fronts.

Mr. Roosevelt was said to have given the legislators an estimate of the number of American troops now in Africa and the number expected to be there by spring.

Calls Subs Big Problem.

The President also was said to have described axis submarine warfare as a serious problem. The improvement in detection devices was mentioned and it was reported that the United States and Great Britain are building more ships than are being sunk.

In addition to a congressional delegation headed by senate and house majority and minority leaders, the President conferred at length today with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Undersecretary Sumner Welles, and Adm. Harold R. Stark, commanding fleet operations in European waters.

RUSSIANS SEIZE RAILWAY TOWN IN PUSH ON KHARKOV

MOSCOW, Feb. 2 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Red army, driving 90 miles westward into the Ukraine, has captured Svatovo on the Kharkov-Kupyansk-Voroshilovgrad railway to reach a point 34 miles southeast of Kupyansk and 90 miles from Kharkov, the great steel city, a special soviet communique announced last night.

Other Russian units were hacking to bits the surviving German remnants trapped in the pockets west of Voronezh on the front north of the Ukraine. They also were pounding forward in a swift reconquest of the Caucasus on the southern and southeastern approaches to Rostov.

Red Column Advances.

Svatovo apparently fell to the Russian column that had captured Starobelsk several days ago. Starobelsk is on the Valuki-Voroshilovgrad railway. Valuki already is in Russian hands, and Red army units last were reported within 10 miles of Voroshilovgrad, a Donetz basin industrial center.

[A later soviet communique was heard in London. This war bulletin said the Russians had captured Mechetinskaya. The town is less than 45 miles from the Caucasian gateway city of Rostov. The communique also said that the town of Kshen, on the Voronezh front, had been seized. This town is about 65 miles from Kursk, a German bastion.]

The midnight Russian communique announced that on the Voronezh front one German regiment was almost entirely destroyed, and that 600 troops, 150 trucks, and 15 guns were captured. Some estimates placed the remaining trapped Nazis at less than 25,000. Nine German divisions have been encircled.

The advance continued in that area, the communique said. There the Russians are within 65 miles of Kursk and 75 miles of Kharkov and within 45 miles of the railway connecting those bases.

Kill 1,500 at Stalingrad.

At Stalingrad, the midnight communique said, more than 1,500 troops were killed north of the city.

"The number of prisoners rose hourly and is many times greater than the number of men killed," the bulletin added.

Yesterday the Russians had said 900 of the survivors of the two great German armies of 300,000 men were killed in their last pocket of resistance in the Stalingrad factory district. Less than 43,000 Nazis remain in the apparently hopeless trap near the Volga river.

[The German communique said the southern group of the 6th army at Stalingrad had been overwhelmed. The Germans said troops in north Stalingrad were holding out and even counter-attacking.]

'THIS IS ARMY' PLAYER'S WIFE BEATEN IN HOTEL

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—Mrs. Faye Brousseau, 29 years old, was found in her hotel room today barely conscious, severely beaten, and with one ear bitten off.

The woman, wife of Sergt. Howard Brousseau, member of the cast of "This Is the Army," said she was attacked by a man wearing a marine corps uniform.

Police Lt. James Malloy said Mrs. Brousseau related that she met the marine in her hotel lobby, that they chatted and had a drink. When she went to her room, she discovered he was following her. He forced his way in and tried to attack her. She fought him and was so badly battered she could barely talk.

38 JAP BOMBERS RAID YANK LINES ON GUADALCANAL

U. S. Planes Fight Off 30 Zeros.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—Continued aerial pounding of Japanese bases in the Solomon Islands was reported today by the navy in a communique which said 62 enemy troops had been killed on Guadalcanal and 22 had been captured.

The communique said:

"On Jan. 28 United States troops on Guadalcanal Island killed 62 Japanese and took 22 prisoners.

"On Jan. 29 a force of Marauder medium bombers attacked enemy positions on Kolombangara Island. During the evening, Marauders bombed the enemy held area at Munda on New Georgia Island.

"Japanese planes bombed United States positions on Guadalcanal Island. One enemy plane was shot down. On Jan. 30 a force of Marauder medium bombers with Airacobra escort bombed enemy positions at Munda."

Bombers Raid U. S. Lines.

Twenty dive bombers, 18 high level bombers, and 30 Zeros appeared over the island in midmorning.

American fighters rose from Henderson field and attacked the raiders. There were dogfights all over the sky as Wildcats, Lightnings, and Warhawks roared into the fray. Nine Zeros were shot down and six others probably were destroyed.

Ground Units Strafed.

Some dive bombers managed to sneak thru the American defenses to strafe and bomb ground units. The dive bombers were followed by the horizontal bombers. None of either type was shot down.

[This air activity was reported Jan. 29 in a navy communique, which disclosed that four American planes were missing. The communique said no bombs were dropped by the enemy planes.]

Earlier today [Jan. 27], the Japs raided Guadalcanal airfield from 3 a. m. to 4:45. There were three separate attacks by groups of three, five and six bombers, all of which dropped heavy stuff.

Drop Bombs on Tulagi.

Across the bay at Tulagi Island, other bombers swept over at high altitude, letting go many bombs that could be seen exploding from the beach on Guadalcanal. Navy antiaircraft guns shot down one of the Jap bombers over Tulagi.

Today's raid was the second attempted in daylight in the last three days. The first try was made Jan. 25. On that occasion 78 enemy planes were intercepted over Savo Island and turned back. Five Zeros were knocked out in this engagement.

81 ALLIED CARGO SHIPS SUNK IN JANUARY: BERLIN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The German high command yesterday declared that "at least" 81 allied merchant ships totaling 522,000 tons were sunk during the month of January by German submarines and bombing planes. These claims were not confirmed from any allied source.

The communique, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said an additional 47 allied cargo vessels either had been torpedoed or damaged by bombs and some of them probably had sunk. In attacks on allied warships, German planes were credited with having sunk two destroyers and damaged a cruiser, two destroyers, and a patrol boat during the month.

BIG GUNS POUND JAPS IN BATTLE FOR GOLD MINES

Aussies Use Artillery in Fight at Wau.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 2 [Tuesday] — (AP). — Australian troops defending the gold mining towns of Mubo and Wau, in the mountains of northeastern New Guinea 15 miles southwest of Salamaua, have brought up artillery which harassed the Japanese positions last night, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

Allied attack planes also were active along the jungle track to Komiatum, bombing and strafing the enemy.

Allied planes returned to the attack on the oft-bombed Japanese base of Rabaul, New Britain, planting a load of bombs which started 22 fires. An advance flight of planes led the larger bombers to the night attack, showering the Rabaul area with flares and incendiary bombs which lighted up the target for the striking force.

A maze of fires were started at Lakunai airdrome. Fuel dumps were destroyed and grounded aircraft were demolished.

FIGHT FOR GOLD MINES

BY F. TILLMAN DURDIN.

[By Wireless to The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 1. — The allies' northernmost foothold in New Guinea is at stake in a battle which has developed for the gold mining town of Wau as the result of a Japanese attack which was launched last week. In the center of the New Guinea gold fields, Wau is the site of an airdrome.

The Australian militia fell back to Wau when the Japanese first occupied Lae and Salamaua more than a year ago, and the Australians have held on to the Wau area in the mountains 3,000 feet above the sea coast ever since.

From the airfield incessant raids have been made against the Japanese in the Lae and Salamaua area.

Force Aussies Back.

The Japanese reënforced Lae and Salamaua by sea at the cost of a heavy allied air pounding in January, and undoubtedly the enemy is now using some of the force he brought in at that time in his attack on Wau.

The Japanese worked their way up a foot trail from Salamaua last week and clashed with the Australians, who slowly pulled back to their main defenses, inflicting numerous casualties as they withdrew.

On Friday the Japanese tried an assault on Wau across Bulolo river but tropical rains had swollen the stream and only a few Japanese succeeded in crossing. These were killed.

Fight in Rainy Jungle.

The Japanese worked around to the southeast and assaulted the Australians four miles from Wau, reaching within 400 yards of the airdrome. In a six hour battle the Australians beat them back and since then have continued to hold them off.

Wau is in a wild mountain region in the two mile wide Bulolo valley. There is no motor road to the coast —only trails—and before the war Wau depended upon planes for its link with Salamaua. The Wau airdrome is unique in that it has a 10 per cent incline.

Gold worth $7,000,000 was produced annually in the Wau area before the war. The population of the little town comprises 1,000 whites and many more native mine workers.

SUMNERS BRANDS BUROCRATIC RULE PERIL TO LIBERTY

Texas Democrat Warns of Federal Edicts.

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—Rep. Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] declared today in an interview in the New York Sun that "when you begin thinking, it becomes clear that we have been traveling away from representative democracy toward centralized burocracy."

Rep. H. W. Sumners.

Sumners, who is chairman of the house judiciary committee, asserted that while Americans are fighting abroad for democracy there are unmistakable signs that Americans back home are reawakening to the peril to democratic government in the United States.

"You can't see your sons and brothers go out to risk their lives for a set of principles without some impetus to think about where we ourselves are headed in relation to those principles," he said.

Fears Loss of Democracy.

"We have been tapping the sources of state revenue and sending the revenue to Washington. Then Washington has been sending it back to the states—loaded down with federal power. That's the trick by which we are destroying our democracy. Thank God the people are beginning again to took at the labels on the handouts.

"Do I think there is real danger that our democracy may be destroyed? I don't think it. I know it. It is axiomatic that whoever controls the purse strings controls the government.

Traces Trend to 13th Century.

"You can see this same axiom working thru all the period of Democratic progress. Beginning in the 13th century, when the king and lords of England needed money they asked that the people send some representative who could talk it over and kick in.

"But thru a long period of time these outsiders kept increasing their power. How? By increasing the amount of money they contributed—and controled.

"Finally, the former outsiders became the government. The house of commons took all the power away from the king, and the house of lords continued to exist only by a sort of sufferance."

"We are reversing that process exactly, by giving centralized burocracy control of the purse strings."

Pay Roll Army Described.

Sumners said that approximately 2½ million government appointees draw salaries of about 5 billion dollars a year, and added:

"Many appointees have the power to make rules that have the force of law. They have the power to construe the rules and to enforce them. Those are all the powers any king ever did have.

"The problem is so fundamental and so simple it is remarkable to me every one can't see it. We can't go in two opposite directions at the same time. Either we decentralize government or we have to make up our minds to be governed by the kind of government we are supposed to be opposed to.

"The law of cause and effect applies to government as to everything else. We can't do the things that inevitably cause the destruction of democracy and then expect democracy to continue.

Termed Main Problem.

"Reestablishment and maintenance of our government as a democratic government is the most vital problem our country is facing. We are doing a good deal of fighting to preserve democracy—and we should not lose it at home.

"The fundamental reason why the trend toward centralization grows dangerously is that a federal government can't possibly function in the business of the states and do too much in reference to private business which no government should touch, without ending up as a burocracy."

Sumners has been a frequent critic of the administration and was among the southern Democrats who led the opposition to the appointment of Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York, the only American-Labor member in congress, to the judiciary committee he heads. He also opposed President Roosevelt's 1937 recommendation to add new members to the United States Supreme court if justices over 70 failed to retire.

TELLS JAP DIET 5 U. S. WARSHIPS SUNK BY PLANES

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Japanese imperial headquarters asserted yesterday, without confirmation from any non-Japanese quarter, that its planes had sunk two American battleships and three cruisers last Friday and Saturday off Rennell Island, southernmost of the Solomons, 100 miles south of Guadalcanal.

This wholly unsupported claim was made in a communique read in both houses of the Japanese diet by Navy Minister Adm. Shigetaro Shimada.

Another battleship and cruiser were reported damaged and three Grumman Wildcat fighters were shot down at the cost of only 10 Japanese planes, the communique said. The account was ignored by Washington and London and recalled other fantastic claims of Japanese naval success.

5 ARMY FLYERS DIE IN CRASH; 1 OF CHICAGO HGTS.

Two Critically Hurt as Bomber Falls.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—Five army airmen were killed and two critically injured today in the crash of a medium bomber 12 miles southeast of here.

Tech. Sergt. Lee T. Worsham of Grenada, Miss., one of the critically injured, reached a nearby national youth administration camp. Forty youths found the plane and the other survivor, 2d Lt. Homer H. Landis of Staunton, Va., as a group arrived from an air base.

Lt. Don Moore, base public relations officer, listed the dead as: 1st Lt. Joseph Robert Janovsky, 22 years old, Los Angeles, Cal.; 2d Lt. Clair Elwood Lewis, 20, Plain City, O.; Staff Sergeants Henry B. Evans, 20, Birmingham, Ala.; Eduard A. Witt, 26, father, Eduard L. Witt of 118 West 15th street, Chicago Heights, Ill., and Howard A. Ferguson, 30, of Midway, Pa.

The two survivors were taken to nearby Fort Jackson hospital, where their condition was termed critical.

Two Killed in Arizona.

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 1 (AP).—A PB-1 navy patrol bomber crashed head-on into the enlisted men's consolidated mess hall at Davis-Monthan air base and exploded today killing the pilot and a radio man, said by the public relations office to be the only personnel aboard. About three-fourths of the mess hall was destroyed by flames.

Peoria Officer Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—2d Lt. Earl W. Fenton, 27 years old, of 108 Springdale street, Peoria, Ill., was killed Saturday night when his plane crashed on a routine training flight and hit high tension wires and struck the side of a canyon a mile west of the Rose bowl in Pasadena.

Five Killed in Texas.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—Five men were killed yesterday near Midland, Tex., in the crash of a two engine training plane, Mather field officials said today.

Two Die in Glider Mishap.

Victorville, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—Flight Officers Wilbur Boyd of Washington, D. C., and Neil W. Rise of Beaverton, Mich., were killed yesterday in the crash of a military plane which had a glider in tow. A search was made today for Staff Sergt. C. E. Burnett, Graysville, Tenn., missing since the accident. Three men parachuted to safety.

Indiana Flyer Killed.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1 (AP).—Ensign Robert L. Fleetwood, naval reserve flyer of Seymour, Ind., was killed today when his land plane crashed at Monograph field, near here.

CHICAGOAN TELLS HOW 2 TORPEDOES MISSED ANCHORED TRANSPORT

Edward Pearson, 37 years old, 3320 Belle Plaine avenue, coastguard chief boatswain's mate, home on a five day leave after convoy duty to Africa, yesterday told how his ship, a transport, narrowly escaped destruction when attacked by two German torpedo planes.

Edward Pearson.

The planes each launched a torpedo at the ship as it lay at anchor, Pearson said.

One torpedo was slightly in advance of the other, he said, and as it neared the ship it veered off, missing the bow by about 20 yards. The second torpedo also changed direction at the last minute, and passed between the ship and the anchor chain, Pearson said.

The attack occurred the day after the ship arrived off Africa, Pearson said.

RED CROSS SHIP SAILS TODAY TO GET RELIEF CARGO

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 1 (AP).—The International Red Cross committee announced today that the ship Caracas, purchased recently by the Red Cross, would sail from Lisbon tomorrow for her first crossing to America under Red Cross colors.

In America the ship is expected to take on 4,000 tons of relief packages to be distributed to prisoners of war and civilian internees.

The vessel's return to Europe is scheduled for early March. It has been given safe conduct by all belligerents.

Asks Newsprint for Papers of Puerto Rico in Shortage

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 1 (AP).—With one newspaper, Imparcial, forced to suspend because of the paper shortage, Gordon Foote, local WPB director, said today he had appealed to Washington, D. C., to expedite newsprint for all publishers here.

CHICAGO FLYER WINS CROSS FOR MIDWAY BATTLE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—The navy reported today that distinguished flying crosses had been awarded to eight officers and three enlisted men for courage and devotion to duty in action with the enemy. The officers included Lt. [j. g.] George Formanek, 28 of 8315 Langley avenue, Chicago, who was wounded in action and who piloted a fighter plane in the Midway battle, and Ensign Don T. Griswold, 25, of Clarinda, Ia. He lost his life in the battle of Midway.

The flying cross was also awarded to two army airmen for bravery in action over Europe. They are 2d Lt. Benjamin J Stone Jr., of Auburn Heights, Mich., for an action over Holland Sept. 7, as co-pilot of a B-17 bomber, and Sergt. John D. Sullivan, Minneapolis, for destruction of an enemy fighter during a daylight raid on Courtay, France.

Nine Get Purple Hearts.

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP). — United States army headquarters today announced the award of purple hearts to nine Americans, including 2d Lt. Arthur C. Way, Madison, Wis., and Staff Sergt. Cecil E. Craft of East St. Louis, Ill.

Keep your car up to par with Studebaker service

How rationed mileage and slower driving affect your car

Less frequent driving means more danger to your car from corrosion, sticking parts and leaking engine gaskets.

Slower speeds make small irregularities of engine performance more bothersome.

Your car should be lubricated and inspected on the basis of time rather than mileage intervals.

Sluggish temperature controls can waste fuel in hard starting and slow warm-up. Your battery should be checked regularly and kept charged at all times.

Studebaker dealers have up-to-the-minute information on the effects of rationed mileage and slower driving—and will gladly advise you on the needs of your car without obligation.

Expert mechanics do the work efficiently, quickly and at moderate cost

STUDEBAKER dealers are fully mobilized to give first class maintenance care to the vital motor cars and trucks in their communities.

Drive in frequently and have your car inspected, no matter what make it is.

There is no charge for car inspections unless disassembly or other mechanical work is required. Official tire inspections of course must be paid for at the rates set by the government.

If adjustments or repairs on your car seem necessary, you'll be given a check list of what needs to be done—and, usually, the Studebaker dealer can provide you with an exact cost estimate in advance.

Studebaker dealers' mechanics, like all other automobile repair men with the necessary skill and experience, have been classified as essential war workers because America's vital cars and trucks must be kept in sound running condition to help assure essential transportation.

Don't wait until your car starts giving you trouble. Have it checked regularly at any Studebaker dealer's and keep it rolling for victory.

You may be eligible for a brand new Studebaker

Thousands of motorists whose driving is considered essential can apply for brand new Studebaker Champions, Commanders and President Eights built before car production was suspended. You may be eligible—ask your Studebaker dealer. The Studebaker factories are now wholly engaged on war work building Wright Cyclone engines for the Flying Fortress, multiple-drive military trucks and other war matériel.

M'KIBBIN KEEPS ATTACK FOCUSED ON DEMOCRATS

Ignores Albert's Charge on Green Plans.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

George B. McKibbin ignored the attacks from his opponents for the Republican mayoral nomination yesterday and pointed to his 30 years' activity in many civic organizations as an assurance that he means what he says about his determination to "drive graft, corruption, and padded pay rolls out of the city hall."

As regular G. O. P. choice, McKibbin addressed the Illinois Ieague of Republican Women in the La Salle hotel. Shortly before that, he had been assailed by Arthur F. Albert, independent candidate, before the Illinois Republican Service Men's league in the Hotel Sherman.

60 Hear Albert Attack.

Albert's statements drew applause from the 60 men who crowded the league's regular meeting room. Tom Patrick, county secretary of the league, said, however, that 200 reservations already have been made for the Feb. 15 meeting when McKibbin will speak. John H. Lyle, another independent candidate in Republican ranks, will be the guest Feb. 8.

McKibbin told the women that his wife, the former Helen E. Sunny, was one of the original suffragettes in Chicago and the first woman to cast a ballot in her precinct. Therefore, he has plenty of respect for the rôle women can play in political affairs, he said.

Says Factors Are Right.

"This time we have a real opportunity to win and upset the machine," he said. "That takes a good many factors, but every so often the chance occurs. The tide of sentiment is here, and can sweep over the Democratic patronage of 400 to 600 jobs a ward."

McKibbin also spoke before meetings in the 4th and 7th wards last night.

Henry D. Lindblad, candidate for the G. O. P. nomination for city clerk, who also addressed the Republican women's organization, attacked the Kelly-Nash organization, and termed it "morale crushing."

Lindblad charged that while patriotic Chicagoans have been tightening their belts and sharing wholeheartedly in the war time economy, "you haven't heard of one slash in the city budget since the war started." He said the slogan of the machine apparently is "Pay rollers first—the war effort when you get time."

Albert vowed that he will win the G. O. P. nomination.

"This papier-maché organization that Gov. Green runs will be wrecked so unmercifully Feb. 23 he will wish he had stayed in Ligonier, Ind.," Albert said.

Promises New Attack.

"Green hopes to have the delegates to the 1944 Republican convention so that he can get the nomination for vice-president. It shall not pass and it will not pass! I will be even more specific about the utility interests' connection in this campaign when Green takes the stump for McKibbin."

Mayor Kelly, seeking reëlection, predicted in a radio address that all of Chicago's new war plants "will convert to peace time production and stay here after the war has been won." He outlined the functions of the city's public works department, giving a detailed report of progress made by the water works, in the construction of bridges and the building of sewers. "I have no hesitancy in predicting that Chicago is destined to become the world's greatest industrial center after the war," he said.

FIRE DRIVES 10 TO STREET.

Ten residents of furnished apartments in a frame building at 6437 Harvard avenue were driven to the street yesterday by a fire that started on the first floor and spread to the second floor. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

50 REPRESENTATIVES OF LABOR UNIONS VOW SUPPORT OF M'KIBBEN

Fifty representatives of organized labor indorsed the candidacy of George B. McKibbin, Republican candidate for mayor of Chicago, at a luncheon yesterday in the Brevoort hotel.

John Callahan, business representative of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' union, local No. 1, presided at the meeting, which was attended by labor leaders affiliated with unions representing carpenters, painters, structural ironworkers, roofers, retail clerks, boilermakers, tuck pointers, slate and tile roofers, teamsters, cement finishers, tile setters, bartenders, window trimmers, sign painters, upholsterers, and others.

The new list brought to 22,467 the total of navy, marine corps, and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Pearl Harbor. The total includes 6,416 dead, 3,921 wounded, and 12,130 missing.

Waives Extradition

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The Will county grand jury will convene in Joliet today to hear details of the escape of Roger Touhy and six other convicts from Stateville prison Oct. 9, State's Atty. James E. Burke said last night.

Burke said he visited the prison yesterday and interviewed Touhy and three other convicts, captured and returned to their cells, to verify statements concerning the prison break.

Casimer Darlak, 21 years old, a brother of Edward Darlak, one of those who escaped, is being brought to Joliet from New York to face charges of smuggling pistols into the prison to aid the convicts in their break. Casimer Darlak, a student at the maritime service school in Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., waived extradiction in Brooklyn yesterday and was surrendered to Illinois authorities.

ASPIRANTS QUIT IN 42D AND 47TH WARD CONTESTS

The aldermanic race in the 42d ward, bailiwick of State Sen. William J. Connors, where Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe, Democrat, is trying for a ninth consecutive term, became virtually a straight party fight yesterday with the withdrawal of Lawrence A. Barrett, a former bank receiver. The principal candidates left are Crowe and Paul J. Randolph, an oil company executive who has the indorsement of the 42d ward G. O. P. organization headed by Samuel M. Workman, acting state finance director.

The tangled 47th ward situation was clarified somewhat by the withdrawal of Richard H. Sheridan, bailiff for Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten, who is president of the ward's Democratic organization. Three candidates are still in the race against Ald. Frank O. Hilburn, who was elected four years ago with city hall aid, unseating Ald. Albert F. Schulz, a Courtney adherent.

60,000 Suspect Notices Sent to Chicago Voters

Suspect notices have been sent to 60,000 Chicagoans as a result of Saturday's canvass of registrations in the 3,760 city precincts, election commissioners estimated yesterday. Those receiving notices were ordered to appear before the election board by Feb. 9 to qualify as voters in the Feb. 23 mayoral primary. Prior to the November election, 133,000 suspect notices were sent out.

ARMY AND NAVY START CENTRAL DRAFT SYSTEM

BY HARRY M'CLAIN.

Cook county draft induction stations at 166 West Van Buren street and 515 South Franklin street yesterday began supplying the entire man power requirements of the military services from this county. Stations were packed early in the morning by draftees sent in by local boards, but all were examined by midafternoon.

Under the new system, whereby all military personnel is taken from selective service, the draftees are divided into two classes—army and navy. Of every 54 men the army gets 44 and the navy 10. Ten and one-half per cent of those chosen for the navy are Negroes.

Ten Selected for Sea Duty.

After 10 men are selected for sea duty they are sent to the navy recruiting station at 321 Plymouth court, where they are further divided, two going to the marine corps, two to the coast guard and six to the navy. The marine corps and coast guard are a part of the navy.

A joint army-navy board in Washington, D. C., worked out the division of draftees and the method of examination by which it is determined who will go to the army and who to the navy. Acceptability is based upon education and physical qualifications.

Draftees upon reaching the induction station are permitted to express a choice of service, but there is no guarantee that their request will be granted. The sea services have smaller quotas to fill and when filled the draftee does not have any choice. He must go into the army.

Send 262 to Army, 59 to Navy.

Induction station physicians examined 477 men yesterday, sent 262 to the army, 59 to the navy and either rejected the remaining 156 or placed them in the limited service classification.

Lt. Comm. David N. Goldenson, naval recruiting officer in Chicago for the last year and a half, yesterday turned over command of the station to Lt. Comm. Warren S. Hatch. Comm. Goldenson will leave Chicago within a few days for Salt Lake City, Utah, to become navy inspector of recruiting for the western division.

115,000 PUPILS FIND NEW WAR COURSES READY

When about 115,000 public high school pupils gathered behind desks yesterday to start their second semester they were confronted with two series of courses that had not been on the general curriculum previously, George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent, announced.

About 8,000 seniors at 40 high schools were taking the new pre-induction courses adopted at the request of the army and navy. These courses, in electricity and shop work, will be required of all males graduating in June who have not studied

The second series of defense courses opened this semester consists of preflight training sessions. Here students in many of the high schools will have an opportunity to study the mathematics and physics of aviation; the navigation, meteorology, and regulations of areonautical work; shop work in aviation, and the all-important aircraft radio training.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

G. K. asks: "I am a member of a family of seven. Two of the members are now in the army, and there are children 17, 15, and 13 at home. My father earns less than $100 a month. My brother applied for an allowance for the family. If I found a job, would that spoil our chances of collecting the allowance every month?"

ANSWER: Cases such as you mention will be ruled upon individually by the office of dependency benefits. If any member of the family is employed, it will be necessary to report that fact. The case will be reviewed, and the decision will come from headquarters. However, in view of the fact that there are five in the family, I believe that only a substantial increase in the family's income would change the ruling on the allowance.

Mrs. R. C. asks: "My husband is in the army and has filed for an allowance for me, but I have not yet received any information. I at first thought that allotments were being paid in alphabetical order, but I know many women whose husbands haven't been in as long as mine, and who would alphabetically be listed after my name, who already have received their allowance checks."

ANSWER: With men stationed in all parts of the United States and most of the countries of the world, it would not be possible to handle family allowance checks in alphabetical order. The date a man's service begins does not necessarily govern the payment of family allowances. The date of application and of the first pay roll deduction for the man's contribution are the important factors.

Mrs. E. F. writes: "Would it be possible for me to start a club for the mothers of service men in a small town of about 4,000 people? There are many boys from this community who are now in service, and I feel that their mothers would be interested in joining some sort of organization. We would like it to be worth while as well as social, and I would appreciate any information."

ANSWER: You might be interested in the Association of Army and Navy Wives, a group which is now organizing thruout the country. If you will write to Mrs. Carter Collins, 1428 East 57th street, Chicago, Ill., you can obtain further information. There are no fees, and the wives and mothers of service men are acting as a volunteer group and as a clearing house for education and general information on matters pertaining to army and navy life.

Provincial Head of French Legion Slain in Paris Street

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP).—The Paris radio reported today that the head of the French legion in Chambery, in the province of Savoie, had been assassinated in a Paris street after the announcement that the legion had been transformed into a political militia. The broadcast added that the assassin escaped on a bicycle.

RUTLEDGE GIVEN COMMITTEE O. K. FOR COURT POST

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—The senate judiciary committee voted 11 to 0 approval today of the nomination of Judge Wiley Blount Rutledge as associate justice of the Supreme court with four senators withholding their votes, apparently until they could determine Rutledge's stand on President Roosevelt's court enlargement bill in 1937.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] chairman of a subcommittee which previously had approved the appointment, said Senators Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], William Langer [R., N. D.], Homer Ferguson [R., Mich.], and Chapman Revercomb [R., W. Va.], withheld their votes.

Chicago Daily Tribune
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FOUNDED JUNE 10, 1847

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1943.

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER MAY 14, 1903, AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHICAGO, ILL., UNDER ACT OF MARCH 3, 1879.

All unsolicited articles, manuscripts, letters, and pictures sent to The Tribune are sent at the owner's risk, and The Tribune company expressly repudiates any liability or responsibility for their safe custody or return.

The struggle for freedom of speech has marched hand in hand in the advance of civilization with the struggle for other great human liberties. History teaches that human liberty cannot be secured unless there is freedom to express grievances.—Illinois Supreme Court.

ONLY A BEGINNING.

When the senate made its intentions clear, Paving Block Ed Flynn allowed that he would let the word stand for the deed and asked the President to withdraw the nomination to the Australian portfolio.

The repulse dealt this incredible political gangster is a good beginning, but only a beginning. Congress has more to do. This country can be saved, but only if congress takes a firm hold of the government and overcomes the totalitarians who seek to enslave it, both domestically and internationally.

The Paving Block himself, in giving the public the good news, and Mrs. Roosevelt, appearing in a public forum in New York, dealt with the affair at least as much in anger as in sorrow. Speaking of the misplaced pavement from the Bronx, Mrs. Roosevelt remarked that, "those things are sometimes done by friends." She must have been talking to her roomer, Mrs. Hopkins. The matter, she continued, should not have been brought out. The doctrine of lese majesty is spreading.

Summing it all up, she asserted that "Mr. Flynn was attacked because he is part of the administration and they don't like the administration." In his appearance before the foreign relations committee Flynn asserted that the attack on him was really directed against "the commander in chief."

Eleanor and Eddie are cooking with gas. What they say is so obviously true that it is a wonder that they bothered to say it. Naturally the nation was disgusted at the tender of a diplomatic portfolio to a politician with the morals of a doormat thief, but Mr. Flynn, at this late date, can't help being what he is, while Mr. Roosevelt could have helped giving him the appointment. Mr. Flynn can be left to the mercies of Gov. Tom Dewey and [it is hoped] a special grand jury, but Mr. Roosevelt is still with us and so, to the alarm of his country, are his appointees, of whom Flynn is not the worst.

Mr. Roosevelt has managed to combine the policies of the Jacobites with those of the Jacobins. On the one hand he has engorged the executive until it overshadows, temporarily, its coördinate branches of government, while on the other he has sought, by political and economic downgrading, to level the population to common helplessness. The two processes are not antagonistic. The king who lopped off the taller heads of grain had the same idea.

This overweening executive power has been entrusted to men whose only claim to importance or recognition is that they have caught the fancy of the chief of state. America is seeing its first Potemkin, and the sight is not a pleasant one. The social worker, Harry Hopkins, dispenses the products of our armament plants. The blabbermouth lame duck, Josh Lee, is entrusted with the safety of air line passengers. The list can be expanded indefinitely.

Of course Mr. Roosevelt is attacked whenever one of his appointees is attacked. They are his agents. He placed them in power and he is responsible for whatever they do.

THE FUEL OIL INQUIRY.

The state senate at Springfield by a vote of 30 to 16 has adopted a resolution calling for a legislative inquiry into the rationing of fuel oil in Illinois. Speaker Schnackenberg hopes for "prompt, serious, and favorable consideration" of the proposal in the house. The fact that a number of the Democrats in the senate, led by Nicholas Hubbard of Mount Pulaski, joined the Republicans in support of the resolution is a good augury that it will be approved in the house.

Every constitutional body in the United States should exert itself as the Illinois legislature is doing to save the liberties of the people from dictatorial, tyrannous encroachments. The people are persuaded, as their votes on Nov. 3 showed, that they are being subjected to needless hardships imposed by men determined to institute totalitarian government. The inquiry has overwhelming popular support.

The severities of the oil rationing in this state were justified in Washington on the ground that they were unavoidable. The first task of the investigators when they have been authorized to set to work is to examine this premise. Certainly the need has never been proved. It has never been shown that the deprivations here have been of the least benefit to other sections of the country, for the difficulty from the first has been in finding means to transport oil to the east, not in getting the oil to transport.

EXIT MR. MacLEISH.

Archibald MacLeish has departed from the office of war information and returned to his card catalogs in the library of congress. Mr. MacLeish is nominally the librarian, but for about a year, while he was busy propagandizing for the administration, the library staff managed to hand out the right books, and there is no evidence that he was ever missed around the place.

This is not surprising, for Mr. MacLeish never professed to be a librarian before Mr. Roosevelt gave him the appointment. He professed to be a poet, altho his slim volumes don't offer much corroboration. From the founding of the library in 1800 until the advent of the New Deal that institution was safe from exploitation thru pork barrel politics. The librarian was always a qualified professional. Herbert Putnam, who served as librarian for 40 years before the appointment of Mr. MacLeish, was probably the most distinguished man in his profession before he came to the library of congress.

Why, when his appointment was strenuously protested by professional librarians, was Mr. MacLeish given the job? The answer is that he was wanted in Washington as a personal propagandist for the President, so that he could go around calling political opponents names. It was never intended that his duties as librarian would be other than nominal. He was simply to draw the check. As a propagandist Mr. MacLeish was indefatigable, and the beauty of it to the New Deal was that the taxpayers were paying him to abuse them.

Mr. MacLeish quickly forgot there was a library. He blossomed out as director of the misnamed office of facts and figures, which later was smothered under a new creation, the OWI. Both were propaganda outfits, doubling in the suppression and concealment of information from the public, and the only apparent reason why the OFF and Mr. MacLeish were succeeded by a new agency under a new director was that the people had had time to get heartily sick of Mr. MacLeish.

In reverting to librarian he becomes merely a pork pay roller. His departure from the OWI leaves far too many undesirables still in this Fascist organization. They, too, should be handed their hats and obliged to go out and work for a living. Mr. MacLeish's real function with the New Deal is over. He should have the decency to get out of the library and let somebody who knows the job take over.

CONGRESS AND THE ARMY.

Mr. Roosevelt's free use of the title, commander in chief, leaves no doubt that he wishes the people of this country to think that he can give orders not only to the army and navy but to every civilian. There is, of course, nothing in the Constitution or in the traditions of the country to support this ambition of his; indeed, in the important particular of fixing the size of the army and navy congress and not the President has the determining word.

The Constitution says that "the congress shall have power to raise and support armies" and there is a parallel provision regarding the navy. If those words mean anything, they mean that congress can fix the size of our forces no matter what the executive may wish. The men who wrote the Constitution did not believe that the President had a monopoly of patriotism and wisdom. Quite likely they foresaw a situation in which the President, pursuing his own ends, might seek to raise an army far larger or smaller than the circumstances demanded. The determination of the size of the army was left to congress as the direct representative of the people.

It is to be hoped that congress will not fail to meet this responsibility. It has been obvious for some time that the present program is not related to the facts of our situation. There is no sense in training more men by millions than we can transport to the fighting fronts and keep supplied with the shipping now in sight. Incidentally—and this is also a matter in which congress has the last word—there is no sense in procuring equipment and ammunition for the army beyond its true needs as determined by transport facilities. The piling up of acres of tanks and mountains of shells in this country for lack of ships to send the stuff overseas will not make the slighest contribution to victory except in the imagination of megalomaniacs. On the contrary the overexpansion of the army means the diversion of men from useful work on farms and in factories, mines, and shipyards, and the excessive diversion of materials means that really important military and civilian supplies are being needlessly delayed.

If congress is looking for a fairly accurate measure of the present ability of our country to maintain armies abroad, the size of the existing overseas forces will serve the purpose. At last reports we were said to have something like a million and a half men in foreign service. Many of the soldiers are on garrison duty at 65 so-called fronts with which we are concerned. Where the fighting is going on—in New Guinea, the Solomons, and North Africa—we have only a few divisions. How many is a military secret, but the number is obviously only a small fraction of the many millions now in uniform.

Congress has a duty to consider relevant facts such as this in connection with the various man power proposals that will come before it. The less we have of megalomaniac psychosis in the management of this war, the sooner it will be won and the less it will cost in lives and money.

THE COWPENS.

Another name famous in the War of Independence will be carried into action by the new aircraft carrier—the Cowpens. The Lexington and the Yorktown, which recalled the opening and closing episodes of the Revolution, are now on the Pacific floor, but not until after they had brought us several steps closer to victory in this new war. Their names are being perpetuated in new carriers.

The Cowpens also has a great name to inspire its crew. The battle fought near the cattle inclosure just south of the line between North and South Carolina Jan. 17, 1781, was a small engagement, but it showed American fighting men at their best and their most characteristic. The American forces were composed of Morgan's Virginia riflemen, the Maryland regulars who had survived Camden, militia, and Capt. William Washington's cavalry. The British had Tarleton's cavalry legion, a detachment of dragoons, and parts of three infantry regiments.

Morgan instructed his men to hold their fire until the enemy was within 50 yards, then to take careful aim at those who wore epaulets. After this the front line of 150 expert riflemen were to retire into a second line of militia, which, after firing two rounds, was to retire to the left of the third line of Maryland regulars and militia, who were stationed on a slight eminence. Washington's cavalry was hidden behind the rise of ground.

Tarleton's 17th dragoons attempted to flank Morgan's left, but Washington's cavalry came out and drove them back. Tarleton, taken in by the successive American retirements, sent his 71st infantry to flank the American right. The Americans were ordered to change front, but the movement was not well executed, and Tarleton, thinking the day was won, ordered his cavalry legion to charge on the left. Before this could be done, Morgan ordered, "Face about and fire once more." The order was carried out with the utmost coolness and at that moment the militia under Pickens, which had composed the American second line and which had been ordered to retire at the beginning, completed a circle of the whole battlefield and came up on the American right. The British, tho experienced regulars, were taken by panic. More than half surrendered and the rest fled.

In less than an hour Tarleton lost 100 killed, 229 wounded, and 600 unwounded prisoners out of about 1,000 troops. By firing at the epaulets Morgan's riflemen killed or wounded 39 British officers. American losses were only 12 killed and 60 wounded.

Cowpens has been a great name once in our fighting history. We will look forward to seeing it again in the reports of battle actions.

THE MONTH OF DAYS.

What will the ground hog say when he comes out of his burrow today to inspire the cartoonists and humorous writers of the American press? It is possible that he may address a few sarcastic words to his edible friend, the muskrat, such as, "What's eating you now?"

* * *

The ground hog legend is of German origin, and came into this country with the Pennsylvania Dutch. In Germany, however, the weather-wise animal was a badger. . . . If you have no faith in ground-hog day, you may call it Candlemas, which is its title on the church calendar.

* * *

This month of February, altho a shorty, carries a surprising burden of anniversaries. In addition to ground-hog day, Lincoln's birthday, St. Valentine's day, and Washington's birthday, it contains these contributions to history:

Feb. 3, the Spanish Inquisition was abolished, 1813; Feb. 5, Thomas Carlyle died, 1881; Feb. 6, Singapore was founded, 1819; Feb. 10, the British acquired Canada, 1763; Feb. 11, Daniel Boone was born, 1735; Feb. 15, Singapore surrendered, 1942; Feb. 17, Michelangelo died, 1564; Feb. 25, Samuel Colt patented the six-shooter, 1836; Feb. 26, Napoleon escaped from Elba, 1815; Feb. 27, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born, 1807.

* * *

The Old Farmer's almanac, a hardy American perennial now in the 151st year of its career, quotes this bit of rural lore for the day:

THE MIRACLE OF RAIN.

("The receding curtain of rain . . . began moving back toward us, against the wind . . . as if a great and omnipotent hand moved it.")—Lt. James C. Whittaker.

They learn man's impotence, who long adrift
To charts unknown, where sullen dawns are swift
But bring no hope to aching, straining eyes;
Yet they found faith to ask for rain to heal
Their thirst, and saw how passing clouds were stayed
As if God stooped to heed their faint appeal
And the waters heard and the waves obeyed.
Father, we plead that peace may come like rain
In Thy good time to our beloved land;
Grant us the strength to work, and thus sustain
The faith to know a mighty, unseen hand
Still guides our destiny; and as we pray
May rain's soft mercy bring a better day.

History of the Gold Coast—XXIII.

The Sand Bar case went into its sixth trial on March 23, 1860, before the Hon. Thomas Drummond, district judge of the United States Circuit court for the northern district of Illinois. By this time the lake had moved the shoreline an additional 500 feet to the east, and the accretion in dispute amounted to more than seven acres of valuable land.

A notable array of the legal talent of both city and state represented the litigants, including a prospective Presidential candidate. Buckner S. Morris. Isaac N. Arnold and John A. Wills appeared for the complainant. William Johnston, Abraham Lincoln, Samuel W. Fuller, Van H. Higgins, and John A. Van Arman appeared for the defendants. Every old settler who had a memory left, and some who had not, were there to tell what they knew about the shoreline.

Then followed the testimony of John H. Kinzie, Robert A. Kinzie, Gurdon Hubbard, George W. Snow, Surveyor Asa F. Bradley, and many others, including men who had worked on the first harbor improvements. There is no doubt whatsoever that John H. Kinzie honestly sold water lot 35 to Jones in 1834. The whole case turned on his survey of Kinzie's addition in 1833, the location of Widow Clark's house on the south shore which he used as a reference point, where the Queen Charlotte grounded close to the north pier in the spring of 1835 while trying to make the narrow harbor entrance in a heavy gale, and the location of Shapley's spile. Morgan Shapley, who had worked on the first pier, called attention to the regular variation of the lake level, but little attention was paid to his statement.

The opposing lawyers tore into the witnesses in a savage manner. At noon each day they and the judge had dinner at Arnold's home on the corner of Pine and Huron streets, where the topics of discussion were the disturbed state of the country, the coming Republican convention, and the Presidential election.

On April 4 the court found the defendants not guilty of withholding part of the accretion as charged. Johnston's attorneys then made a motion for a new trial, which the judge denied. He then took the case to the United States Supreme court on a writ of error, where two years later a decision was handed down against him. So ended this long drawn-out litigation, famous in the annals of the city. The ownership of the shoreline had been settled, but only for a time.

This was one of Abraham Lincoln's last cases as a practicing attorney. The next month he was nominated for the Presidency. During the convention his backers took the delegates for a ride past the Sands, as a means of impressing them with the capability of their candidate, who had been an important factor in settling the question of ownership.

And so the Gold Coast played its part in the making of a very great man. Captain John.

A NEW BEGINNING.

This is the song that I sing every morning:
"Here is a new day! A new sun is dawning.
May it hold joy for me. Help me to find it.
If it bring woe, I will try not to mind it.
How could I know what a day may be bringing!
Now it is morning! I'll greet it with singing."

GIVE NATURE A CHANCE IN CONSTIPATION.

THE design of the human system challenges the imagination. Its several parts work in perfect harmony, or they should. Nevertheless, many individuals feel the urge to tamper with nature. They wish to regulate something and they succeed only in upsetting an important region—for example, the digestive tract.

Probably no drugs have been so misused as purgatives. They are responsible for numerous examples of acute irritation within the colon, the direct results of their long continued employment. They will not allow the body secretions to "condition" food in a normal fashion. Nutriment is pushed along the alimentary tube long before it has had an opportunity to dissolve and be absorbed. It is not too much to say that laxative addiction may be labeled a disease.

Constipation probably begins as a relatively mild affair. In time, however — under the lash of cathartics — the machinery that governs bowel contractions may forget how to function. The muscles become lazy, requiring a whip for stimulation. With the lapse of several months, the victim is likely to change from one preparation to another until there is little response to any one. Questions directed to adults in middle life will reveal that most of those who complain of chronic trouble will confess to resorting to remedy after remedy. The adage of the old Roman doctor is still apropos: "Physic is not always good for the sick but is always hurtful to the healthy."

In many of these sufferers an emotional upheaval is to blame. With the coming of mental calm, the need for laxatives disappears. Physicians have observed cases with whom a mild sedative has been more valuable than a drastic purge.

The diet, of course, may be faulty. While our alimentary canals are built on a plan which assumes the taking of fairly concentrated foods, a mixed or balanced diet is necessary. Fresh vegetables and fruits, as well as meat and potatoes, are essential. An entire meal of angel food cake would bring a strong protest.

We must not forget exercise. This includes gentle abdominal massage, walking, and enough activity to keep the muscles in adequate tone. Then, we can recall one of our most effective aids — namely, the drinking of two or three glasses of warm to hot water a half hour before breakfast. By this means, a substantial amount of mucus, which has accumulated during sleep, is washed out of the stomach. In addition, the early morning meal should be leisurely. With such a schedule, the impulse to go to stool usually comes within an hour. If it is repressed or unheeded it may pass and not return.

There are some who may demand more help and agar, a seaweed, or a tea made with senna may be utilized. About all the agar does is to absorb water and give bulk to the intestinal contents. It is nonirritating and will be of benefit to those who are unwilling to eat fiber vegetables and to chew them thoroly.

FOLLOW UP.

M. P. writes: When the skin test for tuberculosis is positive, but X-rays are negative, are any further checks necessary in the case of a child?

REPLY.

Not for a while. In this instance, the reaction means that the youngster has been in contact with the disease. A chest film at six month intervals, however, is suggested.

KIDNEY STONES.

L. S. writes: Is it harmful for a person inclined to form kidney stones to take vitamin D?

REPLY.

Don't take it unless you really need it. Some reports indicate that generous doses of this food accessory increase the tendency to the deposit of lime. This is particularly true with one who is recovering from a fracture.

IRRITATION EXISTS.

E. M. writes: Whenever I lift anything or even just grip my fingers, my right arm pains below the elbow. What causes this?

REPLY.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE RENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Will some one tell me why the Chicago housing administration was allowed to raise rents by the office of price administration to $47.50 a month in the three projects in the Chicago area when the rents prior to Nov. 1, 1942, ranged from $18.75 to $29? According to Elizabeth Wood, secretary of the CHA, rents of some tenants were raised because they can afford to pay more. Will the office of price administration allow a private landlord to increase the rent of his tenants who likewise today can afford to pay more than when they rented the apartment? The OPA, no doubt, will tell the landlord that unless he comes within one of the seven grounds provided by the law, he cannot have the rent adjusted. How does the OPA get around the law in the case of the Chicago housing administration? What's good for the goose should be good for the gander.

Likewise, the services in the CHA projects were decreased. Where janitor services were provided before, today tenants must do their own work. In the case of a private landlord, there must be no decreased services, and no adjustment for an increase in rent can be had unless there has been a substantial increase in services furnished the tenant.

Why such discrimination between the Chicago housing administration and a private landlord who has to bear the burden of steadily increasing real estate taxes? A LANDLORD.

"DEAR PAVING BLOCKS."

Palos Park, Ill., Jan. 28.—While I agree with your editorial on "Roosevelt an Politics" as appropriate now, I cannot but reflect how inappropriate it would have been when another Roosevelt was President. Theodore Roosevelt, it may be remembered, said that he was willing to work with boss politicians when they went his way but his coöperation ended there. He never went their way or appointed their protégés to important offices like the federal judiciary. Nor did he give them aid and comfort by addressing familiar letters to them. It can be recalled how here in Chicago he refused to attend a banquet where the Republican boss, William Lorimer, was to be present, and only did so when Lorimer's invitation was recalled. Can any one imagine Teddy addressing a letter to Lorimer saluting him as "Dear Billy"? Compare this with present treatment of "Paving Blocks" Flynn.

EVAN L. REED.

REFERRED TO COLLEGE OF HERALDRY.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 29.—If memory doesn't serve me false, there is a royal design registered with the English college of heraldry which depicts a lion and a unicorn upholding the crown of the British empire.

Since 1914 it doesn't seem to me that this unicorn critter has been on the job the way he should have been, whereas I will leave it to any fair minded person whether or not the American Democratic donkey hasn't been doing a right smart job pinch hitting and upholding for the unicorn.

So seeing that this unicorn has been shirking his duty the way he has, I urgently suggest a petition be circulated demanding that henceforward the donkey be substituted for the unicorn on this device, and that this petition be submitted to the college of heralds posthaste. C. J. DENNER.

AFTER THE WAR IS OVER.

Great Lakes, Ill., Jan. 28.—This morning I became greatly interested in your editorial, "That Word Duration." The post-war period holds great opportunities for me personally and your editorial turned my thinking to my future. Many of us now serving were required to leave school or positions of importance with organizations where the opportunity for advancement in a chosen career was evident.

I, for one, and many others whom we met since enlistment, were of more value to the war effort in our own jobs than we are now. And when I say our own jobs, I refer to jobs which we expected to be in for a long time, war or no war. We want to return to these jobs after the war. Our employers want us back, as shown by, first, their interest in us before the war and, second, by the efforts which they made to seek deferment from selective service after the war began and our absence from our jobs hindered our employers' part in the war effort.

Is it intended that we be denied the privilege of carrying out our life career? Are we to be placed in a military police force covering the whole world after the war? We have seen actual proof that there are young men in this country who do not care for a career, who are not responsible, progressive employés, who are satisfied with enlistment in a military unit as a livelihood. These men plus those who have chosen a military or naval career plus those who haven't the opportunity of immediate employment on the outside after the war should be sufficient for the world police force.

If the congress decides to use the "reverse draft" program, let's hope they consider those of us who have jobs or our own business waiting for us at home and give us a chance to return to civilian life and our chosen work. We hope the New Deal will allow freedom of employment and give up the idea of planned economy. GOB.

OFFICIALS AND PRIVATE CITIZENS.

Kokomo, Ind., Jan. 28.—I quote from the report on Mrs. Roosevelt's press conference: "Mrs. Roosevelt said that gasoline used by a military plane which took her to Newport News to launch the new aircraft carrier Yorktown was not wasted because the pilots had to fly a certain number of hours as 'practice.' Flying any official anywhere, she said, always was used as required hours for the pilots."

If Mrs. R. is deluding herself with the idea that she is a government official, we hope she is the only one so deluded. Apparently she has spent so much time entertaining those persons whom Europeans wrongly call royalty that she is getting notions of grandeur.

WILLIAM A. OWENS.

THE FARMERS REPLY.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—In reply to "Ex-Farmer Tired of the City," may I say that after several years of absence from the farm I returned in 1928 and purchased a farm from a man who had just been able to eke out a living. It took many years of hard work and lots of money to put the farm in a condition to produce a decent living.

During my stay on the farm, the government put over the WPA. After this, WPA workers would sit on the curbstones and refuse to help the farmers to save the crops. "Ex-Farmer" says the farmer has not paid a fair wage in the last 12 years. I wonder if he calls from $3 to $4 a day, with board and no Sunday work, unfair? That is what I paid during the last 12 years. MYRTLE BASS.

White Pigeon, Mich., Jan. 29.—We can't imagine where "Ex-Farmer" could have been working in 1935 to draw only $1 a day. Was that all he was worth? My husband has farmed for 35 years and never has hired a man as cheaply as that, not even during the depression, when we sold pigs for 2 cents a pound and wheat for 30 cents a bushel.

Last year we paid a high school boy 40 cents an hour for a 10 hour day. Does "Ex-Farmer" really mean he'd arise at 4:30 a. m. [as we do], milk 18 cows, do chores, work in the field till night, do chores again, milk 18 cows again . . . all for $3 a day? What is the matter—won't they have him in a defense plant? M. C.

CLOSING AN ESTATE.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An estate of $2,500 has been in the Probate court for 14 months. All bills are paid and there are no claims against it. What steps can an heir take to have this estate closed? Two months ago I spoke to the lawyer and to the administratrix. At that time they said the matter would be settled but to date nothing has been done. E. F.

You might try asking the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear upon the executor to close the estate. Ill. Revised Statutes, Chap. 3, Sec. 462, provides that after two years the executor must pay interest at 10%. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FARMERS FACING ACUTE SHORTAGE OF FERTILIZERS

Must Produce Their Own Nitrogen Supply.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Tight federal control of the nation's supply of fertilizer is forcing the farmer to fall back on natural methods of maintaining the fertility of his soil. As a result of fertilizer rationing the farmer is changing his planting program and adopting new crop rotations.

More than 2,300,000 farmers in the nation use approximately 9 million tons of commercial fertilizer each year, costing them around 300 million dollars. The greatly expanded farm program stemming from the war has created a fertilizer shortage. Chemical nitrogen, one of fertilizer's most important elements, is needed for the war; consequently its production for other purposes has been limited.

Big Shortage Forecast.

In 1936-'40 agriculture spent 2.53 per cent of the national farm income on fertilizers; if the same percentage is spent this year there will be an added demand for more than 4 million tons. Last year the demand exceeded the supply by approximately 750,000 tons. This year demand will exceed supply by more than 3 million tons.

For these reasons experts predict a severe shortage of fertilizers this spring when the farmer prepares his land for planting.

There probably will be enough phosphoric acid and potash to meet demands, officials say, the shortage developing in the supply of nitrogen.

As a result the farmer will be forced to produce his own supply of nitrogen. This can be done by planting clover and alfalfa. Thru inoculation of his legume seed the farmer will be able to add appreciably to the nitrogen supply in his soil.

Clover Heavy in Nitrogen.

A good crop of sweet clover contains from 120 to 150 pounds of nitrogen to the acre. Many farmers are planning to sow clover in their corn rows. Those who have followed this practice in the past have found that it acts as an excellent fertilizer and increases the corn yield. The clover, however, will keep cultivation to a minimum and this may allow the weeds a better chance, they say.

Of the 120 to 150 pounds of nitrogen put into an acre of soil by sweet clover almost 100 pounds is taken from the air, providing the seed has been inoculated with legume nodule bacteria.

Alfalfa Also Excellent.

With nitrogen in a commercial fertilizer costing 10 cents a pound, this means the farmer gets 8 or 10 dollars' worth of nitrogen at little expense.

Alfalfa, if inoculated, will gain as much as 90 pounds of proteins to the ton.

In addition to increasing the use of legumes for fertilizers many farmers will start plowing and planting on the contour this spring to save every possible bit of soil fertility.

Hills not plowed on the contour or strip cropped will lose a great deal of fertility and soil thru erosion and washing. The government will pay farmers $1.50 an acre for contouring inter-tilled crops this year and 50 cents an acre for planting drilled crops on the contour.

Farmers must use plenty of lime and phosphate this year to help maintain soil fertility. Manure, straw, and cornstalks should be returned to the soil.

NEW AIR STUDIO DEDICATED TO STATE DEFENSE

Gov. Dwight H. Green opened the new broadcasting studio of the Illinois State Council of Defense at 188 West Randolph street yesterday with an address broadcast over WLS and WAIT. As chairman of the council, Gov. Green commended volunteer workers for their contributions to civilian defense, and reported that thru the efforts of the civil protection division of the council the state was prepared to safeguard life and property from possible enemy attack or acts of sabotage.

Gov. Green reported there were 600 local defense organizations in Illinois. He said 200,000 volunteers in defense work had been enrolled; that the council's salvage division had been responsible in part for the fact that Illinois had consistently led the nation in scrap salvage drives.

The council's new studio will be used regularly for civilian defense messages. Plans are being completed to link all broadcasting stations in Illinois to the studio with direct telephone lines so that urgent messages may be dispatched to every corner of the state simultaneously.

Lodged Bridge Barricade Halts Outer Drive Traffic

Southbound traffic on the Outer drive was halted for several hours yesterday when a barricade across that lane of the bridge at Randolph street became lodged four inches above the ground level. Mechanics who repaired the barricade said snow and rain entering the electrical mechanism caused the trouble. Southbound cars were routed over Ohio street and Michigan avenue. Traffic in the other direction was not affected.

LABOR SO SCARCE ⅓ OF EAST TEXAS MAY LIE FALLOW

Farmers and U. S. Both Are Worried.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP).—East Texas is "very much concerned" over a farm labor shortage, which some communties fear may result in idleness of a fifth to a third of their farm land. This report by a regional representative of the commerce department was made public tonight by Rep. Lindley Beckworth [D., Tex.] to whom it had been forwarded.

The findings were by Carl E. Bartz, regional manager at Dallas, Tex., after a visit to Wills Point, Lufkin, Carthage, Longview, Mineola, Quitman and Canton, east Texas communities.

Would Suspend AAA Rules.

Bartz wrote Dr. Wilford L. White, acting chief of the department's division of regional economy, that the section visited, realizing its importance in war food production, was concerned over the shortage of both white and colored labor.

Bartz reported he found sentiment in favor of holding farm labor migration to a minimum, and an increase in those favoring removal of agricultural adjustment administration regulations.

Farmers Leave Land.

Community leaders, according to Bartz's letter, felt that the best solution to the problem would be designation of sections which should raise particular crops, such as cotton, peanuts, soy beans, or truck.

In Van Zandt county, he said, as many as one-third of the farmers were reported to have left their farms.

"Estimates of probable percentage of land that may lay out this coming season," he wrote, "as a result of insufficient farm labor, range from 20 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent in the communities visited."

TECHNICAL TRAINING PROGRAM IS URGED TO AID INDUSTRY IN WAR

Establishment of an industrial training corps, similar to the college training programs already set up by the army and navy for continuation of technical training in the military branches, must be undertaken if a balanced war program is to be achieved, President Henry T. Heald of the Illinois Institute of Technology told members of the Civic Club of Chicago yesterday in the La Salle hotel.

Henry T. Heald.

The continued operation of industry is just as important to the army and navy, Heald said, as the operation of any branch of the military service. He added that this can be done if some program is set up to maintain a continuous supply of men and women of ability, trained in the necessary technical fields, to assure maintenance of the nation's accelerated industrial output.

Heald, who also is consultant to the navy and the war manpower commission in matters of war training, outlined the program under which the army and navy expect to have 400,000 students in colleges under various types of training by summer.

FBI Arrests Two Lacking Draft Classification Cards

Federal bureau of investigation agents began enforcement of the law requiring men 18 to 45 years old to carry draft classification cards yesterday by arresting Allen Angelo Rovere, 26 years old, 1039 North La Salle street, and Frank Hearns, 20, of 1822 Roosevelt road.

ARMY TO CANCEL THIRD OF CIVILIAN FLYING SCHOOLS

Private Plane Ownership 'Frozen' to Aid Plan.

BY FRANK STURDY.

Army plans for revision of the war training service for civilian pilots which would force out of business about one-third of the 510 operators now holding government contracts were revealed in Washington last night by a spokesman for the civil aeronautics administration.

The new army program calls for concentration of WTS training [started in 1939 as the civilian pilot training program] in fewer and larger stations enrolling students in larger groups.

The CAA spokesman explained the new system in interpreting last week's order of the war production board which froze all single engined airplanes of less than 500 horsepower in the hands of their present owners. This accounts for virtually all of the 22,000 planes now privately owned, because the army and navy have long since acquired the more powerful and the multi-engined planes.

Uncertainty Grounds Planes.

Airport operators thruout the Chicago area received notice of the freeze order yesterday from the CAA. It prohibits leasing as well as sale of planes, but the CAA spokesman said that the order did not mean airplanes could not be used for dual instruction of private students. Because of uncertainty on this point, however, hundreds of airplanes at scores of airports were grounded yesterday.

The order specifically exempted army, navy, government agencies, and commercial air lines. Consequently, WTS contractors may continue current programs.

Freeze to Aid Reduction.

Elimination of the smaller operators will be accomplished by refusal to renew contracts, most of which are of three month duration. Officials said operators who will be retained are being chosen and will be notified before April 1.

The purpose of the freeze order is to facilitate government purchase of the planes of operators whose contracts are not renewed, and who will have little incentive to remain in business.

Several operators of WTS programs said the new plan would be unfair to those who had invested in improvements in buildings and airport facilities when the original CPT program was evolved and the army and CAA encouraged their participation in the first civilian training system. Thousands of pilots have been produced by small contractors, virtually all of them entering either the army or the navy air arm.

New Highway

Dotted line indicated by arrow locates new highway.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 1 [Canadian Press].—Construction by United States forces of a new highway north of the Peace river to the Mackenzie river in the Canadian northwest was disclosed in the house of commons today.

[The Peace river rises in northeast British Columbia and flows eastward to Lake Athabasca in Alberta. The Great Slave lake, about 180 miles north of Lake Athabasca, is the source of the Mackenzie river, which flows northwestward to the Beaufort sea.]

This route is in addition to the Alaska highway, which runs thru northern Alberta and British Columbia, the Yukon territory and Alaska. It was said the highway is being built from the Peace river to Providence, which lies at the head of the Mackenzie river where it runs out of the western end of the Great Slave lake.

WARSHIP SAVES 118 AMERICANS OF DESTROYED BOAT

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 1 (AP).—The Portuguese destroyer Lima has rescued 118 Americans whose ship was reported sunk off the Azores Jan. 27, it was announced today. The Lima, stationed at Horta, the Azores, left immediately after receiving an S.O.S. and located several lifeboats with the 118 men despite a terrific storm. The Lima landed the Americans at the Azores port of Punta Delgada.

Flees from Draft Quiz, Wounded by Detective

Detective Ray Tighe of West North avenue police shot and wounded Henry Boner, 25 years old, Negro, when Boner fled to avoid questioning in front of 2030 Hubbard street yesterday. Tighe and Detective Joseph Terry said Boner broke away when they asked him to show his draft registration card. Boner, wounded in the right arm, was recaptured. He had no draft card, the detectives said. Boner told them he lived in Mississippi.

CHARGE PUCKETT STORY OF WIFE'S SLAYING VARIED

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 1 [Special].—Two Lafayette police officers, testifying today for the state in the trial of Will R. Puckett, 64 years old, charged with the first degree murder of his mail order wife, Ella May Puckett, on a lonely road near Lafayette last November, asserted that the defendant told conflicting stories after his arrest.

Lt. Matt Oley said Puckett, when questioned at the funeral home where he brought the body of Mrs. Puckett, asserted she had been slain by a hitch-hiking bandit when she refused to turn over her money. Puckett's first story, Lt. Oley said, was that he handed over his own purse with $30 in it as the bandit covered him with his revolver. Later, Oley disclosed, Puckett said that the bandit helped himself to the purse. Puckett in his second story said when the bandit dropped the purse and stooped over in the road to pick it up he kicked the hitch-hiker, knocked him over, and jumped into the car and drove away with his dead or dying wife, the officer testified.

Lt. Edward E. Farley told of questioning Puckett further on the day of the slaying. He said Puckett described the alleged hitching-hiking bandit vaguely.

OPA WINS FIRST TRIPLE DAMAGE PRICE LID SUIT

The office of price administration in Chicago won its first judgment of triple damages yesterday against a price ceiling violator. Federal Judge William J. Campbell awarded the government damages of $2,586 against the Weege Sales company, 134 North La Salle street, in connection with the sale of bale ties from July 31 to Oct. 14, 1942. The judgment, which was agreed to by the defendant firm, represented three times the charges made by the company in excess of maximum prices fixed by an OPA schedule governing resale of iron and steel products.

SEIZE 8 MILLION AUTOS, PLEA BY ARMY OFFICIAL

Patterson Favors Taking Spare Tires, Also.

tions to limit driving to absolute necessities, including a ban on all pleasure driving and a prohibition against Sunday and holiday driving.

2. Restrict trucking to essential cargoes. He said trucks are still operating as if no rubber shortage existed, hauling beverages and other luxuries.

3. Halt long distance hauling by trucks and buses.

4. Seize tire inventories still in private hands.

5. The government should buy all spare tires—not more than four to a vehicle.

Seize Portion of Automobiles.

6. Requisition all passenger cars except the 20 million that has been calculated as the minimum number to sustain America's transportation system. There are approximately 28 million passenger cars in this country. Patterson would first take all but one car from families owning more than one. This would condemn about 3 million vehicles, he said. He would also take all used cars in dealer hands. The seized vehicles would be stripped of their rubber and held to await more ample supplies of synthetic or scrapped for their metal.

7. Stop making grade A tires for buses, a grade that even the army has surrendered for rubber economy.

"These are drastic hardships," said Patterson, "but isn't it better than having combat planes that can't fight for want of high octane gasoline? And isn't it better than having our overseas forces lacking in supplies for a lack of escort vessels?"

Defend Men in Factories.

Patterson and Undersecretary of the Navy Forrestal, who followed him, both protested against Jeffers' "bulling thru" his rubber program at the expense of other war production programs which are rivals for scarce parts such as valves, gauges and instruments. Both defended their use of inspectors, expeditors and trouble shooters in the arms factories.

Forrestal said that the first concern of the navy is to build more escort ships to combat submarines which Germany has placed first on its construction program.

Patterson, under examination by the committeemen, said he was satisfied with the operations of Nelson and the WPB. He added, in response to questions, that he did appeal to President Roosevelt against Nelson giving an overall priority to a large portion of Jeffers' construction as the rubber director was advocating.

Referred to Byrnes.

Patterson said the President referred the controversy to former Supreme Court Justice James Byrnes for a decision.

"Did you get what you wanted in this decision?" he was asked.

"No, and neither did Mr. Jeffers," he replied. "It was probably a just decision, but I'm an advocate of more for the army. We'll get by, altho the octane program is being delayed and escort vessel construction is being delayed so we can get rubber."

Without making the figures public, Patterson read a report from Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes showing that the demand for 100 octane in 1943 will be far greater than the anticipated supply.

"If an even richer gasoline is adopted, as the military advocates, the shortage will be even more acute," said the undersecretary.

Reveals Higher Grade Fuels.

Army censors have heretofore deleted references to production of a higher grade fuel than 100 octane now in use for combat only. The present quality is giving American airmen an advantage over the enemy and a still higher quality will widen the advantage as engines are produced for its use.

Ickes was also quoted during the hearing by Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the military affairs committee. Jeffers had testified that his plant construction program called for 35 per cent production from alcohol and 65 per cent from petroleum and natural gas.

"The petroleum administrator told me at a dinner recently," said May, "that the national reserves of oil will be exhausted in 20 years with consumption at the present rate. Wouldn't it be better to base the rubber program on alcohol made from supplies replenished by agriculture?"

"We're following the Baruch recommendation to bull thru the program adopted before I took office last September," Jeffers replied.

Food Shortage Enters Situation.

A world food shortage is also arousing concern over the advisability of using grain for alcohol for rubber. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is building a plant at its Canadian paper mills to make alcohol from a sulphite liquor that is wasted under American wood pulp processes.

Both Patterson and Jeffers said they didn't agree with a philosophy expounded by Vice President Henry Wallace that the synthetic industry in America should be destroyed after the war so as to resume international trade with the less fortunate people who produced 95 per cent of the world's rubber under a British-Dutch monopoly before the Japs seized the western Pacific. Both said synthetic rubber is here to stay.

Jeffers, under cross examination, stuck to his criticism against the army and navy as interfering with rubber production.

"It's the job of the army and navy to fight, not to run the nation's business," said Jeffers.

Jeffers read to the congressmen the recommendations he had received from Patterson.

"Of course," the director commented, "Mr. Patterson didn't take into consideration that all passenger car tire replacements are made from reclaimed rubber which has no relation to the military rubber requirements."

Jeffers then read a letter from Forrestal which said that the use of crude rubber should be confined to "direct military purposes because there is probably enough rubber on truck tires to last thru the war."

Gives Eastman's Views.

As contradiction of this view from the navy department, Jeffers read a letter from Director Joseph B. Eastman of the office of defense transportation which declared that rubber must continue to be issued for truck and bus tires "even if military requirements have to be cut."

"I'm not a business-as-usual man," Jeffers said. "I know that the army and navy must have gasoline and weapons. Where I differ with them is in my belief that the country can't be taken off rubber without a collapse. We must maintain the civilian economy or we lose the war. I object to the general attitude of the army and navy executives toward civilian requirements."

"When I said last week that there were too many army and navy officers and loafers in the factories, I meant there were too many commissioned officers in unnecessary jobs—loafer jobs, we call them in railroading. This is a general condition; it's common knowledge; and I'm of no disposition to name names that you can learn if you want to investigate."

GAS AND SPEED CURBS CUT AUTO DEATHS BY 50 PCT.

Gas rationing and reduced speeds resulted in a 50 per cent decline in automobile fatalities in Cook county during January, the coroner's office reported yesterday. Deaths numbered 42, with 38 in Chicago, compared with 88 and 69, respectively, in January, 1942, and 48 and 44 in December last year.

Joseph Dziedzic, 74 years old, 1439 Cortland avenue, Chicago Heights, died yesterday in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, from injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck near his home by an automobile driven by Peter Jacobucci, 33, of 215 East 22d street, Chicago Heights.

Muriel Flynn, 6, of 14738 Morgan street, Harvey, died in St. Luke's hospital from injuries received last Dec. 25 when the automobile in which she was riding with her family was in a collision in Riverdale.

U. S. and Cuba Sign New Agreement on War Aid

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 1 (AP).—The state department announced today that Cuba and the United States had signed a supplementary agreement for "military and naval coöperation" to intensify their combined war efforts."

ATTACK ON BIRTH CONTROL LAW IS BARRED BY COURT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—The Supreme court ruled today that physicians had no legal ground to challenge Connecticut's anti-contraceptive law, against which birth control advocates have long campaigned. However, the high tribunal left the door open for patients to test the law by bringing cases in their own behalf.

The law forbids physicians to advise or prescribe the use of contraceptives even when they conclude that a woman's life would be endangered by child bearing.

Dr. Wilder Tileston of New Haven, a Yale medical professor and practicing physician, joined by 541 Connecticut colleagues and 166 doctors from other states, sought to overthrow the law on the ground that it violated the 14th amendment of the Constitution.

Without deciding whether the Connecticut law actually does deprive persons of life without due process, the Supreme court said in a brief order of dismissal that the physicians had no legal standing to raise the question because it was not their lives but those of their patients which were involved.

WEIGEL RESIGNS; OPA POST WILL GO TO M'KEOUGH

John C. Weigel, regional director for the office of price administration for Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, and Minnesota, yesterday resigned from the $8,000 a year post.

John C. Weigel.

His resignation, submitted by letter to Prentiss Brown, national director of the OPA in Washington, D.C., has been accepted, Brown said. The OPA chief did not name a successor. Weigel's duties will be assumed during the interim by Fletcher Kettle, who was Weigel's administrative assistant.

Politics Caused Friction.

Weigel, a former executive of Sears, Roebuck & Co., gave no reason for his resignation, but it has been known for some time that he has been dissatisfied because of friction arising within the department after his refusal to make political appointments. Brown indicated that Weigel's resignation had been "voluntary," altho associates of Weigel recalled his persistent assertions that he would not resign.

Weigel's successor will be former Rep. Raymond S. McKeough, who was defeated in the senatorial election last Nov. 3 by Sen. Wayland Brooks. McKeough and Mayor Kelly were known to have been in Washington recently.

First Regional Director.

The appointment of McKeough will provide the OPA in Chicago with two executives known to favor the city administration, the other being Michael F. Mulcahy, metropolitan director for the government agency.

Weigel, former administrative assistant in the state department of public welfare, was appointed regional OPA administrator in December, 1941, when the Chicago regional office was established.

LEATRICE JOY GILBERT.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—Leatrice Joy Gilbert, daughter of two famous stars of silent pictures, was married yesterday to Francis Michael Carney, 21 years old, of Stanford university student, at Yuma, Ariz., in an elopement from Palo Alto, Cal. Miss Gilbert, 19, is the daughter of the late John Gilbert and Leatrice Joy, second of his four wives.

3 Flee Training School; Walk Right Into Custody

Three youths who escaped from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles were captured yesterday when they sought refuge at the home of a Kane county deputy sheriff, John Treadwell, in Maple Park, about 10 miles west of the school. Treadwell, suspecting they might be escapees, called the sheriff's office and the boys were returned to the school. They are Harvey Deaton, 15 years old, Joliet; Eugene Gregg, 16, of Galesburg, and Lummie Diggs, 15, of Harrisburg.

FARMERS DENIED WHEELBARROWS RUSTING IN SNOW

The nation's farmers could use the thousands of WPA wheelbarrows which have been allowed to rust for months in a vacant 10 acre field at 31st street and Hoyne avenue, T. M. Dunlap, head of Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s hardware division, said last night. He said that no wheelbarrows are being manufactured and that none is for sale in any market.

"When I saw the picture in THE TRIBUNE I couldn't believe my eyes," Dunlap said. "I wrote the WPB on Dec. 9 seeking an allotment of wheelbarrows and was referred to the procurement relief branch of the treasury department. They told me they would place me on their waiting list—where I have been since."

The regional procurement division of the treasury department is nominal custodian of the equipment abandoned by the WPA. Charles Casey, state WPA director, said a complete list of such equipment is sent to the procurement division as it becomes available.

Conductor Killed, Another Hurt When Hit by Trolley

Walter F. Garnes, 50 years old, of 1701 Wallen avenue, a street car conductor, was killed, and Roy Hartigan, 48, of 1704 Wallen avenue, a conductor, was injured last night when they were struck by a north bound street car at 6600 North Clark street. The men presumably were walking home.

TAXI COMPANIES AGREE TO CURB SHORT HAUL CABS

Signs advising taxicab passengers that the drivers must haul them to their destination any place within the city limits will be posted in all cabs of the two major Chicago companies. Company officials agreed yesterday to this action at a meeting with a subcommittee of the council local transportation committee.

The signs, visible outside and inside the cabs, will read: "A city ordinance provides that the driver of this cab must take you to your destination anywhere inside of Chicago. If he refuses, take his cab number and report to us. He will promptly be dismissed."

The transportation committee has received several complaints that drivers turn down long trips for the shorter, more profitable trips.

Mrs. Cavenaugh Renamed Head of Service Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. ROBERT CAVENAUGH yesterday was reëlected for a fourth time as president of the Service club, an honor she accepted modestly. Her destination of the club's activities during the last year was anything but modest, however, for she felt justifiably proud of the club's achievement of netting $11,000 on a benefit in a year filled with uncertainties brought about by the war.

"I feel that this success puts us in a category with the St. Luke's and Passavant women's boards, whose members have had years of experience in getting money out of the public," said attractive Mrs. Cavenaugh in her short address to the youthful board of directors of the club. The meeting was a luncheon in the sunny west end of the Arts club dining room, looking out over the Chicago river.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Cavenaugh were Mrs. Jere Patterson, Mrs. Otto Schulz, Mrs. William Faurot, Mrs. Ralph Mills, Miss Carol Fox, and Mrs. Leslie B. Olmsted, who is to be the production manager or chairman of whatever sort of benefit the club will have in 1943. She also managed the successful "Ice Follies," opening benefit of the club last fall.

Several Among 13 New Members Are Absent.

Of the 13 new members of the club, some were absent, among them Helenanne Thompson Bryan, whose married name temporarily escaped the other directors present. She is Mrs. Theron Sheridan Ward Jr., whose marriage took place in California, but who will be here briefly this month with Lt. Ward on their way to Fort Benning from a visit with his parents in Seattle. They will be with her parents, the Walter Moore Sheldons, in Hinsdale. Also missing was Mrs. Frank Bering, who is in California; Mrs. Edwin R. Moore Jr., who is in Corpus Christi, Tex., and Miss Mary Claire Van Hagen, who is back at school.

Mrs. Frank Nahser announced plans for a Service club party on Feb. 13 at the U. S. O. center on South Wabash avenue, where married members and their husbands will act as hostesses and the younger women as dancing partners for the soldiers and sailors. A plea by Mrs. Nahser for members handy with hammer and nails to help put up Valentine decorations brought forward Mrs. Lawrence Nelson Jr., Mrs. Hayden MacDonald, and Mrs. Howard Will. Mrs. Henry Sincere had to refuse a part in the dancing party, for she and Mr. Sincere are leaving a week from Thursday for a holiday on a Texas dude ranch. Mrs. Nahser hurried away from the luncheon to act as guide at one of the service men's centers, where club members are in demand as guides in the daytime.

The meeting was managed by Miss Emily Goehst with her customary humor and vivacity. Among the longtime board members present was Mrs. Paul Walker.

Joseph Mead to Depart Soon for Calcutta, India.

Joseph Mead will be leaving any day for Calcutta, India, the main base for the Chinese National Aviation corporation, from where he expects to be sent to an outpost in northern China to fly lend-lease supplies to that country. Since returning from Khartoum at Christmas time from his post with Pan-American he has been staying in Lake Forest with his mother and sister, Mrs. Edward H. Bennett and Mrs. George W. Merck, and Mr. Bennett. Lt. [j. g.] Merck is on duty in the Pacific and also stationed at a navy post is Lt. [j. g.] Edward H. Bennett Jr., who is in Boston with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Wainwright Kettlety of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to George R. Cooke Jr. of Detroit, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke of Winnetka. Miss Kettlety was graduated from Penn Hall, and she and her fiancé attended Northwestern university. The wedding will take place on Feb. 20 at the Woman's club of Evanston, with a reception following.

Mrs. A. Mead Payne of Evanston and George Houson Payne Jr. of Baltimore, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ann Mead, to Melvin C. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Baker of Lake Andes, S. D. Miss Payne completed her education in the east. Her fiancé attended the University of South Dakota before enlisting in the United States Naval reserve as a second class petty officer. At present he is awaiting his orders to report to an officers' training school.

Jane Scammell Cloud's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth George Cloud of Lake Shore drive and Manomet, Mass., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane Scammell, to Lt. Taylor Linn Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker Kennedy of Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Cloud, a graduate of Dana Hall, is a senior at Smith college. Lt. Kennedy attended Phillips Andover academy and was graduated from Tabor academy. He left Colgate university to enter the army and now is stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., as an instructor in the officers' training school. The wedding is planned for June.

The Russian Trio will give the fourth concert in its current series this morning at the Arts club. Among those with reservations for luncheon parties are Mrs. John Nicholson, Mrs. Sigurd Olson, Mrs. Henry Stearn, Mrs. Ralph Cornelison, Miss June Lockett, and Mrs. Albert Byfield.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Junior league will be held at 11 o'clock next Monday morning at the Ambassador East. The guest speaker will be Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, who will talk on "Racial Color in the New World Order." Luncheon will follow the meeting.

Apparel Show Stresses Suits for War Time

This was the contrasting war time fashion picture presented yesterday at the annual press preview of the spring and summer apparel market in the Merchandise Mart. The preview directed by Miss Katherine Ratto, counselor and director of the merchandising service division of the mart, heralded the three fashion clinics which are the annual highlights of the market, the corset clinic yesterday afternoon, the infants' and children's wear breakfast clinic this morning, and the breakfast clinic of women's wear and accessories tomorrow morning. The market, which opened yesterday, will continue thru Saturday.

In the second year of war, the American woman will continue to pursue practicality and elegance as the occasion permits, the preview indicated yesterday. For her day time duties, she will take mostly to suits and even slacks, while her twilight hours will be enhanced with much draping and lace.

"Suits are wardrobe mainstays for every age and every type today," Miss Ratto said. "Collarless cardigan jackets have more sponsors than ever this season, while two button and three button and high buttoned closings all have their devoted followers. Monotone, herringbone, and shetland weaves come in for much attention in the junior group, while men's wear fabrics, worsted and imported tweeds, are favored in the women's groups."

The classic three piece suit came in for much attention yesterday. One smart, wear-forever number was of soft gray flannel. The casual topcoat, with a hidden reefer front, fitted smoothly over a slender skirt with an inverted front pleat and a long torso jacket, accented with two varied-sized pockets over the right hip. A war time note: Only the children's suits boasted pleats completely around.

Slacks will continue to be popular especially among the junior set, the preview indicated. They will be topped with everything from tailored jackets of matching fabrics to cardigans of bright, contrasting wool. An attractive slack suit for the suburban wife was of that soft, lemon tweed so flattering to all complexions. The neatly tailored trousers had a matching collarless jacket with which the mannequin wore a fluffy, lemon wool scarf.

In contrast to the simple, almost severe, day time costumes, cocktail frocks were as beguiling and completely feminine as anything in the Delmonico days. Luxurious and lovely was an orchid wool one piece gown whose front fullness fell in soft ripples. A cleverly rolled collar revealed a white satin dicky with pearl buttons. A huge crêpe orchid flower appliqued near the left shoulder was startlingly elegant. With the frock, the model wore a high, orchid felt hat trimmed in a cockade of purple feathers.

Completely at home with the war time emergency, however, were the new slender hostess gowns of pastel crêpes.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Registration opened yesterday for a new series of tuition free evening courses to start on Monday at the technological institute of Northwestern university. Planned to meet the increasing demand in war industries for trained women and men workers, the courses are being given under the auspices of the United States department of education. They will provide specialized training in fields regarded essential to the successful prosecution of the war. More than 250 women have just completed a program of study begun last fall and are now being placed in war industries.

A total of 36 courses are given in the university's defense course program, which to date has been taken by around 3,000 men and women. Subjects include engineering drafting, machine design, production tooling, and design and fundamentals of radio. There's a special need for women in the engineering drafting field, to work in airplane factories, munitions factories, and other war plants.

In addition to the evening courses, which will continue for 16 weeks, the university has announced a 12 week day time course to train women as junior engineers. This course, open only to women with a college degree, will qualify them for positions in the bureau of ordnance, United States engineers' office, United States geological survey, and other federal agencies. Requirements for admission to the evening courses vary from high school education to engineering or science degrees.

The United States civil service commission is seeking women to qualify as senior civilian mobilization advisers for the office of civilian defense in Washington, D. C., at a base salary of $4,600 yearly. The women qualifying would make available to women's groups government war information designed to stimulate greater civilian participation in war activities.

The types of women being sought are those experienced in the conduct of the program described. The woman should be a "joiner," affiliated with a number of groups, or a former state or national official of such an organization as the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Applicants should contact S. Edwin Earle, recruiting specialist for the civil service commission, for an interview before Saturday. He may be reached at Andover 3600, extension 190.

Seven young women from the metropolitan Chicago area recently were awarded certificates for the completion of emergency courses at Bradford Junior college, Bradford, Mass. The Misses Lolita Kingsbury, Barbara Kritzer, Joanne Hathaway, and Joan Manley received certificates for first aid. Miss Barbara Shannon was given one in home nursing, Miss Mary Metcalf in typing, and Miss Patricia Zipprodt in nutrition.

The Association of Army and Navy Wives will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Army and Navy club, 410 South Michigan avenue, when Mrs. Carter Collins, president of the association, will tell about a recent trip to Washington and New York in the interests of the organization.

Meanwhile local chapters of the association have busied themselves with war work. The west suburban chapter recently held the first of its monthly luncheons. Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy of Evanston, organizer of suburban units, spoke of the unit's newest project, the knapsack library. The women of the organization will collect magazines with continued stories. When completed the stories will be assembled, bound in flat paper covers, and distributed to army and navy men at outlying posts or about to embark on long journeys. She also announced that the women were knitting six inch squares of odd bits of wool and making them into afghans for convalescent soldiers and sailors.

Jersey Shrieks with Color; It's Winter Pickup

BY REA SEEGER.

Wool jersey isn't a newcomer, for smart experienced shoppers have always recognized the possibilities of such a fabric, especially for day time and casual clothes and even for suits. But when it comes in a burst of bright, clear, strong colors, in the midst of a midseason sag when anything eye catching is worth its weight in rationed coffee or sugar, it's an item deserving of all the promotion possible. In one stronghold of fashion you can now see what is indubitably the bright array of colored jersey fashions ever displayed.

See the lusty gold tones, the blues that remind you of carbon paper or the prussian blues of a paint card, the yellow borrowed from the plumage of your pet canary, or the strawberry reds and the vivid Killarney greens to realize just how effectively the weavers have started this midwinter rage for color. These are day time dresses to slide into when the days are gloomy and gray. This soft, suave jersey is the ideal material for simply cut, slenderizing day time dresses, minus any cluttering trim—classics with clever shirrings, folds and draped insets that look so deceptively simple yet are only possible because of knowing designers.

Entire costumes can be managed of this clinging high fashion jersey, from hats to bags. There are blouses, jackets, separate skirts, and even house coats of jersey. It's warm and sturdy without being bulky, and it is available by the yard in many exciting new shades, tints and solid monotones.

Acting Remains Fresh in 'Life with Father'

"LIFE WITH FATHER."

Comedy in three acts and six scenes, by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, after sketches by Clarence Day Jr. Staged by Bretaigne Windust. Setting and costumes by Stewart Chaney. Presented by Oscar Serlin, in a return engagement, at the Erlanger theater Monday evening, Feb. 1, 1943.

THE CAST.

Father	Percy Waram
Vinnie	June Walker
Clarence	Edsel Huches
John	Bernard Carson
Whitney	Michael Merritt
Harlan	Donald Hastings
Margaret	Violet Holliday
Cousin Cora	Kathryn Lang
Mary Skinner	Anne Henderson
The Rev. Dr. Lloyd	George Le Soir

Also Jean Martin, Jane Barnett, Camelia Campbell, Raymond Bromley, James Jolley, and Vicki Horne.

BY CECIL SMITH.

"Life with Father," being the most delectable and the truest comedy of this generation, mellows and takes on patina with the passing of time. It rejoices in the competition of more up to the minute attractions, for its potent nostalgia more than holds its own against the passing allurements of topical entertainments, and the universality of its subject matter guarantees a ready audience whenever it returns to town.

There has been no deterioration of this Victorian keepsake since its first performance here nearly three years ago. The Days' overfurnished living room bears no traces of any rainstorms in which it may have lain outside high school auditoriums in Kansas; it looks lived in but still well kept.

And what is more important, the players have remained fresh and tasteful in their parts, without succumbing to the frequent road company malady of turning upon their parts with sadistic fury in order to project the full humor to the yokels of the provinces. In short, it is a shipshape presentation at the Erlanger, and one calculated to bring Chicagoans back eagerly for their 2d or 3d or 10th evening of homely merriment.

June Walker is new as Vinnie, the mother of the Day tribe, and she is delightful. Once you have accepted the fact that she is not endowed by nature with the fragile aloofness of Lillian Gish, you are free to admire and enjoy the skill and consistency with which she brings her part into complete focus. Altho she has been in the part only three weeks, she has achieved a splendid rapport with Percy Waram, so that the connubial illusion is constant and complete.

Mr. Waram, as blustering, softhearted Father, is still the best protagonist the rôle has had. He now lavishes his stern affection on an unfamiliar quartet of sons, who in adroitness and attractiveness compared favorably with their various predecessors of 1940 and 1941. Anne Henderson, a Chicago girl, adds winsomeness and vivacity to the necessary kittenishness of Mary Skinner. George Le Soir's bumbling clergyman retains its quota of amusement.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Nomenclature.

A Kenilworth family by the name of Rich has named its new baby Penny. And pound foolish?

Breaking Ice.

That genial gentleman, John T. McCutcheon, tells the story of how his old friend, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, went back to his alma mater, Marietta [O.] college, for a reunion. This was after Gen. Dawes had attained the Vice Presidency and other great honors, and his old classmates were more than properly impressed. In fact, they were struck dumb, and sat at the class banquet speechless, waiting for pearls of wisdom to drop from the general's mouth. They did. "Well," began Gen. Dawes, "let's everybody take out his bridgework." From then on all was lovely.

Look Alikes.

Mrs. Clara Paul Paige, veteran Chicago social worker, was in Washington a week or so ago and walked into a beverage palace to buy a present for her hostess. As she walked in, the manager rushed forward with, "Good morning, Mrs. ——!" Then, abashed, he stopped. "You know," he said, "I thought you were Mrs. Roosevelt! You do," he said, back-tracking fast, "look like her, you know. Doesn't she?" he asked two salesmen for confirmation. "Yes, indeed," the salesmen gasped. "She does look like Mrs. Roosevelt." The manager gulped a bit, then hesitated. "You aren't, are you?" Mrs. Paige gulped a bit herself. "Hrrrmph," she said. "Indeed, I am not. But I wish to assure you it is neck and neck between Mrs. Roosevelt, Edna May Oliver, and myself."

Inhibition.

She was a chubby little waitress, a feminine 5 by 5, and she interrupted the dinner conversation to say that all her life she had coveted only one thing—an innerspring mattress. "We've been married 18 years, and now here we are," she went on. "My husband's working and getting good pay for once, and I'm working, and we have the money, and what do you know? You can't buy the darned things now. But, by heaven, I'm saving one of those war bonds for just one thing, and when the war is over I'm going to have me an innerspring mattress."

Not Quite.

Lt. [j. g.] Jean Byers, a navy nurse in town to make some educational movies to teach navy medical corpsmen hospital technique, was discussing the navy nurses' winter uniform, navy blue with gold stripes and buttons and a gold oak leaf and acorn superimposed on an anchor on the lapels. "I'm still self-conscious about it," she said. "Every one asks me if I am a WAVE, but my worst experience came in New York the day after the coast guard announced the creation of its women's auxiliary, the SPARS. I was walking down Fifth avenue with my boss, a naval lieutenant, and his wife, when a sailor came up, saluted, and asked, 'What is she? A spare?'"

CHAPTER 12.

SERVICE RENDERED.

Miss Silver paused, then said, "If I answer that question, Randal, you must not think that I am accusing any one. I can give you some facts, or what I believe to be facts, based partly on my own observation and partly on what I have been told.

"Alistair Maxwell has some understanding with Petra North. It is, I gather, of long standing, and until recently they were exceedingly happy. For this Lucy is my authority. They are now terribly unhappy."

"On account of Tanis Lyle?"

"Just so. Miss North remained devoted—Mr. Alistair was quite obviously infatuated with Tanis. That is one case. There are also the Madisons—Lieutenant Commander Madison and his wife, living at Grange Cottage about a quarter of a mile away. You probably have their names already, as they dined and spent the evening here last night. Mr. Madison appeared to me to be head over ears in love with Tanis. She danced with him nearly the whole evening, and his wife and Mr. Alistair were both in a state of jealous misery."

"Yes, Maxwell left the house, didn't he—went for a solitary walk? But he had returned, I think, before the murder was committed."

"If you know when the murder was committed."

"He is said to have returned at a little after 1 o'clock."

She nodded.

"That is correct. I heard him come upstairs with his brother. My room is just across the passage."

"And Tanis Lyle was last seen alive during the general goodnights at half past 12. The time's not long enough. She had undressed and got into those fancy black pajamas. They'd never have risked a meeting so soon. Practically every one would have been still awake at 1 o'clock, and you'd have to put the meeting some time before that—time for them to meet, for them to quarrel, for him to shoot her, to wipe the pistol, the door handles—there were no finger marks on either—and then find his way over her dead body and out thru the ruins, and come in, as he did, by the front door. I say the time's too short. It couldn't have been done then. Besides somebody would have been bound to hear the shot."

She said, "The wind was very high. But I agree about the time—it must have been later than that. And I have no suspicion of Mr. Alistair. I am merely telling you that he was infatuated with Tanis Lyle."

He said quickly, "Miss Fane told me she was engaged to Carey Desborough."

Miss Silver shook her head.

"I don't think so."

"She was quite positive about it."

"Agnes is always positive." Miss Silver's tone was dry. "She is unable to believe that circumstances may be too strong for her. If she sets her heart on anything, in her opinion the matter is settled. It is, I believe, what is termed wishful thinking."

Randal March surveyed her with a faintly quizzical smile.

"Having been at some pains to describe Miss Lyle as such a dangerously attractive woman, why are you so sure that Desborough wasn't in love with her?"

"Because he is in love with Laura Fane."

"O—and what makes you think that?"

"Love and a cold cannot be hid. It is, I believe, a Spanish proverb."

"You are sure?"

"O, yes. They really do not trouble to hide it. A most attractive couple."

His smile became a little more pronounced.

"Your well known partiality for lovers! Would it surprise you to learn that Desborough had a serious quarrel with Miss Lyle on Wednesday night, and that the quarrel was about Laura Fane?"

"It would not surprise me in the least," said Miss Silver. "I saw them leave the room together, and they were away for some time. But I would like to know who told you that they had quarrelled."

He made a face.

"Perry—the complete eavesdropper. Well, I shall see Desborough when he comes in."

Miss Silver got up.

"I should believe very little that Perry says," she observed.

March laughed.

"I am not biased in her favor."

She found Agnes Fane in the armchair by the fire with a book on her knee, but did not think she had been reading it, for she had the impression that the eyes which were turned upon her entrance had been dwelling upon a still vividly remembered past. It seemed to her that Agnes came back from it with a reluctant effort.

She took the opposite chair and proceeded at once to her errand.

"I hope you will not consider me inopportune, but I think you ought to know, without any further delay on my part, that the work for which you engaged me has been done."

Miss Fane regarded her with some surprise.

"O, that?" she said. "It was not important." Miss Silver coughed.

"It is not always easy to say what is important and what is not. In this case the reliability of a witness may be in question."

Agnes Fane said, "I see. So you have found out who has been pilfering. Who is it?"

"Your maid, Perry," said Miss Silver.

If she had expected denial or opposition she was to be surprised. Miss Fane's hand rose slightly and fell again upon the arm of her chair.

"How exceedingly tiresome," she said.

The pale lips moved into a smile.

"I have known Perry for 41 years. I don't think you could tell me anything which would surprise me. She dislikes my having evacuees here. I suppose she hoped I should blame them for the thefts and take steps to get rid of them. That would be quite in character."

"Yes. May I ask what you intend to do?"

Miss Fane raised her finely arched eyebrows.

"I shall let her see that I know. She will not do it again. By the way, I suppose you are quite sure?"

"O, yes. I talked to her about the thefts. She said you were distressed about them, allowing a good deal of animus against the evacuee families to appear. She asserted that they came prowling into the bedrooms when the family was in the drawing-room and the staff at supper in the servants' hall. I told her that I intended to mark some money and leave it on my dressing table. I let her see me do it. You will perhaps remember that on Tuesday night I left the drawing-room as soon as Dean had removed the coffee service. I went up to my room. The money was still on the dressing table. I stood behind the curtains and waited. Presently Perry came in. She stood listening for a moment. Then she picked up the money and went out again. She will, I am sure, have found an opportunity of hiding it in one of the rooms occupied by the evacuees."

Miss Fane said, "I see." And then, rather abruptly, "This is Friday. Why didn't you tell me before?"

"I did not wish to upset you just as you were expecting a party of Tanis' friends. I thought it would be better to wait until they had gone."

"That was very considerate." The deep voice had a note of irony.

Miss Silver drew herself up as she replied,

"I did what I thought best. But now that my professional engagement is at an end——"

Miss Fane interrupted her with energy.

"Who said it was at an end? I most certainly did not. Do you think I take steps to discover a petty thief, and stand aside and do nothing when my niece has been murdered?"

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

In appraising the value of so-called "close" penalty doubles, cases must be taken into account wherein these doubles have paid dividends far beyond anything that might have been figured. Thus, while it is unquestionably true that the close double which "bounces" delivers an unearned game to the opponents, it is equally true that the player who, by force of habit, sometimes makes doubles based only on optimism, will come into a veritable windfall. For example:

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH
	♠ Q 7 6 ♥ K J 10 8 7 ♦ 6 4 ♣ 7 5 2
WEST		EAST
♠ 8 ♥ 9 5 ♦ Q 9 7 3 ♣ A J 9 6 4 3		♠ A 10 9 4 2 ♥ Q 3 2 ♦ K J 5 ♣ K 8
	SOUTH ♠ K J 5 3 ♥ A 6 4 ♦ A 10 8 2 ♣ Q 10

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	1 no trump	Double	Redouble
Pass	Pass	Pass

I have recorded this remarkable bidding as it actually took place in a fairly large stake club game, in which all the players were supposed to be far above average. I say "supposed to be," because the result made it fairly obvious that some one had slipped, badly.

West opened a club. East won and returned the suit and declarer had to find discards for four more rounds of clubs. East discarded down to his blank ace of spades. Since he first discarded the deuce, then the four, thus announcing that he did not want a spade lead, West shifted to a low diamond. To make a sad story short, declarer came out with the grand total of three tricks, and thus East-West collected [altho it can scarcely be said that they earned] 2,200 points!

The remarkable thing about this debacle [speaking from North-South's point of view] was that neither East nor West had anything remotely resembling a sound penalty double of one no trump. Certainly, East's opening bid of one spade was light enough in itself, and as for West's bidding, well, with all the optimism in the world it is difficult to see where he got his original redouble, to say nothing of his penalty double of one no trump. It is scarcely necessary to add that the North-South bidding deserved no medals. South might well have trap-passed the opening spade bid, and North's redouble of one no trump was incomprehensible. For all of this, however, the astonishing feature of the deal was that such wild aggressiveness on West's part should have been rewarded so magnificently.

Good Morning!

They're in the army of popular stars now—and producers keep them marching. Hep-hepping right along with them this trip is that young Alan Ladd, whom you probably remember for a sinister performance in "This Gun for Hire," and while he doesn't exactly steal the co-stars' thunder, he's the one on whom the spotlight lingers most lovingly—and with reason. He's a go-getter for both chills and laughs.

The story is about a hard boiled political boss who becomes infatuated with the daughter of the reform candidate for mayor. Tho she despises him, she accepts his ring in exchange for his support for her father. . . . Against her will she falls in love with Madvig's combination henchman, Emily Post, and guardian angel [Mr. Ladd].

Ladd is devoted to Madvig and sees right thru Janet, whom he holds in contempt for a long long time, not hesitating to tell her just how he feels. . . . The murder of her no account brother turns suspicion on Donlevy. . . . The opposition forces and their mouthpiece newspaper fling accusations that result in a lot of tough stuff—and a happy ending.

Messrs. Donlevy, Ladd, Calleia, and Bendix provide the film with its pepper. Miss Lake is lovely to look at, but her Janet is so much like her Jennifer in "I Married a Witch" that you keep expecting Frederic March to come striding in or Cecil Kellaway to materialize before your eyes out of a whisky bottle. . . .

See you tomorrow.

Events Scheduled for Central States Contract Matches

Schedules for the Central States contract bridge championships, to be held in the Morrison hotel Feb. 17-21, have been announced by the Chicago association, sponsor of the event.

This year's tournament, the 43d in the series, will open on the evening of the 17th with the mixed pair game, to be concluded in one session. The qualifying round of the women's pair event will be held the following afternoon, Thursday, with the final round Friday afternoon. Thursday night the first session of the team of four and the qualifying round of the nonmaster's individual will be held. Finals of nonmaster's and second round of the team of four will follow on Friday night. An American Legion pair championship event will be run in one session Friday evening.

Saturday afternoon and evening will be given over to the qualifying rounds of the open pair event, with finals in two sessions Sunday. A nonmaster's pair championship, in two sessions, will also be held Sunday.

Weddings

Dr. and Mrs. Curtiss B. Bowman of Oak Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Pearl, to Ensign James Hamilton Winter, U. S. N. R., son of Mrs. Ralph L. Huyck of Minneapolis, Minn. The wedding took place on Jan. 30 in the Pilgrim Congregational chapel in Oak Park, with a reception following in the Bowman home. Ensign Winter and his bride attended Carleton college.

Announcement is made of the marriage on Jan. 15 in San Diego, Cal., of Miss Barbara Barton, daughter of Mrs. L. C. Prudden of Babylon, N. Y., and of Charles W. Barton of Chicago, to Lt. [j. g.] William Morris Dugdale, U. S. N. R. The bride, a niece of Rep. Bruce Barton of New York and granddaughter of the late Dr. William E. Barton of Oak Park, formerly lived in Winnetka. Lt. Dugdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kirkus Dugdale of Baltimore, Md., attended Haverford college and the Wharton School of Finance before entering Harvard university's navy school of finance.

The marriage of Miss Frances Harriet Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Stone of North Damen avenue, to Lt. Foger Adam Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam of Joliet, will take place today in New Haven, Conn.

Muffin making is one of the earliest lessons in cookery, but many women who have cooked for years still have not mastered it. Muffins are easy, once you get onto them. The most common error is to mix them too long. An overmixed muffin loses volume, becomes less tender, may have a coarse texture, and may be shot thru with tunnels.

Experimental cooks who have spent weeks and even months in working with muffin batter to determine what factors affect the quality of muffins, tell us that 25 strokes of the spoon are sufficient for blending, that the muffins are very likely to become poorer in quality as strokes are increased beyond that number. Here are a few other interesting facts they've discovered about muffins.

Muffins baked in deep pans are more likely to develop tunnels than those baked in shallower pans. This tunneling may occur even if the batter hasn't been overbeaten.

The bottoms of muffin pans should be greased heavily; the sides lightly or not at all. Grease on the bottom expedites removing muffins from the pans. No grease on the sides helps the batter to cling and expand better in baking. [This is true also of cakes.]

All muffins should be mixed quickly, especially those made with the quick action baking powders, so that there is no undue loss of gas. After the batter is in the pans, however, it may stand for some time before baking without much loss of gas. The stiff dough holds in the carbon dioxide.

This is the standard, basic muffin recipe which may be varied in a hundred ways to make all kinds of simple, delightful hot breads.

Plain Muffins.
[One dozen medium.]

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or other fat

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar, and salt together several times. Beat egg until light and blend it with the milk. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and pour liquids in all at once. Stir about 10 strokes, then add melted fat. Stir 25 strokes altogether, or just enough to dampen dry ingredients. The batter should look lumpy, not smooth. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes.

The egg may be omitted with no adverse effect upon texture or tenderness, but the flavor of the muffins won't be quite as good.

Add ½ cup raisins, currants, dates, or other chopped fruit to the batter before baking, if desired.

A bit of jelly may be placed on top of each muffin before baking, for jelly muffins.

Two or three tablespoons of chopped cooked bacon or sausage give excellent flavor to muffins. The drippings may be used as the fat in them.

My booklet, "Better Homemade Breads and Rolls" [25 cents, by mail], is full of recipes for muffins and many other quick breads and yeast breads. It's a good booklet to have on hand in these restricted times!

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Sauerkraut Salad.
[Serves six.]

1 pound sauerkraut
1 small bunch green onions
1 bunch radishes
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons salad oil

Drain sauerkraut, pressing out as much juice as possible. Separate kraut with fingers so that it will mix with other ingredients. Chop onions, including tops, and slice radishes. Add these to kraut. Dissolve sugar in the lemon juice and sprinkle on salad. Sprinkle oil over salad and toss to mix.

Monotony and Large Portions May Destroy Child's Appetite

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Poorly cooked food, poor combinations of food, and monotony in preparation can cause loss of a small child's appetite, as well as of a grown-up's.

Another point in connection with monotony is the practice of serving the same foods to children too often, and too close together. You know the little poem, "What Is the Matter with Mary Jane," by A. A. Milne? Look it up in his "When We Were Very Young," and you will see that the reason why Mary Jane acted up in the cantankerous way she did at mealtimes was only because she had to eat "rice pudding again!"

As I have said a number of times before, young children do not all necessarily evince the sharp appetite and interest in food which crops up later on. While we do not plan, nor need, to "turn handsprings" to get them to eat, it is only intelligent to make meal times attractive to them, as we make other routines.

Many of the ways to do this have been suggested, but one more is to serve their meals appetizingly. One or more of their own dishes, a fat little pitcher, an amusing tray or small table, a right sized and right shaped ford and spoon all add interest to a child's meal.

Serving too much on a child's plate is another factor in eating troubles. It is better to place small quantities before a child and add to them, than to serve a lusty quantity at first and demand that he "clean his plate." Especially, I don't believe in making this the basis for his having his dessert or not. Dessert shouldn't be a reward.

In getting a baby or very little boy or girl accustomed to a new taste or a new consistency, do not force the food if distaste is evinced. Ignore your child's action, take the food away, and present it a few days later. Don't ever make an issue of any behavior like this.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Duo-Careerist.

In the days when she had only one career—and a pretty up and coming one—it was not at all unusual for some one to telephone to ask, "Are you the baby specialist?" to which she would answer "Well, yes . . . in a manner speaking . . . I am." For, on Chicago's south side, she took so many pictures of children that, altho she often did photographs of the entire family, she became, more or less, in the minds of Chicagoans, "the baby specialist."

That she had a way with children was attested by the profoundly serious little lad of 4 whose picture she was taking. She tried everything imaginable to get a smile and finally asked, "What do you like to do? What would you rather do than anything?" "I'd rather sit right here and have my picture taken," he replied.

As a rule she found little girls easier to photograph than boys and invariably found the 9 to 13 or 14 year olds hardest to pose. Often the whole family made a trip to her spacious 16 room house where she lived and maintained her studio. "Why do you keep coming back?" she asked one of her clients. "My goodness," the woman said, "I'd just as soon get another family doctor as leave you!"

Many a sedate person sat for a photograph in her studio filled with toys intended to evoke laughter from her youngest clients. The wife of one of our town's most dignified citizens telephoned one day to say that her husband was coming in to town on a morning train; that he was tired, but that it was necessary to get a photograph of him and immediately! "Because," she said, "he is having his tonsils out this afternoon."

Afterward the wife remarked that she never saw such a merry picture of her husband. What had the photographer done? O, she had just tossed a Teddy bear up in the air the way she did for the children and the man relaxed and laughed.

How did she become a photographer? She went to visit an aunt in Texas after she was graduated from Hyde Park High school. While she was sorting out the magazines in her aunt's home, her eye fell on an article about a school of photography in New York. Tho she had gone to Texas for the winter she packed her bags and was on her way. She began to sell pictures after a few weeks of study. Her first picture, of her landlady's daughter, she sold to the landlady.

Duo-careerist? Yes. Tho her two adopted daughters are grown she still lives in the big old house but she also owns other buildings. She has bought, remodeled, furnished and rented 13 apartment buildings in the last few years. With photographer's supplies fast disappearing from the market, she concentrates on contractors and priorities and the interesting tenants—that lieutenant and his wife and that production man and his wife—who live contentedly in her buildings.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 1.—Walt Disney is back east conferring with Hooten of Harvard—that famous anthropologist. Which means they're working out plans for a picture debunking Hitler's theories on what makes a perfect Nordic man. Walt also will look in on Washington and Ford's Willow Run plant outside Detroit. Great man, that Disney. . . . Hal Wallis signed that fine actress, Florence Bates, for "Saratoga Trunk." Speaking of Hal, exhibitors thruout the country are wiring him to find out that title of his next picture 'cause they want to know which way the war's going. . . . Orson Welles has to get friendly with a dog—a Great Dane, no less. Dog doesn't love him, but has to in "Jane Eyre." The dog's trainer will really find out how good an actor Orson is.

Could Be!

One reason Lucille Ball is better at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer than at R. K. O. is that she's found a new voice in the person of Trudy Erwin of Kay Kyser's band. Now I'm wondering if Rita Hayworth's refusal to do that Columbia picture is because she lost her singing voice, which belongs to Nan Wynn—'cause Nan's back east making her own name count. . . . Did you know that Joe Stalin kept every motion picture theater open 24 hours a day in the vicinity of Leningrad and Stalingrad during the entire time of siege? There's a man who recognizes the value of pictures and makes the most of it.

Co-operation Pays Off.

Famous bandleaders decided to get together in their pictures, like Hope and Crosby, even tho they're not supposed to be in them. So Harry James and Tommy Dorsey appeared on Kay Kyser's set to do a stunt in his movie. After the first rehearsal, Kay said, "Hey, fellows, look! Don't make it too good. Remember, I'm supposed to be the star!" . . . A young lieutenant at a recent opening, after being introduced to Irene Dunne, Mary Pickford, Hedy Lamarr, and Janet Gaynor, turned to his host and said "I haven't had such a thrill since I was 7, and my mother took me to the zoo."

Fair Exchange.

After Mary Boland sold her house to Rosalinde Russell, she went out and rented rooms for herself, and says: "With all the confusion of moving I'll probably end up sleeping in the baby's basinette, and the baby will be playing with my pin ball game." Mary will do a new play called "The Legend of Lue"—sort of based on that fabulous character Klondike Kate. Sounds good, wot? . . . Charles Boyer forgot he was the perfect lover when the rains came and part of his roof blew off the house. He was far too busy with the bucket brigade, trying to save furniture and draperies, to remember that he was an actor. . . . At last Betty Grable was seen out dancing without George Raft. The lucky man was Van Johnson, and they were giving it the works at Mocambo.

Busy but Profitable.

While Andy Lawlor was in New York he sold F. Hugh Herbert's play "Kiss and Tell" to George Abbott. It will feature K. T. Stevens. . . . After seeing the Katharine Cornell play, Andy went back to call on Ruth Gordon and Judith Anderson, and said, "Were you three girls ever introduced before you started acting together?" . . . He also signed up stage actor John Foresythe, and Alvah Bessie, who played in "Bread and a Stone," to Warners for the picture "Brooklyn, U. S. A." . . . Laird Cregar, who's been in the hospital two weeks to lose 75 pounds, has only dropped four ounces! . . . Writer Billy Wilder, who's turned director, had quite a set-to with Jack Warner the other night over every one getting credit for a good picture except the writer, who, more than any one else, is responsible for it.

Bishop Conkling Argues Against Unity Proposal

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Clergymen and laymen from 125 Episcopal churches of northern Illinois last night heard Bishop Wallace E. Conkling argue against proposed agreements looking toward unity between Presbyterian and Episcopal churches of the country. He delivered his annual bishop's charge to the diocese of Chicago in St. James church where formal sessions of the 106th annual convention will continue thruout today.

Bishop Conkling argued for a continuance of the basic principles on which the Episcopal church always has stood and against a diffusion of the functions of various kinds of clergymen in order to merge with the Presbyterians or other Protestant groups.

While not specifically naming the Presbyterian church, Bishop Conkling explained that an Episcopal commission had "sent up many trial balloons" looking toward unity with another communion. Latest of these, he said, is a set of basic principles. The bishop then cited what is regarded by many to be the historic rôle of the Anglican communion—the middle road between "Rome [Roman Catholic church] and the East [Orthodox churches] on the one hand and Protestantism on the other."

This historic rôle which looks ultimately toward a completely united Christendom, Bishop Conkling argued, would be jeopardized if the Episcopal church effected a unity "with a section of a Protestant communion which is in itself only a part of the larger body of general Protestantism.

"If in effecting unity with only a part of the larger body of general Protestantism we sacrifice our essential character, it would seem not a gain but a grievous loss to the cause which we would seek to promote," the bishop declared. "I am glad to bless all efforts to unite in common action, where no principles of order and sacrament are compromised, with all Christians, and with our Jewish brethren, too."

Delegates to the triennial general convention which meets in Cleveland, O., this fall when the unity commission's work will be reviewed, will be elected today. Bishop Conkling appealed for an increased basic minimum salaries for mission pastors doing full time pastoral work. He asked that war time fuel and transportation problems not slacken opportunities for worship and urge disciplines and sacrifices be undertaken.

HANDSOME FROCKS.

These frocks are figure flatterers. Their slim lines slice off inches. One model has a square neckline edged with ruffling, more of which accents the front closing. The other uses fabric and color contrast, and adds a jacket to make an ensemble.

Style No. 2688 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material and two yards of ruffling.

Style No. 2047 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3⅜ yards of 39 inch fabric for jacket and skirt section of dress with 1⅜ yards of contrasting for blouse section; or 3⅛ yards of 39 inch for dress of one fabric with three-quarter length sleeves, and 1¾ yards for jacket.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost (coin preferred—wrap it carefully), for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The Clotilde pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Thru the Looking Glass

Necessity, or maybe we should say priorities, is mothering quite a few good inventions these days. Consider the cream cologne, which is certainly a boon to dry skinned women.

The newest cream cologne we've seen, for example, is a sort of double edged beauty aid. Because it is beautifully, soothingly creamy it's a special help right now, when the cold weather outdoors and the too-dry heat indoors play the very dickens with thin, sensitive skin. The cream cologne, used as a body lotion, is something of an emollient, which is exactly what the parched skin needs to keep it satin smooth and white. And it's not sticky or greasy.

In its own way it helps keep the skin from itching and drying out, and it's especially helpful on particularly sensitive areas, such as knees and elbows, that are always the first to get chapped.

Its second virtue, of course, is that it's scented. The fragrance of this new one is pretty exciting. It's a smooth, romantic perfume, with a cool and haunting quality that makes it especially suitable in a body lotion. The perfume made its bow not so long ago and is, understandably enough, one of the most popular scents introduced in many years.

DID YOU PLACE YOUR FALSE TEETH IN A GLASS LAST NIGHT?

Thousands do and wonder why their dentures remain dull and stained—why they suffer with offending denture breath. They fail to realize that water alone is not a cleansing agent—but now, there's a great formula perfected by a dentist, called Stera-Kleen that thoroughly cleans false teeth without harmful brushing! Simply put a little Stera-Kleen Powder in a glass of water—soak your teeth—now they sparkle, are really clean and look like the day your dentist said, "Don't they look natural?" Try Stera-Kleen—lasts long—costs only 30¢. At druggists.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

EXAMINERS CALL TRACTION UNITY PLAN A FAILURE

Hold Scheme Would Only Increase Fares.

"To the city it promises a modernization program, a complete interchange of transfers and service, and the undertaking of the obligations of a new ordinance. . . . The execution and financing of the program of modernization is left to chance. The new company has only a hope that conditions will be such that it can fulfill its obligations.

Nothing Said on Fares.

"To the public it promises a modern and adequate transportation system offering a continuous ride on any combination of the system, and is silent on the question of fares."

Particular attention is directed to the fact that all the proposals of the projected unification are more than a year old and many of them are outmoded; that wage increases alone probably would cost the present companies three and a half millions a year and a change of federal income tax rates has been so severe that if 14 millions a year were earned by the combined companies before taxes and bond interest the government would take away more than five millions.

The report declared the proposed company could expect to solve its financial difficulties by four methods:

1—The grant of federal monies or an effective subsidy [altho they can have little hope on this score].

Questions Interest Payment.

2—It has no intention of paying interest except on the series A bonds, constituting 72 millions of the 179 million capitalization, or it might look forward to defaulting in interest to those security holders.

3—It anticipates an increase in fare sufficient to provide the necessary funds.

4—The new company will not carry out its program of modernization even to its minimum obligation that the money to be spent will not exceed 102 million dollars.

"In any event," the report stated, "either the people of the city of Chicago will be left with a bankrupt and obsolete transportation system, or the security holders will soon find that the securities they are receiving represent little more than speculative securities based on hopes and expectations, or the people will find an inevitable increase in fares unless federal money or a subsidy [from taxes] is available."

Recommend New Study.

It recommended that modernization plans be restudied and that an ordinance be drafted that "can be fulfilled by its grantee" giving that grantee a franchise but "not containing provisions that can be used to substantiate the highest fares the public can be compelled to pay." It added that little could be done toward improving service that could not be accomplished by joint management with the two companies remaining corporate entities.

Kleinman and Salter recalled that the motor coach lines are highly profitable, that they use the streets without a franchise and are not included in the "unification."

Mayor Kelly, who has been the foremost advocate of unification, was informed of the nature of the report last evening.

"I will not have anything to say about the matter until the members of the commerce commission make their decision," he said. "I shall pay no attention to trial balloons."

Copies of the report are to be furnished all the parties interested and they will have 10 days to file exceptions.

STREET CAR, 'L' TRAFFIC RISES; BUS TRAVEL DIPS

Street car and elevated line traffic increased substantially during January, but the government order curtailing bus line service caused a reduction in motor coach travel, figures of the three Chicago mass transit agencies showed yesterday.

The Chicago Surface Lines carried 70,705,951 revenue passengers, 6,618,938 or 10.32 per cent more than in January, 1942. The Chicago Rapid Transit company's total of 15,015,053 was up 887,906, or 6.29 per cent above January last year.

THE QUESTION.

What is the most welcome sound you can think of?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Frances Schlammes, student, 1522 North Parkside avenue—More than ever before I find myself looking forward to the postman's ring. I write more letters than I formerly did and always hope to get more. I never know what that mail box will hold for me, either, with friends all over the world.

Margaret Jones, student, 1254 State parkway—Toward the end of the day dismissal bells sound pretty good to me. The morning classes aren't so bad and time passes quickly, but when I'm in a class that's difficult or boring I welcome that little bell that gives us liberty for another day.

Virginia Snyder, student, 4278 Hazel avenue—There are many little sounds I like to hear like the first robin in the spring and church bells, but the one I'm looking forward to hearing more than any other is a sound I've never heard before. I'll welcome the bells and whistles when peace comes.

Mrs. A. B. Weiner, housewife, 442 Wellington avenue—After I've spent a quiet day alone at home I welcome the sound of my children's voices when they come home from school. They always break the silence with the same old question, "Is Mommy home?" That is something indeed to look forward to.

Mrs. John W. Drish, housewife, 1009 Harvard terrace, Evanston—The ringing of the telephone is welcome at most any time, but I'm especially glad to hear it when I recognize it as a long distance call. I usually know who it's going to be because he's in the army now.

Emma Schnorr, proof reviser, 5427 Cottage Grove avenue—There is more than one reason why I welcome the sound of coffee percolating in the morning. First, it means I've been able to stay in bed while some one else prepares the breakfast. And the delicious aroma soon makes me forget how sleepy I was.

WOMAN DENIES JAP BACKING IN SEDITION TRIAL

A denial that she counseled Negroes to evade the draft and that a sect she headed was financed by Japanese agents in this country was made by Mrs. Mittie Maud Gordon, colored, at her trial for sedition yesterday before Judge William H. Holly in federal District court. Three other Negroes also are on trial.

The sect, called the Peace Movement of Ethiopia, was organized as a "back to Africa" movement to better the condition of the Negro race, she testified.

The accused leader also disclaimed correspondence which the government charges passed between her and Japanese officials. One of these letters, addressed to Gen. Sahao Araki at the war ministry in Tokio, contained alterations which a handwriting expert had testified were in her handwriting, but Mrs. Gordon denied she either wrote or edited it.

10% OF CITY FUEL OIL USERS CARRY OPA RATION LOAD

Small Homes Bear Brunt; Industry Exempt.

Only 10 per cent of the total fuel oil consumption in the Chicago area is being restricted by the office of price administration's rationing program, a review of fuel oil rationing in November and December by Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area OPA director, disclosed last night.

Mulcahy's report, submitted to OPA officials in Washington, also showed that most of the 95,410,000 gallons of fuel oil the OPA expects to save this year by curtailing heat in Chicago and suburban homes will be burned by industrial users. The net result of the fuel oil rationing program, therefore, may be the comparatively small saving of a few million gallons over an entire year.

Only Small Users Affected.

Accentuated by Mulcahy's report was the fact that the 220,526 consumers in the metropolitan area who use fuel oil for heating—most of them small home owners—are the only ones affected by fuel oil rationing.

This group will use 272,158,052 gallons of fuel oil this year to heat their homes, apartment buildings, and other structures, or about 26 per cent less than last year. This consumption is slightly more than 10 per cent of the 2 billion 626 million gallons which all types of fuel oil consumers are expected to use this year in the Chicago metropolitan area, according to Mulcahy.

1. For cooking, lighting and similar uses by 21,299 users, 2,329,817 gallons a year, uncurtailed by OPA.

2. For industrial processing, such as steel making, by 8,165 consumers, 2,350,982,826 gallons a year, uncurtailed by OPA.

3. For heating by 200,497 small home owners, 136,879,452 gallons a year, and by 20,029 apartment and commercial buildings, 135,278,600 gallons a year.

Home Owners Bear Burden.

The report thus discloses that small home owners consume only 5 per cent of all the fuel oil used in the area. About one-half of these 200,497 small users have space heaters, which are small stoves which hold from 5 to 50 gallons at a time.

In other words, the OPA rationing program left untouched 90 per cent of the fuel oil consumption while it squeezed down on thousands of low income families who account for 2 or 3 per cent of all the fuel oil consumed.

Juror Jailed

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MICHAEL F. BUSA.

Michael F. Busa, 222 South Halsted street, a warehouse laborer, was sentenced to five days in jail yesterday by Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court for drinking at the wrong time.

Busa was a juror in a $25,000 personal injury suit brought against the Yellow Cab company and others by Emil C. Wetten, once a Republican candidate for mayor, as the result of an automobile collision three years ago.

The jury retired to deliberate at 3:30 p. m. last Friday, but was discharged for lack of agreement seven hours later. In court yesterday several jurors testified that Busa had been drinking during deliberations and his drinking interfered with their efforts to reach a verdict. Busa's only excuse was, "I had a cold."

DEFENSE RESTS IN RAPE TRIAL OF ERROL FLYNN

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 1 (AP).—The defense rested today in Errol Flynn's trial on three charges of statutory rape. Final arguments will begin tomorrow.

Both the prosecution and the defense questioned C. D. Pope, a locksmith, about the lock on the bedroom door of Fred McEvoy's home, where Betty Hansen, one of the complainants, alleged the film actor seduced her. Pope testified there was some evidence the lock had been tampered with but said he did not know if marks on it had been made recently.

ILLINOIS DEFEATS N. U., 68-51, FOR 5TH STRAIGHT

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

WILD BILL LONGSON, one of the many heavyweight wrestling champions of the world, was disqualified in a match with Bobby Manganoff, also a world heavyweight champion, the other night in Houston for unsportsmanlike tactics. . . . Wild Bill, despairing of victory by the usual methods, concentrated on ripping off his astounded opponent's trunks, while ladies in the audience dashed for the exits and strong men blanched. . . . "You must have the wrong address," explained the referee to the bad, bad behemoth, "the burlesque house is three doors down the street." . . . This incident, we think, is epochal, in that it proves there are some breaches of etiquet even a wrestling fan will not tolerate. . . . Jackie Callura, the new N. B. A. world lightweight champion [in 45 states] took the crown from a cripple, according to Bill Lee, sports editor of the Hartford Courant, who was at the ringside. . . . Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, reports Lee, entered the ring with a broken left hand and was fortunate Callura lacked a knockout punch. . . . Perhaps the Providence authorities haven't heard of pre-fight medical examinations. . . . Joseph Martin, Cleveland Golden Gloves fighter in 1930 and 1931, now a Jesuit missionary in India, is teaching the youngsters of his flock the art of self defense and finds them apt pupils. . . . "The boys are ardent leather pushers," writes Father Martin to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "and I may put on the India circuit of the Golden Gloves tournament when they develop a little more skill. . . . Frequently, our 'fight shows' are canceled because of wet grounds. . . . In June we had 51 inches of rain."

Billy Hitchcock, the Tiger shortstop now in the army, has a brother married to the daughter of Bob Shawkey, former Yankee pitcher and predecessor to Joe McCarthy as manager of the club. . . . Frank Hayes, Browns catcher, has taken a job in an eastern shipyard. . . . News of golfers in uniform: Frank Strafaci is a staff sergeant with the army in Australia. . . . Porky Oliver, also a soldier, is believed to be en route to one of the fighting fronts. . . . Frankie Frisch is recovering from an attack of water on the knee in his New Rochelle [N. Y.] mansion. . . . The University of Michigan swimming team invariably plays to a packed house at home meets. . . . There are accommodations for 1,200 fans. . . . Further evidence of Chicago's continued interest in sport: More people attended the Golden Gloves preliminaries in St. Sabina gym last night than have seen a sectional card in two years.

If You Would Judge.

Look upon one who daily follows it,
And if he has reduced his ample girth
Proclaim the diet good. Don't go to one
Because he finds it difficult to shun
Those sweets that he enjoyed exceedingly.

The only folks who reap its full effect
A lot of people judge of creeds today
By those backsliders who have gone astray.

A Lovely Tribute.

Only four of us were left in the dim lighted funeral parlor—the undertaker, the officiating minister [who happened to be the author], a young man in his late 20's wearing the uniform of his country, and his father. All were gazing with tearful eyes upon the form of a sweet little mother in the casket. In the quietness of the moment the soldier knelt by his mother's form, removed the valor badge from the lapel of his coat and pinned it tenderly on his mother's breast. The young soldier seemed to say, "Mother, you deserve this badge. They gave it to me, but it was meant for you." God bless that lad. —W. J. Griffith.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 1 [Special].—Played on almost even terms for the first half, Illinois' basketball team roared back in the final period before 6,766 fans tonight to hand Northwestern a 68 to 51 defeat and register its fifth Big Ten victory in as many starts.

Capt. Art Mathisen and Andy Phillip shouldered the scoring burden with 18 and 15 points respectively, but ceded high point honors to Otto Graham, Wildcat forward, who scored nine field goals and a free throw.

Regains Scoring Lead.

Phillip, held to five points in the first half by Bud Hasse, ran his five game scoring total to 107 points, and regained the conference scoring lead from Iowa's Tom Chapman who took over when Illinois was idle last week. The Illini attempted 108 shots while the Wildcats took 92. It was Northwestern's third defeat in four conference contests.

The Illini were never behind, but the Wildcats, led by Graham, Capt. Russ Wendland, Nick Vodick, and Bobby Jake, threatened constantly.

Illinois got off to a running start and led, 17 to 6, midway thru the first half, but Northwestern narrowed the margin to 26 to 24 just before the end of the period. The Illini led, 32 to 26, at half time.

Illini Pull Away.

As the second half opened, Hasse and Vodick sparked the Wildcats to within three points, but with Menke, Mathisen, and Smiley leading Illinois' fast break attack, the Illini gradually pulled away.

Hasse, who left the game with five minutes remaining, was second high among Northwestern scorers with 10 points, all made in the last half. Capt. Wendland scored nine points.

THEY FOUGHT FAR INTO NIGHT

Golden Glover Hopes Brother Bob Wins, Too

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Pvt. Buck Hammer, lightweight representating the army aviation technical training school at 41st street and Drexel boulevard, had a tough fight on his hands in Abe Lee of the Catholic Youth Organization in the Golden Gloves bouts in St. Sabina gymnasiums last night, but he was more concerned over the welfare of his 16 year old brother Bob. Young Hammer, bantamweight of Big Sandy, Tex., also was trying for a Golden Gloves title last night in Dallas, more than 1,500 miles away. If he wins, Bob will qualify for the Fort Worth tournament. Buck came from behind to beat Lee.

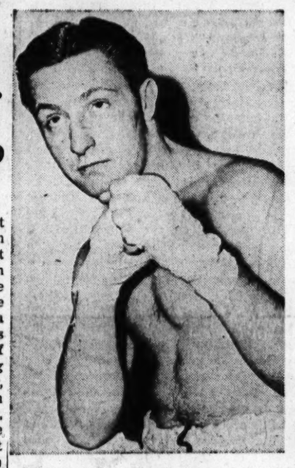
Jim Denigan, novice middleweight from St. Rita High school, spent the time between his medical examination and first fight brushing up on chemistry and mathematics.

Chuck Ellison, apprentice machinist for a corporation in Harvey, Ill., had his hands bandaged by an expert, Sammy Frager, featherweight champion of the Great Lakes Naval Training station in the last war, but he lost a hard battle to Robert Moylar, C. Y. O. lightweight.

Douglas Warnes and Dave Rush, made their first appearance as Golden Gloves officials in service uniforms, the former as a master at guard at Navy Pier and Rush as a chief petty officer at the University of Chicago radio school.

Edward [Unknown] Winston, eastern heavyweight who served as a trial horse for Jack Sharkey, Harry Thomas, and a host of other boxers until a few years ago, turned up as trainer of three soldiers representing the 732d military police battalion at Camp Kankakee, Ill. Winston, who is a private 1st class said a fourth protége, Middleweight Sammy Jenkins, will compete in the north sectional meet in Loyola university gymnasium opening tomorrow. All four candidates are in the open division.

Johnny Guidara, the red-headed boxer who proved so popular with fans in the Golden Gloves tournament of two years ago because of his happy disposition and fighting ability, is back in the south sectional competition as a welterweight.



Bill O'Donnell, novice middleweight from the Coulon A. C., who won a pair of bouts on two round knockouts.

St. Joseph's Is Beaten, 63-28, by Great Lakes

The Great Lakes Naval Training Station basketball team defeated St. Joseph's college of Rensselaer, Ind., 63 to 28, last night before 5,000 sailors in a station recruit drill hall for its 11th straight victory and 21st triumph in 22 games. Great Lakes led St. Joseph's at the half, 25 to 15. The sailors had beaten St. Joseph's, 60 to 32, in Fort Wayne on Jan. 13.

Great Lakes was never in danger and with 10 minutes of playing time remaining Forrest Sprowl, former Purdue star, was sent in for the first time. He scored 12 points quickly to put the Bluejackets far out in front. Great Lakes maintained its average of 60 points per game this season.

The sailors will travel to Detroit for a game with the University of Detroit tomorrow night. Last night's lineups:

LOYOLA WINS OVER NAVY PIER QUINTET, 38-33

Loyola university's basketball team defeated Navy Pier, 38 to 33, last night in a game played at the pier. The victory gave Loyola a season record of nine victories against four defeats and made it 14 losses for Navy Pier against 12 won. Navy Pier led the Ramblers at the half, 17 to 13.

Loyola started slowly and was held without a field goal for the first 12 minutes. A Rambler rally, however, tied the score at 12 to 12 near the end of the first half. The lead seesawed in the second half until midway of the period when Loyola led, 26 to 24. The Ramblers widened this to 34 to 26, and when Navy Pier lost Bob Curran on personal fouls the sailors' attack faltered. Bernie Carmen of Loyola was high scorer with 10 points. Lineups:

IC-4A Asks for Entries to Indoor Track Meet

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America, commonly known as the IC-4A, today mailed entry blanks for its 22d annual indoor track and field championships to be held in Madison Square Garden March 6. Wartime regulations adopted by the IC-4A will permit competition by freshmen in all 13 events, so the games committee has voted to eliminate the freshman medley relay.

GOLDEN GLOVERS DECIDE TITLES TONIGHT IN SOUTH SIDE TOURNEY

Fast Action Marks Opening of 1943 Competition.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The South Side Golden Gloves tournament, first stage of amateur boxing's biggest show, opened last night in St. Sabina's gymnasium with a three and a half hour program of high speed action.

For bout after bout the fighting went on at so spirited a rate that the capacity crowd was kept in a perpetual tumult of cheering. Volley after volley of applause echoed thru the building as big fellows and little fellows, novices and experts, punched and dodged and sidestepped and came back to hit again.

The fans, who filled every seat and stood against the walls, enjoyed themselves so much that they'll be back again tonight to see the south sectional champions crowned. Last night's brilliantly sustained program cleared the way for the concluding stages of the battle.

16 Fighters to Advance.

At the end of this evening's bouts, eight novices and eight open division fighters will be left undefeated—one in each weight division. These south sectional title winners will go into the city championship bouts which will be held on Feb. 11 in the Armory, 16th street and Michigan. There they will be matched against the boys who earn North Side titles in the tournament which will be held tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday in Loyola gymnasium.

The major portion of last night's program was devoted to the novices, who are just as popular with the fans as are the open division fighters. This evening, all of the open division boys will be in action.

Some of the novices showed surprising skill. For instance, there was Bill O'Donnell, a well built middleweight from Johnny Coulon's gymnasium. Hitting like an expert, O'Donnell carried the attack to his adversary, Monroe Trotter of the Savoy A. C. With a series of straight left jabs followed by accurate rights, O'Donnell put his opponent on the floor for a brief count in the first round. He came back in the second to knock down the Savoy fighter with a hard left to the jaw. The blow was so decisive that Referee Phil Collins stopped the bout without a further count.

After resting a bit, O'Donnell returned and scored a second round technical knockout over Charles Glenn of the C. Y. O.

Hammer Eliminates Lee.

A bout which drew terrific applause was the lightweight engagement in which Buck Hammer of the army aviation technical training school at 41st and Drexel made a sensational comeback to beat Abe Lee, Chinese boy from the Catholic Youth organization.

In the first round Lee had all the best of it. For a time it seemed that the army lad might not even last to the bell. A particularly hard blow to the head dazed him and he seemed about to fall. But he stayed on his feet. In the second round Hammer rallied and held his opponent even. Then in the third the battle shifted. Steadily the soldier got the upper hand and then whipped over a blow to the jaw which floored the Chinese boy for a short count.

Later in the evening Hammer came back to win again, getting the decision after flooring his opponent, Tom Reed of the Wabash Y. M. C. A., in the third round.

Out of Town Boxers Busy.

Cliff Fossman, another Coulon A. C. fighter, won an action-packed bout with Tim O'Rourke in the welterweight class. Thruout the three rounds there was never an instant when some one wasn't swinging a punch. Thru it all Fossman held the advantage, but O'Rourke fought gamely.

Fossman also returned to score impressively in his second encounter of the evening. He knocked out Sam Johnson, a colored boy from Argo, with a solid punch to the jaw in the second round.

In addition to tonight's south side finals there will be important action in a major out of town center. Cleveland, which has sent many powerful fighters up to the Tournament of Champions, will hold its quarter-finals tonight. The semi-finals and finals there will be run off on Friday.

There will be a steady increase in activity among the out of town centers, 15 of them going into action next week. The last of the teams will be selected by Feb. 19, after which they'll converge on Chicago for the Tournament of Champions Feb. 22, 23, and 24. The finals are scheduled for March 5. Both of these events will be in the Stadium.

Mail orders are now being received by the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, for reserved seats to the city finals Feb. 11. Prices are $1.10 and $1.65. During this week's sectional events in St. Sabina and Loyola gymnasiums, all seats sell for 75 cents, none reserved.

SENATORS SELL DEAN TO BROWNS

Get Cash After Auker Deal Is Called Off.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 1 (AP).—Paul Dean, veteran right hander, was bought by the Browns from Washington in a straight cash deal, Bill Dewitt, vice president of the St. Louis club, announced tonight.

Several weeks ago it was announced that the Browns had obtained Dean in a trade for Pitcher Elden Auker. The latter then disclosed he was retiring from baseball and he was placed on the voluntary retirement list, causing cancellation of the Dean-Auker swap in which St. Louis also received cash.

COOPER BROTHERS SIGN.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 1 (AP).—The Cooper brothers battery of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals—Pitcher Mort and Catcher Walker—signed their 1943 contracts today. President Sam Breadon, following custom, did not disclose what each was paid, but he did say both got increases.

Mort won 22 and lost 7 last year, leading the club into a National league pennant, but was unable to win in the world series with the Yankees. Walker batted .2 1 for the regular season.

MACK BANS BONUSES.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP).—Connie Mack said today that he had eliminated bonus clauses from all contracts, which he will start mailing tomorrow to members of the Philadelphia Athletics.

NAME OFFICERS AT LINCOLNSHIRE FOR NEW SEASON

Officers of the Lincolnshire Country club recently elected for 1943 were announced yesterday. They are: Dr. E. C. Warfield, president; Andrew E. Papp, vice president; R. L. Higgins, secretary, and Hoegh A. Larsen, treasurer.

Joe Noonan was retained for the 15th year as professional, and Donald Henenberg held over for the eighth season as greenskeeper. Felix Pack has been appointed caddie master, and Ernest Schult placed in charge of the locker room.

PENN RELAYS ON; TWO DAY EVENT TO OPEN APRIL 23

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP).—The University of Pennsylvania announced today that the Penn relays would be held as usual this year, carrying on an unbroken series since 1895. The two day meet will open April 23. Jim Swarts, athletic director, said he sent inquiries to nearly 300 colleges some time ago and nearly all replied that they intended to compete.

GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNAMENT!

TEAM BOWLING TOURNEY TO BE MARCH 13 AND 14

To Hold Victory Meet in Auditorium Theater.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Another in the series of tournaments which emphasize Chicago's claim to being the national bowling capital is planned for the week-end of March 13-14. It will be the first Victory tournament, a team variation of the All-Star individual event held in December. It will be the second public event to be held in the Auditorium theater service men's bowling center and will be operated as a benefit for that center.

Louis P. Petersen, sponsor of the Petersen classic and chairman of the committee of Chicago proprietors who originally underwrote the 12 lane ten-pin installation in the theater, has originated the new event. It will be a six game competition bowled across 12 alleys. Each team will bowl three games across six alleys on Saturday, March 13, and the remaining three across the other six lanes the following day.

Room for One More.

The tournament is limited to 48 teams, each of which must have an average of at least 950 pins per game in league play—and 47 teams already have entered. They represent 12 cities of the east and midwest and, with few exceptions, are teams known to every bowling fan. The entry fee is $100, which provides a prize list of $4,800.

First prize in the competition will be $2,000; second will be $1,000 and from that figure the awards will scale down to tenth, which is $100.

Strohs, Budweisers Enter.

Both of the teams that are to compete the week-ends of Feb. 27-28 and March 6-7 for the national match game title, the Champion Strohs of Detroit and Joe Wilman's Chicago Budweisers, are entered in the Victory tournament. So is the Linsz recreation five of Cleveland, which is to pick up the Budweisers' challenge and meet the Strohs in the event induction of Wilman into the army necessitates the Budweisers' withdrawal from the title picture. Two other teams that have filed challenges are Chene Trombley Recreation of Detroit and the Rosatto Barry five of Philadelphia. Both of those are entered in the Victory tourney. The 47 teams entered so far are as follows:

Chicago—Budweisers, Mineralites, Miami Lounge, U. S. Beers, Joseph L. Gills, Primas, Monarchs, Chapin & Gore, Ace Fasteners, Meister Brau, Washingtons, Ambrosia, Thompson Restaurants, Schlitz, Gold Crown Beer, Schamberger Schlitz, Congress Arcade, and Nonebetters. Detroit—Chene Trombley, Paris Cleaners, Strohs Bohemians, Standard Auto, Brunswick Mineralites, Aircraft Beer, De Luxe Dye Works, and Fife Electric. Milwaukee—Wegner Builders, Bidding Printing, Employers' Mutuals, Heil Products, and Smally Liquors. Cleveland—Linsz Recreations, J. & J. Jarking, and Waldorf Red Bands. St. Louis—American Iron and Steel, Hermann Undertakers, Say It with Flowers, Budweisers, and Silver Seal Sodas. Indianapolis—Bowes Seal Fasts. Philadelphia—Ace Woodworking and Rosatto Barry Pins. Madison—Schwoeglers' Alleys. Peoria—Western Tap. Battle Creek, Mich.—Twentieth Century Recreation. Dayton, O.—McShane's Lunch. Kansas City, Mo.—Dean Rubber Manufacturing.

LT. PHIL DOHERTY, EX-TRACK STAR AT N.U., IS MISSING

Lt. Philip Doherty, former Northwestern university track star, has been reported missing in action in New Guinea, according to word received from the war department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Doherty of Maywood. Lt. Doherty has been missing since he led a squad of men against a Japanese position in the Buna area on Jan. 2.

Lt. Doherty was a member of the Wildcat track squad in 1935. He placed second to Jesse Owens when the latter set a new world record in the 220 yard low hurdles at Ann Arbor. He also was a place winner in the national intercollegiate meet the same year. He holds the Northwestern low hurdle record of :23.

Mesner Goes to Dodgers from Reds on Waivers

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that they had obtained Infielder Steve Mesner from the Cincinnati Reds on waivers.

Mesner, 25, married and a father, is a former St. Louis Cardinal farmhand who batted .301 for Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league last year. He was drafted by the Reds in November, but apparently as the result of their deal for Shortstop Eddie Miller in December, the Reds subsequently asked for waivers.

PATTERSON IS STOPPED IN 7TH BY TOMMY JAMES

Tommy James, 148¼ pound south side fighter, stopped Verne Patterson, 152, also of Chicago, in 2 minutes and 54 seconds of the seventh round of a scheduled eight round fight in Marigold Gardens last night.

James, a 2 to 1 underdog, had Patterson on the canvas four times in the first round and three times in the seventh.

James, 1942 city Golden Gloves welterweight champion, had too much speed for his rival. Patterson was on the canvas for counts of one, one, four, and six in the opening round. He fell out of the ring the time he was down for the six count.

Al Reasoner, Hines, Ill., lightweight, and Alvin Gomez yesterday were matched to meet in a 12 round bout in Marigold Gardens next Monday. It will be their third meeting, Gomez holding Al to a draw in the first and losing a decision in the second. . . . Lem Franklin, 1937 International Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, will open training in the Ringside loop gymnasium this afternoon for a 10 round return contest with Lee Savold in Chicago Stadium Feb. 15.

Wilson Names March 22 for Camp Opening

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Jim Wilson's 1943 Cub ensemble will experience its first touch of wartime spring training the morning of March 22. The Cub boss arrived yesterday, partly for a reunion with the recently acquired Paul Derringer, who came up from his winter hideout in Florida, and partly to dispose of details such as when his boys should be put to work on their drill grounds at French Lick, Ind. The season will open April 21.

If Wilson sticks to the above date, the Cubs probably will spend fewer hours in camp than any of the other big league outfits, but this doesn't mean there'll be a minimum of muscle stretching. Wilson has already figured out how he can get the same results in a month previously attained in twice that time. He'll simply work the athletes twice a day. In his two previous springs as Cub boss he ordered twin workouts only the first four or five days so as to get the players off to a flying start.

Postpone Salary Talks.

Derringer, who will dash back to Florida as quickly as possible, northern weather being what it is, had himself extensively photographed, spun baseball yarns with his old battery mate, Wilson, and acted as if he were expecting contract talk at any moment from General Manager James Gallagher. The latter insisted he couldn't engage in such conversation because he hasn't received from National league headquarters official notice of Washington's recent ruling on the wage freeze act as it pertains to baseball salaries.

Wilson, who urged the purchase of Derringer as soon as he heard last December that the Reds had placed the veteran on the block, is highly enthusiastic over his capture. He appreciates that Derringer isn't quite the mound worker he was a few years ago, but believes Paul still can do more things with a baseball than any other pitcher now in the game. By this he means that Derringer, with a knuckler, a screw ball, a swell speedy curve, and a fast ball which he can control perfectly, really can mix 'em up for the enemy hitters.

Now—Those 1943 Uniforms.

Before returning to his Philadelphia home, Wilson intends to decide what the best dressed Cubs will wear this summer. The uniform makers will submit samples, but whether all of them will be of the vestee type, which the Cubs have been attempting to popularize for the last two seasons, remains a dark secret.

The little matter of exhibitions during the spring jaunt remains unsettled, mainly because of Gallagher's belief that ball clubs shouldn't be cluttering up the transportation. It might be that the Cubs will wind up with no dates except some informal ones with the White Sox, who also will be housed at French Lick

PHIL IS OPTIMISTIC.

Hollywood, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP).—Phil Cavarretta, the Chicago Cub's first baseman, expects the coming baseball season to be one long cherished in the memory of major league batters, and cursed by the pitchers. Phil also looks for his own batting average to climb.

"It's simple," Cavarretta explained at his winter home here. "Pitchers need hot weather to get into shape. This year, the tropical training camps are out. That means the pitchers will be slow to get started—particularly when so many of the young ones are in the service. The batters will have a field day."

Cavarretta batted .273 last year and thinks it will be easy to beat that mark this time. "I'm in shape," he said. "I've spent the winter in the sun, and that's what a baseball player needs."

Phil is only 25, but he will be starting his ninth season with the Cubs. During that time he's played almost every position—even pitching an exhibition game with the White Sox. He started 1942 in the outfield and wound up at first base. "I hope I get to stay," he said. "It's my natural position."

BENTLEYS OPEN DRIVE TONIGHT ON SCORING LEAD

Max Trails Bill Cowley by 6 Points.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Max Bentley, who has soared to third in the National Hockey league individual point standings, and Doug Bentley, who has hopped up to fifth, only two points behind his brother, tonight will launch a drive for the league lead as the Blackhawks play the Bruins in Boston.

The Bentleys each scored a point in Chicago's 3 to 3 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night, but the surge that really put them back among the individual leaders occurred Thursday night, when Max tied the world record with four goals and three assists, and Doug was only one point back of Max and the record, with two goals and four assists. Only two weeks ago Max was 10th and Doug 14th.

Max Has 45 Points.

Max will go into tonight's contest with 19 goals and 26 assists, a total of 45 points. He will be playing against this week's league leader, Bill Cowley, who has 14 goals and 37 assists for 51 points. In between Cowley and Max is Lorne Carr of the Leafs, who has made 24 goals and 25 assists for 49 points. Billy Taylor of Toronto is one point ahead of Doug, but Doug's record is more impressive because he has made 21 goals as compared to Taylor's 13. The scorers in Toronto are rather notorious as awarders of gift assists.

Tonight's game will be the Hawks' 15th of the season away from home and if they win it they will have their second road victory of the season. They have, however, played five ties abroad this year, one a 5 to 5 affair against the Bruins in Boston on Nov. 24. But it's only one victory away from home, a rather startling state of affairs when it is realized that the Hawks have suffered only two defeats in Chicago Stadium in 17 games played this season.

And Back to Scoring.

	Goals.	Assists.	Points.
Bill Cowley, Boston	14	37	51
Lorne Carr, Toronto	24	25	49
Max Bentley, Chicago	19	26	45
Billy Taylor, Toronto	13	31	44
Doug Bentley, Chicago	21	22	43
Buzz Boll, Boston	25	18	43
Lynn Patrick, New York	14	28	42
Art Jackson, Boston	18	21	39

PREPS TO START SECOND HALF OF SCHEDULE TODAY

Leaders in the Chicago City High School league basketball race will start the second half race this afternoon. There are nine junior and four senior games carded.

Heading the list is the Marshall junior quintet which will play McKinley at Marshall. Marshall has a winning streak of 71 games. In four west section games this season Marshall has piled up 226 points to 109 for opponents.

Fight Decisions

In Marigold Gardens—Tommy James stopped Verne Patterson [7]; Hubert Hood knocked out Lindy Elliott [2]; Rolla Taylor knocked out Bobbie Berger [2]; Fred Dawson beat Bill Jordan [4]; Isadore Miner and Jerry Pittro, drew [4].
At Washington, D. C.—Clint Conway beat Buddy Knox [8]; Danny Petro knocked out Weyman Stewart [8].

Trapping Saves Shrubbery and Provides Food

BY BOB BECKER.

If rabbits are destroying small trees, hedges or shrubs this winter, set out a box trap and catch the animals which are destructive, and you not only are protecting your property but also getting some fine meat which can be served at home.

That's the way John H. Morrison, 4103 Glenlake avenue, has been operating this winter, according to a recent letter in which he tells us that rabbits taken in his box trap have provided some swell meals of "chicken fried bunny."

Thirty-three Rabbits Already.

Morrison lives 6100 north and 4100 west on a lot 33 by 125. Using a box trap, he already has taken 33 rabbits on his property this winter—hungry animals that wanted to get food by gnawing on the bark of small decorative trees. "I happen to be the block captain," adds Morrison, "and we expect to have a big victory garden this summer in our block. Not only have I saved quite a bit of that future garden by my rabbit trapping this winter, but my family and friends have utilized every bit of the meat."

With a meat shortage prevailing, the value of the meat to be obtained from a campaign against destructive rabbits cannot be overlooked at this time.

Suggests Trap Improvement.

Morrison makes a good suggestion on improving the old fashioned box trap described and diagrammed in this column several days ago. He ties a piece of string to the horizontal part of the trigger and then attaches part of an apple to the string as bait. In the original trap a small stick goes into the trap and bait is attached to this pointed stick.

A resident of Glenview also advises us that he has been obliged to conduct a trapping campaign against rabbits to protect his trees. Using a simple figure 4 trap [described in this column last week], he has bagged 22 cottontails on his property this winter. All of the animals taken were used as food.

Weather Note: Prep Five Freezes Ball Entire Half

Wauseon, O., Feb. 1 (AP).—Wauseon High school's basketball team wrote a new one into the record books. Playing against Bryan, Wauseon built up a 40 to 15 advantage at the half, and then froze the ball. The final score: Wauseon, 40; Bryan, 15.

RUML EXPLAINS, DEFENDS PAYING TAX AS YOU GO

'Causes No Inflation or Treasury Loss.'

More than 1,300 business men jammed the Grand ballroom at the Palmer House yesterday noon to hear Beardsley Ruml explain his proposal to put income tax collections on a pay as you go basis.

Ruml answered the criticism of treasury spokesmen, who have described the plan as inflationary, and emphasized that it provides for no interruption in tax collections.

Returns would be filed and collections made as usual this year, he explained, but the collections would be considered as payment on taxes accruing on 1943 incomes, not 1942 incomes.

The shift, which he described as a change in the method of assessment, will not hurt the treasury and will put the entire income tax system on a sounder basis, he declared.

Will Testify on Proposal.

Ruml will appear later this week before the senate finance committee which is scheduled to take up new tax legislation. First subject on the committee calendar is consideration of the pay as you go income tax plan. The Chicago Association of Commerce luncheon at which he spoke was scheduled originally for tomorrow and was changed to permit his appearance at the senate committee hearing.

Because taxable national income in 1943 will exceed that of 1942, the new method of assessment actually will mean an increase in revenue to the treasury at the same tax rates, said Ruml.

Projecting the new collection system over the period from Jan. 1, 1943, to Dec. 31, 1962, demonstrates that the treasury will not suffer by its adoption, Ruml added.

Insists Treasury Won't Lose.

"Under the present system of collecting taxes, the treasury would have collected taxes for the 20 years, 1942 to 1961, both inclusive," he said. "Under the pay as you go system, the treasury would have collected taxes for the 20 years, 1943 to 1962, both inclusive. By skipping the year 1942 the treasury gains 1962 or any other year that one wishes to take at the end of any stated period."

Many persons, Ruml said, have been unable to reconcile the paradox of how the plan enables taxpayers to gain one year's taxes and at the same time cause no loss in revenue to the treasury.

"The answer is to be found by examining the position of the treasury on judgment day when the books are finally closed," he said. "Under our present system the treasury would have billions owing from the taxpayers. Those would be bad debts in any case. Since the government is not concerned about any final loss on judgment day, the government is able to turn the tax clock ahead, make all taxpayers current, eliminate income tax debt, and do it without loss of revenue and with no additional burden on any taxpayer."

Answers Inflation Criticism.

Actually, the treasury will gain revenue, he said, if the assumption is correct that national income will continue to grow.

Ruml answered the criticism that the plan is inflationary because monies accrued to pay 1942 taxes will be released for other spending.

"The only persons who would have more cash on hand under the plan are the very few who have accrued their income taxes and who hold them in liquid form," he said. "Those are few indeed and they are not spendthrifts. Furthermore, pay as you go collection will make withholding taxes possible at a high level and since we will then be collecting for 1943 in 1943, the total effect will be anti-inflationary."

Ruml first proposed the pay as you go plan early in 1942. Many features of the plan are opposed by the treasury. Ruml is the treasurer of R. H. Macy & Co., New York, and chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Scrap Dealers Ask Pay Rise to Hold Employes

Chicago scrap metal dealers, harassed by a labor shortage and apprehensive that the flow of scrap to steel mills will be reduced, have asked the government for permission to raise wages.

The action was disclosed yesterday by William Pohn, president of the Chicago chapter of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, thru which the dealers made the request. Pohn is president of the Pohn Iron and Metal company.

"We can't get men, because the war plants are bidding more for common labor than we are allowed to pay under the wage freeze," Pohn said. "Our wage rates are frozen at around 60 cents an hour. We want to raise them to 70 or 75 cents an hour."

Hinges on WLB Approval.

Application for the increase was made to the man power commission, which will act in cooperation with the war labor board and the war production board, Pohn said.

Pohn said that on the average the steel mills of the nation had enough scrap to last about two months, and that mills in the Chicago area probably were a little better supplied than the average.

The supply situation, he said, will depend on how well the dealers succeeded in working out the wage question and other problems. He said the dealers also were handicapped by a low ceiling on the price they obtained for scrap. The only way they can create a margin on which to operate is to cut down their offering prices for scrap, Pohn said.

Not Much Heard Lately.

Since a sizable amount of scrap was accumulated thruout the nation in a widely publicized collection campaign little has been heard about a scrap shortage. Earlier the industry was much concerned over the prospect that lack of scrap would curtail steel production. For a time last year output was reduced by such a shortage.

Asked whether a flow of scrap to this country from foreign battle zones had been a factor in easing the shortage, Pohn said war scrap had not been received in any significant amount.

Chicago's Trade Exhibits Draw Record Attendance

Many of the trade shows and exhibits which opened in Chicago yesterday in connection with spring market week reported the largest attendance on record, the Chicago Association of Commerce, sponsor of the annual market event, said last night. It said registrations were 15 per cent larger than on the first day of last year's spring market.

BARRETT TAKES FIGHT OVER SUBURBAN FARE BOOST TO WASHINGTON

Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett of Illinois announced yesterday that he will appear before the interstate commerce commission in Washington, D. C., today in another effort to prevent the 18 Chicago suburban railroads from increasing their fares 10 per cent.

The fight has been carried on intermittently since the commission in January, 1942, allowed an increase in interstate fares, and the Illinois commerce commission denied an increase in intrastate rates.

Barrett charged the carriers had attempted to "ride roughshod" over the state commission and asserted: "This 10 per cent increase might rightfully be called a 10 per cent war time profiteering tax, levied on the commuters because the roads have shown no rightful need for the increase."

Two of the suburban carriers defied the state commission and raised their intrastate charges.

BUTTER TRADING HELD UP; PONDER CEILING EFFECTS

The Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday faced the prospect of suspension of butter futures trading. The exchange announced that the opening of new contracts to succeed the expired January delivery was postponed indefinitely pending Washington developments, leaving the boards bare of any butter future.

Traders recalled that between March 31 and April 18 last year there were no butter contracts available when opening of new deliveries was delayed at government request pending completion of the 1942 dairy products program. The postponement of new contracts yesterday was attributed not so much to the shortage of butter as to the desire of the exchange to determine the effects of federal price ceilings and supports, which do not take seasonal variations in production into consideration, and the earmarking of 30 per cent of output for government use.

14 MILLION RFC LOAN REPAID BY ERIE RAILROAD

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones announced today that Erie railroad had paid off a 14 million dollar Reconstruction Finance corporation loan with a profit to the RFC of $507,500.

Jones said the RFC sold Erie 14 million dollars of the railroad's collateral trust 4 per cent notes at 103⅝ and accrued interest, which represented a premium of $507,500.

1 Man Board, Delay Plague Rail Pay Case

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 [Special].—President Roosevelt soon will be called upon to untangle the snarl which has made the national [railway] mediation board a one man body and tied up in the budget bureau an executive order outlining procedure for handling of the demand of nonoperating unions for wage increases which the rail mediation board was unable to adjust.

The board became a one man body today with retirement of David J. Lewis of Maryland. The lone member is Chairman George Cook. Otto Beyer, the other member, is on leave attached to the office of defense transportation. Thus it is unable to function, with new wage demands of operating unions due to come before it within a month.

Dr. William M. Leiserson, a member of the national labor relations board, was reported recently to be slated for the Lewis vacancy. He left the railway board three years ago at the request of President Roosevelt to "clean up the mess" in NLRB at that time.

Month Passes; No Action.

The question of a successor to Dr. Leiserson on the NLRB and formulation of the executive order covering the procedure involved in the railway unions' wage demands have been in the hands of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins for a month. As far as could be ascertained today, she has sent to the budget bureau a draft of an order on procedure in the rail wage case.

The question of procedure has been raised by the war labor board. The railway labor act provides that an emergency fact finding board have jurisdiction over such disputes, with authority to make a wage finding. WLB contends any wage decision comes within its jurisdiction and is reviewable by it.

The President asked Miss Perkins about four weeks ago to see all parties involved and to draw up an executive order to cover the dispute that week, but the matter was delayed. The unions were assured by Miss Perkins last week that the order now in the budget bureau is the same they suggested, except for some "modifications."

Would Exclude WLB from Case.

The unions proposed an order which would permit a copy of a decision by a fact finding panel to be filed with WLB for its scrutiny but would not permit WLB to reopen the case, hold hearings, and possibly make another decision.

Because of its responsibility for carrying out the President's anti-inflation policy, WLB wants to have a hand in the rail case and indicated its approach in a proposed executive order sent to Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes and Secretary Perkins.

In deciding the "battle of executive orders," the President is expected to choose the one sponsored by Miss Perkins or the one favored by the railway unions. This decision also may have a bearing, it was said, on his naming a successor to Lewis.

CUNEO QUITS WLB POST; PRAISED BY CHAIRMAN DAVIS

John F. Cuneo, president of the Cuneo Press, yesterday disclosed that he had resigned as an associate member of the war labor board, a post he had held since Jan. 26, 1942.

The resignation was accepted by William H. Davis, WLB chairman at Washington, who wrote Cuneo that "I am very sorry to learn of your decision to resign as an associate member of the national war labor board." The letter added, "You have faithfully performed an unselfish and constructive service which we shall all miss."

Officials at the labor board in Washington said that there have been several changes among associate members recently, principally because the associates, who act as alternates to regular members, wished to devote full time to their own businesses.

Farm, Mine Machinery Exempted from Oil Cut

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—The petroleum administration for war today exempted operation of farming and mining machinery and equipment from an order of Jan. 18 cutting industrial oil rations in 17 eastern states by 40 per cent.

BENDIX OUTPUT OF ARMS SOARS, BUT PROFIT DIPS

Earns $5.90 a Share for Fiscal Year.

Bendix Aviation corporation war production during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1942, was 20 times over that of pre-war levels, President Ernest R. Breech said yesterday in his annual report. New devices developed in the company's own laboratories since 1938 accounted for approximately a third of the increase, said Breech.

Ernest R. Breech.

Altho net sales rose to a record of $459,169,026, nearly three times the preceding year's $156,596,198, net income declined to $12,464,196 from $13,267,988 in 1941. Earnings per common share, after preferred dividend requirements, equaled $5.90 and $6.30, respectively.

Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes, after deducting $336,261 for a post-war credit, was $45,667,067, compared with $23,446,491 the preceding year.

Tells of Price Reductions.

Commenting on the reduction in profits, Breech said: "We reduced our prices as soon as we were able to determine our profits with a reasonable degree of accuracy. At Sept. 30 price reductions on products covered by contracts in effect at the beginning of the fiscal year and entered into during the year aggregated 123 million dollars."

Despite price reductions, Breech said, the year's results enabled Bendix to agree to refund the government an additional $65,400,000 after renegotiation of contracts, by far the greater portion of which would otherwise have been payable as additional taxes.

"Without being able to give any assurance as to the future dividend policy," he said, referring to the reduction of the dividend rate from $1 to 75 cents paid in December, "it is our conviction that the stockholders are entitled to a substantial return on their investment."

North American Aviation Gains.

Net earnings of North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal., in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 were $10,436,413, or $3.04 a common share. No comparable figures were available because the company in 1941 changed the fiscal year from Dec. 31, but net income in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1941, was $6,075,954, or $1.77 a common share.

Profits of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation in the year ended Dec. 31 decreased to $10,020,443, after provision of 1 million dollars for contingencies, from $16,274,983 in 1941, after provision of 2 million dollars for contingencies. Profit for the last quarter of 1942 was $2,550,257, against $4,234,599 a year earlier.

Expect Bond Firms to Continue War Fund Aid at Own Expense

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The treasury will look to the nation's security dealers for aid when it launches the April war financing campaign but there is little chance that they will be compensated for their time and effort, it was learned today.

Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., who has been resting in Cuba since completion of the December victory fund drive, is expected to get a full report and recommendations on this question immediately after his return this week.

Two Major Reasons Advanced.

His decision, treasury officials said, probably will be announced before March 1.

Officials in charge of the fund drives, it was learned, have these two major reasons for opposing compensation for the security dealers:

1. Only the highest type of security dealer is employed in making the drive, and his interest is supposed to be purely patriotic, not for personal gain.

2. An unfavorable reaction on the part of the public could be expected if dealers were to be paid for selling government bonds—primarily that dealers would be motivated only by profits, not patriotism.

To put the war financing drives across, the paid and volunteer staffs of the treasury department and victory fund committees probably will be enlarged, according to present plans. Most of the committee expansion will take place in rural areas that were mostly "skipped over" in the December drive, officials indicated.

Sales Set Record

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—Sales of war savings bonds in January reached an all time high of $1,240,444,000, the treasury reported today.

The biggest previous month, the treasury said, was in January, 1942, when sales of series E, F, and G bonds totaled $1,060,546,000. The increase last month over January, 1942 was 17 per cent. Sales since the first offering in May, 1941, totaled $12,934,611,000.

Crude Output Drops in 1942 Despite War

America at war took less crude oil out of the ground in 1942 than in 1941 but still drew up more than oil companies were able to replace by new pool discoveries, estimates by the Oil and Gas Journal indicated yesterday. The Tulsa, Okla., publication said the nation's proved reserves of crude were down to 20,675,899,000 barrels at the end of 1942, compared with 21,219,039,000 at the end of 1941, a decline of 543,100,000 barrels.

In recent months many officials in the petroleum industry have warned that government restrictions on materials and on drilling have imperiled the industry's exploration program, and that unless steps are taken to encourage the search for new fields it may be difficult to supply military needs after two years. Altho 20 billion barrels is a 14 or 15 year supply the industry, under federal restrictions, is having difficulty getting sufficient crude that is readily available.

The Journal estimated 1942 crude production at 1,384,542,000 barrels, a decrease of about 7,378,000 from the 1941 production of 1,391,920,000 barrels.

The number of new fields discovered in the United States last year was about the same as in 1941, the Journal said, but the 1942 discoveries were not as large in terms of the amount of oil found.

People and Events

Homer B. Kinzie, area supervisor of the distribution division of the food distribution administration, will speak at a meeting of the Retail Meat Dealers' association of Chicago tomorrow evening in the Midland hotel. Kinzie, who is chairman of the Chicago area food industry committee, will discuss the work of industry groups in dealing with food shortages.

W. D. Wiggins, Philadelphia, formerly chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, has been promoted to vice president in charge of engineering. J. L. Gressit of Baltimore becomes chief engineer.

Richard T. Scholes, assistant chief engineer of the Burlington railroad, has retired. Scholes became associated with the road as a rodman in 1897.

Appointment of James W. Ross, Peoria, Ill., as assistant supervisor of the policy division in the state department of insurance was announced by Gov. Green.

Robert L. Beattie and John C. Traphagen were elected directors of the International Nickel company of Canada to fill vacancies, it was announced in New York.

Harry A. Wallace Jr. became the president and general manager of the United Fuel Gas company and associated firms as his father retired.

OPA OPPOSES GENERAL INCREASE IN CRUDE OIL PRICE AS UNJUSTIFIED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1 (AP).—The OPA ruled today against any general advance in crude oil prices, as "not justified at this time." The agency said it made the statement because of "widespread publicity attending the gathering pressure" for a wide increase in crude oil prices.

Some sections of the oil producing industry have suggested as much as 50 cents a barrel increase in present prices. A general increase in crude prices, OPA asserted, "would add heavily to the consumer's fuel bill and dangerously threaten price control, since oil is a basic commodity in the domestic, industrial, and military economy." OPA estimated that each cent per barrel added to the price of crude oil would add 14 million dollars a year to the nation's fuel bill.

INDICT 3 IN N. Y. FOR WISCONSIN RAIL BOND FRAUD

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—A federal grand jury today indicted John W. Hession, financial analyst, and Arnold R. and Sven W. Hanson, partners in the security firm of Hanson & Hanson, on 30 counts charging mail fraud, violation of the securities and exchange act, and conspiracy.

The three are charged with evolving a scheme to mahipulate first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, due in 1936, of the Wisconsin Central Railway company, Superior and Duluth division. The bonds rose from 13 in January, 1942, to 36 in July—then dropped to 12.

Hession recommended the bonds, predicting "an offer above 50" would be made for them, it was said, and the defendants made representations that the Canadian Pacific planned to buy 3½ million dollars of the bonds from five insurance company holders.

FURNITURE MART BUILDING PROFIT DECLINES IN YEAR

The American Furniture Mart Building Company, Inc., Chicago, reported yesterday that net income for the year ended Nov. 30 was $284,966, compared with $356,804 in the preceding fiscal year. Income from rent and service charges in the 1942 fiscal period totaled $1,681,460.

The balance sheet on Nov. 30 showed total assets of $11,949,512. Current assets amounted to $1,167,557, against current liabilities of $390,587. The directors reported that bonds outstanding totaled $4,561,000, representing a reduction of $2,905,000 in mortgage indebtedness held by the public since the date of reorganization on Jan. 1, 1935.

STOCK MARKET PRICES RECOVER TO CLOSE MIXED

Million Share Mark Exceeded Again.

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—Further cheering Russian war news helped the stock market today after early profit taking on the lengthy rise had pushed the list generally lower.

A revival of rails and motors, along with scattered blue chips, brought a last hour shift in many leaders and, tho losers were plentiful at the close, gains running to a point or so were widely distributed and there was an assortment of new highs for more than a year.

Some Lighten Accounts.

Aside from the brightening military picture, inflationary psychology and investment demand persisted as buying incentives. Accounts were lightened in numerous instances, however, on the thought that a technical correction of the strong recovery from the bottoms of last April was overdue.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .2 of a point at 44.2, a peak since July 28, 1941. Transfers, despite frequent slowdowns, amounted to 1,096,750 shares against 1,225,520 Friday. It was another of the broadest markets in months, 865 individual issues being traded. Of these 395 were up and 470 down or unchanged.

BONDS HOLD GAINS.

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—Bond prices today generally held near their highest levels for a year or more despite active profit selling which resulted in considerable irregularity in certain company groups.

A fair number of rails continued their long climb. Followers of the rail bonds were disappointed at the failure of the Supreme court to hand down today its decision in the St. Paul reorganization case. It was understood that reorganization programs for many other carriers under trusteeship were being held up pending the court's action.

Business in United States government issues was light and prices showed only minor changes. Transactions totaled $11,646,100 compared with $14,716,500 Friday.

CHICAGO PRICES STRONG.

Prices strengthened on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 41,000 shares. Of 110 issues traded, 50 advanced, 24 declined, and 36 closed unchanged. Volume leaders included Chicago corporation, unchanged; Middle West, up ¼; Central and South West Utilities, up 1/16; Cities Service, down ⅛, and RCA, up ⅜.

ARNOLD CHARGES PULLMAN WITH TRADE RESTRAINT

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP).—Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold charged today that the Pullman comapny has "stifled progress in the sleeping car industry."

Arnold made the accusation before a three judge panel hearing arguments in the government's suit charging the company with being a monopoly in restraint of trade.

Former Sen. George Wharton Pepper, appearing for the Pullman company, said that "if the court is going to restrain Pullman by divorcing manufacturing from servicing, it will be striking the first blow in judicial history at the specific American way of doing business."

Rate of Steel Production to Be Increased This Week

New York, Feb. 1 (AP).—The steel industry will operate this week at 99.5 per cent of capacity, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today. Last week's rate was 98.6, and a month ago operations averaged 97 per cent.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—10.

Yesterday's article called attention to the fact that the value of farm products raised by the farmer and consumed by his family does not constitute taxable income. This rule works two ways, for the value of such products may not be deducted as costs when consumed in farming operations.

Thus the cost of feeding and raising live stock is a deductible expense only to the extent that the cost represents an actual outlay by the farmer; he may not deduct the value of feeds grown on the farm. The value of the farmer's own labor is not deductible.

Board furnished to hired hands comes under the same limitation. Eggs produced by the farmer's own chickens, for example, and fed to hired laborers, are not an allowable expense, but groceries purchased by the farmer and fed to the hired help are deductible.

Personal expenses of the farmer and his family are not deductible. This eliminates all expenses in connection with the farm dwelling unless it is used directly in farming operations. In case it is used in part for farming operations, a proportionate amount of repairs, depreciation and maintenance may be deducted. Amounts paid to household workers are deductible only to the extent that their services are used to care for hired farm laborers.

Among other problems peculiar to the farm taxpayer are those relating to expenditures for fertilizer and soil restoration. The cost of commercial fertilizer whose benefits are of such short duration that applications are needed every year or so, is deductible as a current expense. But the cost of restoring soil fertility preparatory to the actual production of crops, and the cost of liming soil to increase its productivity over a period of years, are capital expenditures subject to annual depreciation charges.

The purchase of dairy, work or breeding animals is a capital investment, and the farmer may charge depreciation against these animals if he files his return on a cash basis. Depreciation may be charged, too, against barns and other buildings and equipment [other than the dwelling]. Regulations with respect to the deductibility of automobile expense are the same for the farmer as for the business or professional man.

The bureau of internal revenue has prepared a guide, bulletin F, which will enable the farmer or any other taxpayer to determine what the bureau regards as the useful life of various types of property and the allowable rates of depreciation.

[Wednesday's article will be devoted to the farmer's deductible losses.]

OPA WILL FORBID RIGGED SALES OF FARM MACHINERY

New Order Will Outlaw 'Combination' Deals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Both the office of price administration and the department of agriculture said today they had received many complaints of used farm machinery being sold at "outrageous" prices. OPA enforcement officials consider this one of their most pressing problems and are preparing "to crack down on violators."

Cases of farmers offering a "bale of hay and a tractor" at auction sales as a single item in an attempt to evade OPA price ceilings on used tractors have been brought to the attention of the government officials.

Well Above Original Cost.

Price enforcement officials disclosed that an amendment to the OPA order putting ceilings on the prices of used tractors, combines, corn pickers, binders, and hay balers is being drawn up to outlaw these "combination" deals. The OPA order on used farm equipment was issued Jan. 5, and prohibit sales above certain percentage of the list price, depending upon the age of the equipment.

Ask Report on Violations.

David Meeker, chief of the production supplies program branch, department of agriculture, said members of the county war boards have been asked to report to the department violations of the OPA ceiling order. He said the department did not have the authority or responsibility of enforcing the OPA order, but brought violations to the attention of the enforcement officials of OPA.

Meeker said ceiling prices on other used farm equipment seemed unlikely because of enforcement difficulties. He said there were from 350 to 375 separate items of farm equipment.

GRAIN FUTURES DECLINE LED BY WHEAT AND RYE

Wheat and rye futures closed with losses ranging to 1½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as grain markets weakened on scattered selling and lack of speculative interest.

Final wheat prices were off ¾ to 1 cent, while rye was down 1¼ to 1½ cents. Corn declined ⅜ to ½ cent and oats closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower. Soy beans eased ¼ cent.

HOG SHIPMENTS RISE, BUT PRICES ESTABLISH HIGHS

Despite an increase in hog supplies in the Chicago stockyards yesterday, prices increased 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds to new 23 year seasonal peaks. Top loads brought $15.60 and the average was $15.40, an increase of 20 cents for each above Saturday's close.

Arrivals at the yards totaled 32,000 hogs, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 20,459 a week ago and 21,444 a year ago.

Stronger prices prevailed for most beef steers yesterday, the best bringing $16.65 and the bulk $14 to $16.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

ADAMS—John Adams, 1940. In loving memory of our dear husband and father.
LOVING WIFE AND DAUGHTERS.

BING—Helen Bing. In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, who passed away one year ago today, Feb. 2 1942. "Forever in our hearts." LOVING DAUGHTERS, JOSEPHINE MEDOW, MARGARET POPPER. AND FAMILIES.

DITCH—Clara Ditch. Who suddenly left us one year ago today, Feb. 2, 1942.
The blow was hard,
The shock severe,
We never thought her death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell the
HER LOVING CHILDREN,

Good Pay While Learning to Fill Permanent "Key" Positions
Due to the war and the drain upon man power, you, too, can start tomorrow in a solid career that will endure after the war. If you have average ability and industry, you will advance rapidly into good paying positions.
The Forum Cafeterias, Inc., a strongly financed national company, now offers exceptional opportunities to white women and men. People must always eat! So the work is steady and the pay is sure.
The rapidly growing restaurant business is ideally suited for women to fill responsible positions. Age is no handicap. Experience is not a factor. Even if you have a family, you can still carry on a normal family life at home and earn a big pay, too. The hours are easy, only 8 hours a day, 6 days a week; some part-time positions are available.
Rapid Advancement!
Yes, you men and women, 16 to 50, can now start with us in transfer and counter work. But our rate of advancement is 10 to 1; times faster than it was before the war! So, if you will try for promotion, you will be advanced rapidly into our bake shop and kitchen, or as checkers, recorders, supervisors, cashiers and office
Help Business Keep Going
Now, no one should be idle! You can help maintain a sound, domestic "Fighting" economy; you can help business keep going to pay taxes, buy war bonds—and buy them yourself from good pay.
Don't worry "whether you can do it." Don't wonder whether this opportunity "is for you." It IS for you . . . if you do something about it, tomorrow!
